The Hymns of the Rig-Veda, in the Samhita and Pada Text, by Professor F. Max Müller, M.A., in two Volumes. Price Rs. 24; packing and postage, Re. 1-12.

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholar-like knowlege of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

REGISTRATION OF MAHOMEDAN MARRIAGES AND DIVORCES.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, at the request of His Honor the President, postponed the first two motions which stood in his name, viz., the motions for the further consideration and the passing of the Bill to provide for the voluntary registration of Mahomedan marriages and divorces.

REALIZATION OF GOVERNMENT ARREARS.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier moved that the Bill for the realization of arrears in Government estates be passed.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal said when this Bill was introduced in Council, he had no opportunity of discussing its principle, but he had the honor of serving on the Select Committee upon the Bill, and of considering the provisions contained in it. He did not propose to offer any objection to the passing of the Bill, but he thought it his duty to draw the attention of the Council to the tendency of one of its provisions. The hon'ble mover of the Bill, in introducing it, had pointed to the necessity of supplying an omission in Act VII of 1868 passed by this Council. He said that the Collectors and officers of the Government had from 1797 exercised the power of summarily realizing rent from tenants in Government estates, and that when Act VII of 1868 was passed it was by an oversight that section 25 of Regulation VII of 1799, which contained the law on the subject, was repealed. The hon'ble gentleman was quite correct, and Baboo Kristodas Pal agreed with him, that the same facility should be given to the Collector to realize rents from ryots of Government estates having non-transferable tenures that he possessed in respect of ryots who held tenures with transferable rights. But Baboo Kristodas Pal need not remind the Council that the old law proved innocuous in the then system of mangement of Government estates, inasmuch as Government then used to manage its estates through farmers, who dealt directly with the ryots, and who were subject to the ordinary rent-law in recovering their dues. The policy of the day was, however, different: the Government did not now farm out its estates, but held them under khas management through the intervention of its own officers. It was, therefore, deemed necessary to include, under the certificate procedure for the recovery of rent, non-transferable with transferable tenures. So far so good. But it was proposed in the Bill to extend the power to the Collector in charge of Wards' estates. When the Bill was considered in Select Committee, he was doubtful whether it would apply to such estates; but the hon'ble mover explained that it was so intended. Now, when the Wards' Act was revised and consolidated in 1870, this provision was not included in that Act. It was therefore fairly open to question whether this power should be given to the Collector in charge of Wards' estates. He readily admitted that the Collector in charge of Wards' estates was ipso facto in the same position as when in charge of Government estates. But the anomaly would appear when you considered that the Collector, as manager of a Ward's estate, when that estate formed part of a joint and undivided estate, would be subject to one law of procedure for the recovery of rent, and the other co-parceners would be subject to another, though the different fractions composed an integral whole. The same estate might be held by a number of persons, and because the Collector by an accident came to be the manager of a portion of the estate, he was armed with more summary powers then the other co-sharers of that estate. This, Baboo Kristodas Pal submitted, was an anomaly. Then the Collector might farm out the estate: the farmers, who were responsible for the punctual realization of the revenue, were not vested with that privilege. They must go to the Civil Court in the regular way to realize the rents; but the Collector-manager was placed in a different position. This also was anomalous. It was, Baboo Kristodas Pal observed, one thing to arm the Collector with summary powers when he was the manager of Crown property, and another thing when he was the manager of private property. Baboo Kristodas Pal was aware that, under the law, an estate which was under the management of the Collector was exempt from the operation of the sale law for default of revenue; but this exemption was a necessary and natural sequence of that condition of things. The Collector being in charge of an estate, it could not be just to put up the estate in his charge to sale for default which might arise from his own laches or from circumstances which were within his control. But it was worthy of consideration that when it was deemed necessary to arm the Collector with such summary power for the realization of rent, notwithstanding the prestige and influence of his official position, whether a private landlord was not entitled to the same facility for the realization of his dues. This question, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was of opinion, was a logical sequence of the power vested in the Collector by this Bill. A private landlord was under greater disadvantages than the Collector-manager of an estate could ever be. He need hardly remark that the present law for the recovery of rent was attended with many inconveniences and hardships. A suit in the Civil Court was harassing, tedious, and expensive; and it might well be asked whether the same facilities should not be given to the private landlord which it was deemed necessary to give to the Collector-manager of an estate for the realization of rent.

In making these remarks, he simply wished to draw the attention of the Council to the anomaly of the provision as regards the power given to the Collector-manager of estates, and to the tendency and effect which this law might have upon landlords generally. He did not wish to oppose the passing of the Bill, but he considered it his duty to impress upon the Council the probable effect it would have upon the landed classes.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said he had only to correct what, if he understood it rightly, was a misapprehension on the part of his hon'ble friend. He understood him to say that when the Wards' Act was passed in 1870, the procedure which was now known as the certificate procedure was not mentioned, even as against tenants who held transferable rights. But under the Wards' Act, if his hon'ble friend would turn to Section 75, he would find that—

"Farmers and others holding tenures in estates in charge of the Court direct from the Collector, shall be subject to the same rules, regulations, and Acts as are applicable to other persons holding similar tenures and interests under Collectors of the land revenue; but when the farm is held from the manager, these rules, regulations, and Acts, shall not apply."

Thus that Act placed the tenants in Wards' estates which were managed by the Collector direct, and not through the intervention of a manager, precisely on all fours with tenants in Government estates proper. Independently of the present Bill, the effect of the existing law was that in Wards' estates managed by the Collector direct (as in Government estates proper), a tenant who held transferable rights was subject to the certificate procedure, while a tenant who held a non-transferable holding was not subject to that procedure: in fact Wards' estates, when managed by the Collector direct, were in precisely the same position as Government estates.

The second point advanced by the hon'ble member was that when the Collector managed one share in a Ward's estate, while other shares were held by other proprietors, who managed it in their own interests, it was anomalous that the Collector should have summary powers of realizing rent while the other sharers had no such powers. There certainly was an anomaly to the same extent as in all cases in which the Collector, on behalf of Government, was vested with more summary powers of realizing rents than any private landlord could exercise; but the anomaly was adopted by the Council in the Certificate Act VII of 1868. The principle on which it was based was that whatever bias the Collector and his subordinates might have in the matter of realizing rents and dues for Government was not a personal, but a departmental bias, whereas the bias of the private landlord in collecting rents from his ryots sprung from personal interest. MR. DAMPIER thought that the distinction was clear, and at any rate it had been accepted generally by the Council in Act VII of 1868, and was by no means novel elsewhere.

The HON'BLE MR. BERNARD said he would like to say one or two words with respect to the objections which had been taken by the hon'ble member on his left (Baboo Kristodas Pal): these seemed to be two-fold. First, that it would be hard upon the ryot that there should be a more summary remedy against ryots in Government estates than there was against them in private estates; secondly, that it was hardly fair upon the zemindars that one of their brethren who happened to be a minor should have a quicker remedy than themselves. In the first place, it was only fair to say that, as far as the experience of the last two or three years had gone, the system of managing Wards' estates by the Collector, instead of letting them out to contractors, had answered. This system was introduced, as His Honor the President knew, about three or four years ago, and was at the time much challenged. He recollected that the managers of the larger Wards' estates, and not only the managers, but some of the revenue officers connected with the management, were very much against the new system; and they much preferred the old plan of letting out villages for five or seven years to outsiders. First, they said that the direct system of collecting revenue would harass the ryots; next, they said that the rents would never be collected. These objections were urged by persons who really understood zemindary work, and among others by the gentlemen who were then managing the great Durbhunga estate. MR. BERNARD had recently visited many parts of that estate in Tirhoot, Purneah, and Bhagulpore; the officers who were in charge of the estate were the same now as then, and they all said that the system had answered very well so far as they knew. They were in the best possible position to know whether the rents were collected, and they thought that by the new system the relation of the zemindar or Court of Wards was very much nearer to the ryot, and the ryot to the zemindar, than under the old system. He thought, therefore, it might fairly be contended that the new system had proved advantageous, and had worked well.

Unfortunately, as things now existed, it was very difficult to find out the opinion of ryots. But so far as it was known to the managers of Wards' estates, it might be said that the ryots preferred the system of paying direct to the manager at the raj zemindary, rather than the old system of paying to the contractors.

Then the second objection that had been taken was that it would be a hardship to the zemindars who were managing their own estates that their brother proprietor should have a more summary remedy than themselves. The hon'ble member had told the Council that the present system, whereby the zemindars collected their rents through the intervention of the Civil Courts, was harassing, tedious, and expensive. No doubt his hon'ble friend was in an excellent position to judge. We had heard, within the last four or five years, something about the difficulty in collecting rents, and we had been told that the law for the collection of rents required revision. If the present law did make it difficult for the zemindar to collect his rents, and if that law required revision, he did not see that the harassment, expense, and difficulty upon the zemindar was any reason why the Court of Wards, where it managed directly and in the face of the public, with all its books more or less accessible to the public, should not have the advantage of realizing its rents direct as the Government did from its ryots. As the hon'ble mover of the Bill had explained, when the Collector, on behalf of the Court of Wards, gave over the management of Wards' estates to somebody else, then the farmer would have only the old remedy against the ryots, in the same way as zemindars now had.

The HON'BLE THE ACTING ADVOCATE-GENERAL would say one or two words on the question before the Council. It had been pointed out by the hon'ble mover of the Bill that a measure providing for the certificate procedure existed under the Wards' Act. The present Bill was simply to extend that principle to cases of non-transferable tenures—or, in other words, to enable the Collector managing a Ward's estate to obtain a sale certificate which would have the force of a Civil Court's decree in that particular case. It was simply to give the Collector managing a Ward's estate the privilege of exercising the same power as regards non-transferable holdings as he had as regards transferable holdings. The distinction would be this, that those who had non-transferable tenures would not have their tenures sold; but the remedy acquired against personal and movable property would be the same in both cases.

With regard to the anomaly respecting co-sharers in Wards' estates, that was an anomaly which existed at the present time. This Bill did not introduce it in any way. It was merely an anomaly in name, and not one in reality. In this country rents were collected in fractional shares; and although the whole rent was paid by the same ryots, still, so far as the ryots and the zemindars might be concerned, this Bill would make no alteration. It did not appear to him to be a case in which these fractional shares should be considered.

He thought that the objection fell to the ground, and that the motion of the hon'ble mover did not appear to be open to any objection. It was merely an extension of the remedy which the Collector had against one class of tenants, to another class. He could not see why one class of tenants should have an immunity which the other class had not.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier wished to say one word more, so that the Council might not overlook anything in passing this Bill. Much had been said as to this Bill providing for the extension to tenants without transferable rights of a principle now in force against tenants who possessed such rights. But he must point out distinctly that with regard to estates other than Wards' estates) which were managed by the Collector direct in trust for private individuals, the Bill provided something more than this.

In estates so circumstanced, the certificate procedure had not yet been made applicable to any class of tenants. Legislation had not touched them at all. So far, then, the Bill provided for the introduction of a procedure which was new to the limited class of estates. But the position which Mr. Dampier took up was that when once this procedure was accepted as applicable against ryots with non-transferable interests in Wards' estates, there was absolutely no room left for discussion as to whether it should be applied to estates other than those of Wards, which were managed direct by the Collector. When this Bill was passed, a tenant in an attached estate managed direct by the Collector, if he had a non-transferable tenure, would be liable to be proceeded against by the certificate procedure; but if he had a transferable tenure, he would not be liable to be so proceeded against, the law never having extended that procedure to them. The result would be that in such estates the tenant with the weaker and lower degree of right in his holding, would be less privileged in this respect than one who possessed the higher and transferable interest.

The motion was then agreed to, and the Bill passed.

RECOVERY OF GOVERNMENT ADVANCES.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill for the summary realization of loans of money and grain due to Government. When the Select Committee proceeded to look into this Bill, it appeared that there was not sufficient information before them as to the means which the Collectors had of satisfying themselves as to advances having been made, as to the persons to whom they had been made, and as to whether they had been repaid. The Select Committee therefore summoned two witnesses, namely the Collector of Sarun and Mr. MacDonnell, the sub-divisional officer, who had so much distinguished himself at Durbhunga, and ascertained from them the exact procedure which had been followed in making these loans of grain and money. In Sarun the agency of planters had often been made use of to make the loans; and in the Durbhunga sub-division, which the Committee were informed might be taken as a type of what was done generally in East Tirhoot, advances were made by circle officers, who were in the position either of Covenanted Civilians or of Deputy Magistrates. Bonds were taken both when grain advances were made from the golas and when money was paid over, and these bonds were afterwards sent in to the Collector or the sub-divisional officer, to be kept in his custody. In the bonds that were taken in Durbhunga and East Tirhoot, the instalments by which the money was to be repaid were distinctly specified. In Sarun there was no such specification: not only were bonds taken, but careful registers were prepared in which each advance was posted up; the name of the person receiving the advance, and the name of the surety being entered, and provision was made for entering up the instalments which might be repaid. Then the witnesses informed the Select Committee that the procedure they were adopting to recover these advances was this: just before the time when the first instalment fell due, notices were to be issued to the ryots. In Sarun these notices called upon the ryots to come in and make an arrangement as to the instalments in which they could repay the advance, as the time had now come for repayment. It was obvious that here, before any proceeding was taken against, or pressure put upon the ryot, the issue of these notices afforded the ryot an opportunity to make any objections he might have to make. In Durbhunga, where the instalments were recorded in the original bond, the notice to the ryot intimated that a certain tehsildar was appointed, or was about to be appointed, to realize advances, and called upon each ryot to pay the amount due by him to the tehsildar. The tehsildar would send in to the Collector a list of those who did not pay in accordance with this call, and the Collector would then call upon them individually and hear what they had to say. That was the procedure which was now in train independently of the present Bill; and MR. DAMPIER might here mention that although the instalments of repayment were distinctly stated in these Tirhoot bonds, yet, under instructions from the Government, the officers concerned had been directed to give the ryots more time than that within which they were strictly bound by their bonds to repay. The time of recovery had been extended to beyond the main crop at the end of 1875.

A petition had been presented by the British Indian Association, which had not been before the Select Committee, but the arguments urged in it had been pressed before the Committee by the hon'ble member (Baboo Kristodas Pal) who represented the views of that body, and in fact MR. DAMPIER thought all the points urged in the petition had received the consideration of the Committee. No doubt the hon'ble member would lay his views before the Council, and MR. DAMPIER should therefore reserve any remarks he might have to make on those points until the hon'ble member had done so. The form in which the Committee had recommended the Bill to be passed was essentially the same as that which had been referred to them for report. The only material alteration which they had made was to enable one individual ryot, out of a number of ryots who had jointly stood security for one another, to proceed summarily against any person for whom he had paid and who refused to pay his share.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 6th February.

UNIFORM SYSTEM OF WEIGHTS.

Dated Calcutta, the 26th June 1874.

From—H. W. I. Wood, Esq., Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

The Committee of the Chamber of Commerce desire me to submit the following application for the consideration of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor:—

The expediency of providing for the ultimate adoption of a uniform system of weights throughout British India had been the subject of a long continued discussion, which was terminated by the passing of Act XI of 1870, whereby the Indian seer, equal to the French kilogramme, 2·2051lbs. avoirdupois, was declared to be the primary standard of weight.

In the statement of objects and reasons which accompanied the introduction of the preliminary Bill, the necessity of the measure was urged with the view, among other grounds, "to facilitate and simplify commercial operations;" and it was also stated that it had not been considered expedient to introduce the weights of Great Britain into India.

The Act was obviously intended to remove the long existing evil of a large diversity of weights throughout the country, and in that respect it was a measure of great public usefulness.

But in the Presidency towns of India the use of English weights is almost as common as the use of Indian weights, and on several articles of imported and exported merchandise customs duties are levied on valuations per lb., cwt., and ton.

Up to 1st November 1860, the customs' returns exhibited Indian weights only, but from that date they were, with a few exceptions, displaced by English denominations, and the alterations then made have been since maintained.

The Committee are unable to trace the authority for that alteration, but believe it was given by the late Mr. Wilson, in order to assimilate the Indian customs' returns as far as possible to those issued by the London Board of Trade.

It appears from a reply recently given by the Mint-Master to an application for testing the correctness of English weights, that he has not the authority or means to adjust any except those in use by the Government, viz., the Indian maund and the tola weight with their multiples and sub-divisions.

As English weights are extensively used by merchants in the purchase and sale of country produce and various articles of imported merchandise, and are recognised by Government in levying duty and employed in official records, the Committee of the Chamber recommend that the Warden appointed under Act XI for the purpose of verifying Indian weights be authorised to have the charge of English standards also, and to verify the weights presented to him for a declaration of their accuracy, on payment of a small fee to cover attendant expenses.

The Committee believe this plan is adopted in Bombay and hope it may be introduced in Calcutta.

The weights used in the bazar are generally most defective, and the system so long tolerated should be forthwith discountenanced and discontinued, and weights officially recognised and verified should be authoritatively substituted. By their constant use the weights are considerably reduced, and broken bricks and stones are thrown into the imperfect scales to supplement the loss of the metal weights.

All weights current in the Calcutta bazar and in ordinary commercial use should be tested every six months, and if that operation throws too much labor on the Mint-Master or Warden, it is suggested that Government should appoint an Inspector of Weights, whose report should be accepted by the Warden as a guarantee of the necessity for testing in all cases of proved deficiency, and an official stamp of verification with date thereof should be affixed to every certificated weight.

No 2160, dated Calcutta, the 28th July 1874.

From—The Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bombay.

I am directed to forward herewith copy of a letter dated 26th June 1874, from the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, requesting that steps may be taken by this Government for testing the correctness of the English weights in use in the Calcutta Bazar, and to ask that, with the permission of His Excellency the Governor in Council, you will be good enough to inform the Lieutenant-Governor what measures, if any, have been taken by the Government of Bombay in this direction.

No. 2823, dated Bombay Castle, the 30th September 1874.

From—The Acting Under-Secretary to the Government of Bombay,
To—The Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department (Statistics).

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No 2160, dated the 8th July last, with enclosure, from the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, and in reply to annex copies of reports from the Commissioner of Police, Bombay, Nos. 1867 and 2016, dated respectively the 29th ultimo and 16th instant, from which it will be seen that the practice of stamping weights and measures in this city is one authorized by custom rather than law.

No. 1867, dated Bombay, the 29th August 1874.

Memo. by—F. H. Souter, Esq., Commissioner of Police, Bombay.

The undersigned has the honor to report that the provisions of Act XI of 1870 have not been extended to Bombay, and that the Indian seer of 2·205 pounds avoirdupois, although to some extent used by the Bombay Customs and Railways, is not current in the city.

2. The weights and measures in current use here are those of the local system, based on the Bombay seer of 11¼ ounces avoirdupois; but the imperial weights and measures of England are also largely used.

3. Under the provisions of section 17 of Act XLVIII of 1860, standards of the weights and measures in common use in Bombay, including those of the imperial pound and gallon, &c., are kept in the office of the undersigned, by whom they were received from the Clerk of Markets after the passing of Act XIII of 1856.

4. There is no law in force here authorizing the verification of weights and measures, but the practice of adjusting and stamping them is of very old standing. It is incidentally alluded to at page 281 of Anderson's "English and Western India," edition 1856, and seems to have been founded on an order issued by the Government of Bombay in the year 1724.

5. The adoption of a uniform system of weights and measures throughout British India is no doubt most necessary and urgently required, and will not only facilitate and simplify commercial operations, but will go far to check the fraud and corruption now largely practised with comparative impunity all over India for the want of such a system.

No. 2016, dated Bombay, the 16th September 1874.

Memo. from—F. H. Souter, Esq., Commissioner of Police, Bombay,

To—The Acting Under-Secretary to the Government of Bombay, General Dept.

The undersigned presents compliments to the Acting Under-Secretary to Government, and in reply to that officer's memorandum No. 2668 of the 14th instant, begs to state that weights and measures in current use in Bombay are, when sent to this office for that purpose, tested with the standards, and if found correct, are stamped with the date of the year, &c., in verification thereof.

2. The weights and measures so tested are the Bombay seer and its fractions and multiples, and the English imperial pound and gallon and their fractions and multiples.

3. It is not compulsory on any one in Bombay to have his weights and measures tested under pain of prosecution, although it is the rule, almost without exception, for shopkeepers and others, as a measure of precaution, to send weights and measures to this office from year to year, in order that they may be tested and verified.

4. The fees charged for testing and stamping weights and measures are as follows:—

For Furrah Measures, 4 annas each.

For all other weights and measures, 1 anna each.

No. 272, dated Calcutta, the 25th January 1875.

From—The Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

To—H. W. I. Wood, Esq., Secretary, Bengal Chamber of Commerce, Calcutta.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated 26th June last, representing that, in the presidency towns of India, the use of English weights is almost as common as that of Indian; that they are not only extensively used in the purchase and sale of country produce, but are recognized and employed by the Government itself in levying customs duties and in official records; that the weights at present in use in the native bazar of Calcutta are defective and conform to no standard whatever; and finally suggesting that all weights current therein, and in ordinary commercial use in Calcutta, should be officially tested every six months; and that for this purpose Government should appoint an Inspector of Weights under Act XI of 1870 for giving an official stamp of verification to such weights.

2. In reply, I am to explain that by Act XI of 1870 the kilogramme and metre were to be the only recognized standards of the country, and that no provision exists therein for the testing of any other weights and measures; but that the Act itself was disallowed by Her Majesty's Secretary of State, and notification of the fact published by the Government of India in its Resolution of 16th August 1871. The only Act at present on the Statute Book for regulating the weights and measures in use in British India is Act XXXI of 1871, under which the new seer or kilogramme is made the standard. This Act, however, has not been brought into force, nor have any wardens as yet been appointed under it, as its provisions cannot be applied until standard weights, in sufficient numbers for the working of the Act have been received from Her Majesty's Secretary of State, who has been asked to make arrangements for supplying them.

3. I am further to observe that while the Lieutenant-Governor recognizes and regrets the inconveniences which the mercantile community suffer from the confusion of weights and measures throughout the country, the evil is one that admits of gradual remedy only, and that, were Government to attempt to officially verify all the measures and weights now in use therein, such a course might even tend to the duration of the evil. With the receipt from England in sufficient number of the standard seer weights prescribed under Act XXXI of 1871 as the future standard of the country, His Honor hopes that steps may be taken to substitute it for the variety of weights now in use, and he is sure that in so doing the Government may count upon the co-operation of the Chamber.

4. In regard to the state of matters in Bombay, I am to enclose herewith copy of a correspondence that has passed on the subject between the Government of Bengal and the Government of that presidency.

REPORT ON THE JUTE TRADE IN THE VICE-CONSULAR DISTRICT OF DUNKIRK, BY VICE-CONSUL HENRY C. TAYLOR.

No. 1, dated Calcutta, the 2nd January 1875.

From—C. J. LYALL, Esq., Under-Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

I AM directed to forward, for the information of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, and for any remarks he may wish to offer, copy of a report by the Vice-Consul at Dunkirk on the jute trade at that place. I am also to request that, with His Honor's permission, the report may be published in the local Gazette.

No. 63, dated India Office, London, 26th November 1874.

From—THE RIGHT HON'BLE THE MARQUIS OF SALISBURY, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council,

To—His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor-General of India in Council.

I forward herewith, for your Excellency's information, a copy of a report which has been drawn up by the Vice-Consul at Dunkirk, on the jute trade at that place.

Dated 6th October 1874.

2. You will observe that the Dunkirk spinners desire that the attention of the Indian Government should be called to three special points—viz., the establishment of a Government scale of marks or brands; the frequent change of seed; and greater care in the preparation of jute for the market. I shall be glad to receive your remarks upon these suggestions; but with respect to the first, I must observe that the system of Government marks or brands attached to articles of trade has, in most cases, been found in this country to be inexpedient and not permissible.

3. Your Excellency will no doubt take such measures as may be most suitable for drawing the attention of the trade to the other points, which are of great importance.

ENCLOSURE.

A Report on the Jute Trade in the Vice-Consular District of Dunkirk, by Vice-Consul Taylor.

IN the year 1845, the firm of Dickson & Co. established the first jute mill in this district, and worked it with a fair amount of success for several years. No statistics of the jute trade in its infancy are in existence; but it is a fact that until the year 1860 the Messrs. Dickson were without a rival. Between 1860 and 1865 no less than eight jute mills were erected in and around Dunkirk, chiefly by the energy and capital of Scotchmen. These mills operated successfully till 1866, when the trade received a very serious check. Two of the mills ceased spinning, and the remaining six suffered severely. In 1867 the trade began to revive, and down to the commencement of the Franco-German war the spinners who survived the disasters of 1866 made fair profits. The war between France and Germany almost completely paralysed the operations of our jute spinners. At its termination the trade immediately revived again, and it has been fairly remunerative down to the spring of the present year 1874.

The jute imported into Dunkirk comes from London for the most part. The spinners would be glad to import direct from Calcutta if it were possible to do so successfully; but the lack of a sufficient depth of water to admit of the entrance of large vessels into the port of Dunkirk renders direct importation almost out of the question. To pay a shipowner a fair profit, a ship must carry a large cargo of jute, and this of course can be done only in vessels of large tonnage. The difficulty on account of the want of water at the entrance to the port is becoming greater every day; and, in consequence, shipowners object strongly to sending vessels laden with jute to Dunkirk. Indeed, it is rapidly becoming the practice to insert the following clause in the charter-parties to Dundee:—"Available for the same freight as to London from all the ports on the Continent from Havre to Hamburg (Dunkirk excepted)." Last year one vessel of considerable tonnage arrived with a cargo of jute from Calcutta, but the experiment is not likely to be repeated until the authorities undertake to improve the condition of the port. They are said to be contemplating taking action in the matter, and we hope to see the entrance to the port deepened—so as to admit vessels drawing twenty feet of water—within a reasonable period from the present time. If this be done, London will cease to be the chief source from which the Dunkirk spinners draw their supplies.

An attempt is being made to establish an emporium for jute at Havre, and our spinners are inclined to look upon this attempt with favor, although the expense of transport from Havre is a little higher than from London. The rates from London are usually ten shillings per ton by steamer, and eight shillings by sailing vessels. Frequently spinners charter small sailing ships, and take the jute direct from the Indian ship in the London docks.

From Havre, the rates are twelve shillings per ton by steamer, and ten shillings in sailing vessels. The communication between Havre and Dunkirk is excellent, so that there is no difficulty on that score. The spinners cheerfully submit to the freights both from Havre and London, but they complain of being at the mercy of their agents; and this alone is sufficient to make them desire the direct importation of jute from Calcutta.

The imports and exports of jute, as shown in the tabular statement below, have varied considerably during the last ten years. From 1864 to 1866 we observe a fair rate of progress in the imports; whilst in 1865 the exports were almost nil, from which it may be presumed that the French market in that year was unusually good. In 1866 the trade received a serious check, and consequently we find a falling off in both imports and exports in the following year. In 1868 the trade partially revived, and remained fairly remunerative till the outbreak of the Franco-German war in 1870. Owing to that disastrous struggle, the years 1870 and 1871 were unusually bad. In 1872 and 1873 jute was imported largely, and the trade has been good down to the spring of the present year. The following table shows the imports and exports of jute at the port of Dunkirk during the last ten years :—

Years.	Imports. Kilos.	Exports. Kilos.
1865	8,357,714	405
1866	11,391,455	178,435
1867	11,030,150	134,824
1868	11,221,188	29,539
1869	10,849,384	24,555
1870	9,604,737	32,846
1871	8,447,449	142,503
1872	13,685,260	172,157
1873	15,265,140	241,576
1874	5,665,812	154,673

(the first seven months.)

In comparing the first six months of the present year with the corresponding period of 1873, a marked falling off in the imports for the current year is observable. In the first half of the year 1873 the imports were 7,318,020 kilogrammes; whereas up till the end of June of this year the imports did not exceed 5,238,154 kilos.

The jute spinners at the present time complain of a restricted market and a generally depressed state of trade. The depression complained of does not appear to be traceable to any special cause affecting this branch of industry only. It is so great, however, that one firm has ceased to spin jute, and two others are said to be existing on the profits of former years.

Our spinners are well supplied with capital and machinery, but as regards labor there is much to be desired. The present rate of wages is by no means high, and consequently factory hands are not easily obtained. Those to be had, too, are not of the highest order, possessing neither the intelligence nor the working capabilities of the Scotch laborers of Dundee. Notwithstanding this, the cost of production at Dunkirk—compared with that in Scotland—is so much lower, that our spinners are able to export to Dundee with a small profit. When it can be done to advantage, the Dunkirk spinners readily seek a foreign market in order to keep down the stock, and to keep up the prices at home.

The duties on the importation of jute are very trifling and offer no impediment to the trade. During the Government of M. Thiers an attempt was made to impose much higher duties, but it was met with such vigorous opposition on the part of those interested, that it failed completely. It is now thought that no change will be made in the import duties until 1877, when the existing treaties with Austria and Italy come to an end. At the present time, England enjoys the privilege of the most favored nation.

Notwithstanding the depression so much complained of by our spinners, there are six jute mills in operation at Dunkirk at the present time. These mills consume, on the average, about two hundred and twenty-eight thousand kilogrammes (or, say, two hundred and twenty tons) of jute per week. The following table shows the average weekly consumption of each firm :—

	Kilos.
Messrs. Kyd Brothers (two mills)	92,000
Ditto Cuenin & Son	40,500
Ditto Vancauwenbergh & Co.	36,000
Ditto Ravinch & Co.	33,000
Ditto Guibet & Co.	27,500
	229,000

The Messrs. Dickson, who established the first jute mill in Dunkirk, have recently abandoned that branch of their trade, and now confine themselves to the spinning of flax. It may be remarked here that the management of most of these mills is in the hands of Englishmen and Scotchmen.

Messrs. Vancauwenbergh and Messrs. Cuenin are manufacturers as well as spinners.

It cannot be doubted that jute has a great future in store for it in spite of the present unsatisfactory condition of the trade. Every day it is becoming more largely employed in the manufacture of silk, linen, and cloth. Its presence is readily detected in these textiles from its lack of durable qualities, but none the less is it made of use to the great profit of the manufacturer. It is now extensively consumed by carpet manufacturers who, by its help, are able to produce a cheap, if not a durable, article. At Dunkirk the demand for coarse bags is very considerable, owing to the exportation of beetroot, sugar, and corn in large quantities from this port, and in supplying this demand jute finds its most legitimate employment.

The establishment of a Government scale of marks or brands, a frequent change of seed, and greater care in the preparation of jute for the market, are the three chief points to which the Dunkirk spinners would respectfully call the attention of the Indian Government. There is but one opinion with respect to the innumerable marks or brands employed in the jute trade. New ones appear almost every day; and the result is that even the most experienced persons are unacquainted with the half of those in use. The native merchants find their advantage in the present confusing practice, and tax their ingenuity to discover under how many different brands they can classify their crop. To obviate this difficulty, our spinners suggested that the Indian Government should establish a scale of marks which all the native traders should be forced to adopt. In the Russian flax trade this has already been done with success; and it is thought that a similar system applied to the jute trade would be equally successful. The jute plant is said to be becoming impoverished from the bad system of cultivation pursued by the native cultivators. They appear to be entirely ignorant of the advantages which would result from a frequent change of seed. Again, the color of the jute sent to market is growing worse and worse every year This is owing to the careless treatment it receives at the hands of the growers. Apparently the same water is used throughout the whole steeping process which the jute undergoes, and the result is the bad color complained of by our spinners. These points are respectfully recommended to the attention of the Indian Government.

HENRY C. TAYLOR.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—AGRICULTURE No. 250.

CALCUTTA, THE 23RD JANUARY 1875.

From—The Assistant Secretary to the Government of Bengal,
To—C. J. LYALL, ESQ., Under-Secy. to the Govt. of India, Dept. of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your No. 1, dated 2nd instant, giving cover to a report by the Vice-Consul at Dunkirk on the jute trade of that port, for publication in the Calcutta Gazette, and inviting any remarks thereon that the Lieutenant-Governor may wish to offer.

2. I am to observe that the report seems to have been elicited by the depressed state of the Dunkirk market, and to remark that depression in this trade is not confined to that market, but is being felt as much at Dundee as in Dunkirk; the true cause of this state of matters being, that production has for the moment exceeded the demand for the staple.

3. Complaint is made in the report of the many marks or brands employed in the trade, and it is suggested that the Indian Government should establish a scale of marks or brands which native traders should be compelled to adopt. It is also complained that, owing to "the careless treatment which the fibre receives at the hands of the growers," and their ignorance of "the advantages which would result from a frequent change of seed," the staple, at all events in respect of color, is "growing worse and worse every year." In the words of the report, these are "the three chief points to which the Dunkirk spinners would respectfully call the attention of the Indian Government."

4. As to the first of these suggestions, I am to observe that interference by Government in these three points might amount to regulating the trade, and that, apart altogether from the question of its expediency, the attempt to regulate such a trade officially would be a task of much difficulty and beyond the ordinary sphere of Government. Spinners, if dissatisfied with the market classifications of the staple, have the remedy in their own hands, by establishing their own agents in Bengal—as some Dundee firms have already done—with instructions to buy that class of jute only which is specially adapted to their requirements. The great demand of spinners is for what is technically described as good fair medium jute, and not for fine qualities. The ryots have discovered this, and grow the quality for which there is most demand. There is no reason to believe, I am instructed to say, that the staple now grown is inferior to the produce of former years, or that it is undergoing deterioration. It pays the cultivator better to grow a large crop of medium quality, than to restrict his cultivation to lands that produce the finer kinds only. If spinners are prepared to pay a higher price for better quality, there might be some inducement to the cultivator to produce it; but as matters now stand, the growth has adjusted itself to the character of the demand. The Lieutenant-Governor understands that there is quite as much jute of fine quality sent to market now as there ever was; but the demand for it is as limited as the soil on which it grows. It must be remembered that jute is the cheapest of all spinning fibres, and does not admit of adulteration; and that its production at a very low cost is essential to most of the purposes for which it is required, namely, the manufacture of coarse bagging, and similar fabrics.

5. There is no doubt room for improvement in the process of steeping the fibre, but the question of price again lies at the root of the matter. The stalks ought to be withdrawn from the water as soon as the retting is complete, but the cultivator cannot afford to hire labor for the purpose. He will withdraw, at the proper moment, as much of the fibre as he can by his own labor with the assistance of his family, and the color of the remainder must suffer from his inability to withdraw it all.

6. As to change of seed between the districts, His Honor believes that the people are not insensible to its advantages, but the districts are remote from each other, and no organisation exists for a systematic interchange. The importance of assisting the cultivator in this direction is fully recognized, and the Lieutenant-Governor is not without hope that it may eventually be in his power, by the establishment of a well organized central seed depôt, to improve matters.

7. A point of perhaps more importance than any of the above, that may be worthy of the notice of the French spinners, is the change that has taken place of late years in the mode of baling the fibre. A few years ago all the jute exported from Calcutta was compressed by hand-power into bales of 300lbs. weight. With the introduction of steam presses has come the practice of screwing 350lbs., 400lbs., and even 500lbs. of the fibre into a bale of precisely the same size, for the saving in freight thereby; and although it is admitted that this extreme pressure injures the fibre, spinners are willing to suffer it for the sake of the 10*s*. or 15*s*. per ton saving.

8. Although every facility or assistance in these matters which the Government can give will always be afforded, and although the Government feels great interest in the prosperity of this trade, still the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the remedy for the evils complained of in the report lies mainly in the hands of spinners themselves. If the selection of the quality of fibre they require is entrusted to agents or representatives who know their precise wants; if a remunerative price is offered to the grower for the finer qualities; and if, finally, a lower screwing power is applied in the baling, spinners will obtain all they require; and these remedies seem to be the only ones that meet the case.

Note on Jute Manufactories in Holland.

The provinces in Holland in which there are jute manufactories are North Brabant, North Holland, Utrecht, Friesland, Overyssel, and Dreuthe.

In North Brabant there are nine factories, which use from 460,000 to 467,000 kilogrammes of jute annually. Two are at a place called Boxtel, one at Geldrop, five at Goirle, and one at Helmond. At Boxtel the factories are worked by steam. In North Brabant the jute is used for making grain and meal sacks, for paper hangings, and for packing cloth; none for coffee bags.

In North Holland there are six factories, using 214,500 kilogrammes of jute a year; one at Amsterdam, three at Goven, and two at Naarden. Of this quantity 185,000 kilogrammes are used for coffee bags; and at Goven 9,509 kilogrammes are used up for making covering cloths for cows.

In Utrecht there are four factories, two at the town of Utrecht, one at Rhenen, and one at Amersfoort. They work up from 251,550 to 251,650 kilogrammes of jute a year; of which only 20,000 are used for coffee bags at Amersfoort. About 230,000 kilogrammes are worked up also at Amersfoort for making onion, sugar, and meal sacks, rough cloth* coverings for cows, and common carpets.

* Interwoven with flax: the warp of linen, and the woof of jute threads.

In Friesland there are three factories, using 46,425 kilogrammes of jute—at Dokkum, Horlengen, Weststellingward; at the latter place 13,000 kilogrammes are used for coffee bags.

In the province of Overyssel there are six factories, but a great deal of jute is also worked by hand in the houses of the work-people for pack cloth. The whole quantity annually used is 3,593,000 kilogrammes, of which 1,921,500 is for coffee bags. The rest is made into meal sacks, packing cloth, mattresses, stair carpets, and salt and potato sacks. At Enschede and Goor all the jute work is done in the houses by hand. At Holten there is a factory, at Oldenzael three, at Steenwyk one, and the largest of all is at Ryssen, where 2,500,000 kilogrammes of jute are annually used.

In the province of Dreuthe, there are two factories at Norg and two at Vledder, using 240,666 kilogrammes of jute, of which 236,000 are for coffee bags.

Altogether there are 32 jute manufactories in Holland, besides the hand-weaving in the houses of the work-people. The quantity of jute annually worked up is from 4,006,141 to 5,120,241 kilogrammes, of which from 2,375,500 to 2,680,200 are used for coffee bags; and from 2,430,641 to 2,439,741 for other purposes.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 30th January 1875.

	No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
		Western Districts.
Burdwan Divn.	1	Burdwan, 1st* Feb. 1875	·27	Rainfall at Cutwa ·49, Ranegunge ·21, Culna and Jehanabad nil. Week cold and cloudy; west wind, and clear on the 1st February; crops flourishing. Fever less; cholera in places.
	2	Bankoora, 30th Jan. 1875	0·25	Slight rain on the 26th January; rest of the week was dry. Winter crops doing very well. The rain has allowed preliminary ploughings for next season's rice crop to commence.
	3	Beerbhoom, 30th „ „	0·50	Some rain has fallen. Weather uncertain. Cold-weather crops, &c., doing well. Ploughing for oil-seeds in progress.
	4	Midnapore, 30th „ „	0·23	Weather cold and cloudy. Harvest all in. Prospects of cold-weather crops are good.
	5	Hooghly, 30th „ „	0·28	Cloudy on one day and some rain has fallen; remainder of the week clear. Wind from north and north-east. The rain has been good for potatoes, but may injure the peas. Onions and other vegetables doing well.
		Howrah, 30th „ „	0·19	Cloudy and cold, with drizzling rain at beginning of the week; bright and fair at the end. No crops to report on.
		Central Districts.
Presidency Divn.	6	24-Pergunnahs, 1st† Feb. 1875.	0·18	Cloudy in the mornings during the early part of the week. Slight showers have fallen during the week all over the district. The harvest of late rice has been nearly completed. Cold-weather crops generally doing well. Cholera prevailing in several parts of the Sudder, Diamond Harbour, Barripore, and Baraset Sub-divisions. Fever decreasing in the Sub-division of Barripore.
	7	Nuddea, 30th Jan. 1875	0·15	Seasonable weather. Little rain. The cold-weather crops generally are getting on well. The Collector has received several petitions from the villages in the Chupra and Teyhutte Thanas, informing him that their rice crops were destroyed by inundation, and that their cold-weather crops have been destroyed by hail, and that consequently they will require help, as they have had no means of recovering from the late famine. An Assistant has been deputed to inquire into the matter for special report
	8	Jessore, 30th „ „	0·11	One or two days cloudy with light rain. The harvesting of the late rice, except in Bagirhat, is over. The boro or spring rice in Khoolna is being transplanted. The prospects of the cold-weather crops, though said to be a little injured in some places by the rain, continue generally good.
Rajshahye Divn.	9	Moorshedabad, 30th Jan. 1875.	0·14	Slight rain fell. Weather bright and seasonable; mornings occasionally foggy. No change to report on the state of the crops. The prospects of the cold-weather crops continue good There is a difference of 10 seers between the reported prices of best rice in the east and west of the district. Common rice averages 18—12 seers the rupee. Public health good.
	10	Dinagepore, 29th Jan. 1875.	Nil	Cloudy and foggy during the early part of the week, afterwards the weather has become cold and bright. The mustard crop will be below the average Other cold-weather crops looking well. Land in some places begun to be broken up for the bhadoi or early crops.
	11	Maldah, 30th Jan. 1875	Nil	Weather cold, but occasionally cloudy and foggy. Boro or spring rice is now being grown. Prospects of all cold-weather crops are good.
	12	Rajshahye	.....	Return not received.
	13	Rungpore, 29th Jan. 1875	Nil	Weather very cold; some days cloudy and thick. Reaping of late rice is finished. Cold-weather crops doing pretty well Mustard is being gathered here and there, and its outturn is not favourable. Sugarcane looks well.
	14	Bogra, 30th „ „	Nil	Weather very cold in the morning and evening. The reaping of the late rice crop is not yet finished.
	15	Pubna, 30th „ „	0·06	Little rain has fallen. Weather cold, fine, and seasonable. The Chaitali, or April crop seedlings are well above the ground, and promise well. Some of them are in flower. Harvesting of sugarcane and turmeric going on rapidly. The jally and boro, or spring rice crops, are being sown.

* Telegram of the 1st February, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

† Report of the 1st February, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding

	No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
Cooch Behar Divs.	16	Darjeeling, 29th Jan. 1875.	Nil	Weather still bitterly cold, though not quite so misty as during last week. The young crops of wheat, barley, and mustard-seed are getting on well. The winter rice crop has been gathered in, and the ground is in many places being ploughed for other crops.
	17	Julpigoree, 30th Jan. 1875	Nil	Weather cold; mornings foggy. All crops doing well.
		Cooch Behar, 28th Jan. 1875.	Nil	Weather cold; some days cloudy. The prospects of the cold-weather crops are pretty good on the whole.
		Eastern Districts.
Dacca Div.	18	Dacca, 1st* Feb. 1875	0·11	Weather cold and cloudy. Little rain has fallen. Crops very good.
	19	Furreedpore, 30th Jan. 1875.	0·07	Cloudy in the first few days, and clear sunshine during the latter part of the week. Prospects of the crops favourable all over the district. The price of common rice has risen at Furreedpore, owing probably to a decrease in importations; has fallen at Goalundo, and continues the same at Bhangah, Gopalgunge, and Madaripore. General health good.
	20	Backergunge, 28th Jan. 1875	Nil	Weather cold and fair. State and prospects of crops are good.
	21	Mymensingh, 29th Jan. 1875.	Nil	Cloudy on the 26th January. Weather very cold and chilly throughout the district. There are very scanty crops on the ground now. The planting of the boro or spring rice is progressing.
Chittagong Divs.	22	Chittagong, 28th Jan. 1875	0·34	Cloudy during the middle of the week; afterwards clear. Some rain has fallen. State and prospects of crops good. Some damage has been caused to paddy, which, after having been cut, was lying exposed to the heavy rainfall of the previous week. There has been a slight outbreak of cholera in the village of Ghoramara, Thana Koomeria. Nine cases are reported.
	23	Noakholly, 28th Jan. 1875.	0·42	The 21st, 26th, and 27th January were cloudy; slight rain fell during these days; the rest of the week was fair The reaping of the late rice crop is not yet fully completed; constant cloudy weather and rain may have slightly damaged the cold-weather crops.
	24	Tipperah, 29th Jan. 1875	0·15	Weather cold; a little rain has fallen. Rainfall at Brahmunberiah ·08. State and prospects of all crops favourable. Cold-weather crops are being reaped.
	25	Chittagong Hill Tracts, 26th Jan 1875.	0·32	A fall of rain on the 20th and 21st, and cloudy on the 26th January. The fall of rain during the week has improved the prospects of the mustard, chilly, and tobacco crops.
		Hill Tipperah	.....	Return not received.
BEHAR.
Patna Divs.	26	Patna, 1st* Feb. 1875	0·37	Very little change since last report; some light showers of rain fell, but not sufficient to make any appreciable difference either for good or bad. The weather is bright and clear again and exceedingly cold. Health of the district good.
	27	Gya, 30th Jan. 1875	Nil	Cold and cloudy towards the end of the week; a very slight rain fell on the 30th January. The prospects of the cold-weather crops continue excellent. Health of the people good.
	28	Shahabad 30th „ „	Nil	Weather cloudy with east wind. There is reason to fear blight and caterpillars injuring the standing crops if the weather does not clear up soon. The Sub-divisional reports show that the damage done by the hail was very trifling.
	29	East Tirhoot	.....	Return not received.
	30	West Tirhoot, 30th Jan. 1875	Nil	Cold and cloudy weather. Prospects of the cold-weather crops continue good; harvest of rice is over. Public health good.
	31	Saran, 30th Jan. 1875	Nil	Clear and seasonable up to 29th January; cloudy and very cold on the 30th; west wind prevailing. The prospects of the cold-weather crops are generally favorable. Wheat, barley, rahur (pulse) and peas doing well; poppy everywhere forward; mustard is being gathered; very slight injury to rahur and peas from frost has been reported within the jurisdiction of Ranepara outpost, Thanas Mushruck and Goothni, of Thana Durrowli. Indigo fields are ready for sowing. Prices stationary. General health good.
	32	Chumparun, 29th „ „	Nil	Weather cloudy and clear alternately; mornings generally foggy. The cold-weather crops are excellent; late rice has been harvested.

* Telegrams of the 1st February, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BEHAR.—(Contd.)
Bhagulpore Divs. 33	Monghyr, 30th Jan. 1875	Nil	Cloudy weather. The crops are looking well all over the district.
34	Bhagulpore, 1st* Feb. „	0·38	Rain general on the south of the Ganges on the night of the 30th January, and cloudy on the 1st instant. Weather very cold. No report from the north. Rain of great benefit to all standing crops. General health very good.
35	Purneah, 30th Jan. „	Nil	Cloudy weather. The state and prospects of the cold-weather crops are excellent. There will be a 16 annas return from them.
36	Sonthal Pergunnahs, 30th Jan. 1875	0·40	Cloudy, with drizzling rain from 2 P.M. of the 29th January. Bright morning, cloud over about noon. A little fear expressed that continued rain may damage mustard and what rice is lying on the threshing floor. Wheat and barley doing very well in the north.
ORISSA.
Orissa Division. 37	Cuttack, 23rd Jan. 1875	·05	A very slight shower of rain on the 19th January. Weather cold at the Sudder Station. A fall of 0·2 of rain is reported from Jajepore, where the weather is also cold. Late rice harvest almost over. Winter crops ripening; in some places the harvest has already begun. Cotton and tobacco crops doing well. Public health good.
38	Pooree, 28th „ „	0·7	There was a good shower of rain on the 27th, and the sky was partially cloudy on the 28th January. The harvesting of the main rice (sarud) crop is nearing completion, and the outturn is fair, though a portion of the ripe paddy ready for the sickle, as well as the straw, has been damaged by the rain. Of the pulses, berrhi, black moong, and arhur are being gathered, with an indifferent outturn. White moong pulse is being sown, and it has benefited by the rain. Koolthi is coming on. Mustard and castor have been injured by the rain. Sugarcane is being gathered with a good outturn. Dalooa rice is growing well, and it has benefited by the rain. Mango blossoms have been to a great extent injured by the rain.
39	Balasore, 29th „ „	0·23	Weather variable, with a slight fall of rain in some parts of the Sub-division. Harvesting of rice crop satisfactorily completed. Crushing of sugarcane going on. Cold-weather crops good. General health satisfactory.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh, 29th Jan. 1875.	0·18	Weather still very cold; white frosts at night; a little rain with hail has fallen in the district. The rain has been beneficial to the cold-weather crops, the prospects of which are good. Small-pox appears slightly on the increase in Hazareebagh.
41	Lohardugga, 30th Jan. 1875.	·41	Weather raw and cold; was raining hard at the time of report. Crops still reported as excellent. Slight damage done to rahar pulse by frost. Rain will do good.
42	Singbhoom, 29th Jan. 1875.	0·54	Seasonable weather. Some rain has fallen. State and prospects of crops favorable.
43	Manbhoom, 30th Jan. 1875.	0·23	Weather favorable. Some rain has fallen. The little rain that fell has done a great deal of good.

* Telegram of the 1st February, received on the same date, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer, 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

Private Secretary.

ORDERS BY THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL.

REVENUE AND GENERAL DEPARTMENTS.

NOTIFICATION.

The 4th February 1875.—As Colonel E. T. Dalton, C.S.I., Commissioner of Chota Nagpore, is about to quit India finally, after the ordinary period of his service in the country has been twice specially extended by the Secretary of State, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to avail himself of the opportunity of recording his high appreciation of Colonel Dalton's very valuable services under the Bengal Government for more than thirty-three years.

During the first fifteen years of his service in civil employ, Colonel Dalton was attached to the Assam Commission; but for eighteen years he has now been the Commissioner, or principal civil authority, in the Chota Nagpore Division, including the Tributary States on the South-West Frontier. By character and by training admirably fitted for the management and development of the simple people who inhabit this wide tract of country, he has, by his kind and paternal administration, so entirely won the confidence and affection of his subjects, that the disturbances and rebellions of former days are now wholly forgotten.

The influence which Colonel Dalton exercised over the chiefs and people under his control, was strikingly exhibited in 1868 in connection with the rising in Keonjhur, one of the tributary mehals in Cuttack. It fell to his lot, on that occasion, to render very signal service to Government in the suppression of the disturbances; and though the affair attracted but little notice, because of the rapidity with which it was brought to a successful termination, the result, as recorded by Sir William Grey at the time, was mainly due to the powerful influence of Colonel Dalton's presence at Keonjhur.

Colonel Dalton has deservedly acquired a reputation for his observant experience and ethnological research. He has proved himself on all occasions to be a capable and sympathetic administrator. He leaves India with the cordial thanks and acknowledgments of Government; and he may be sure that the memory of his long and honorable career, almost unbroken by any leave or relaxation, will never be obliterated among the people who have been under his protection for so many years.

SALT STOCKS.

The 8th February 1875.—The Lieutenant-Governor deems it desirable to publish and draw the attention of all who may be concerned to the following letter from the Board of Revenue, and its annexed statement, showing the quantity of salt in bond and afloat on the 1st January of the years 1870 to 1875, inclusive :—

No. 57B, dated Fort William, the 28th January 1875.

From—W. H. GRIMLEY, ESQ., Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

A. Money, Esq., C.B.

WITH reference to Government order No 2537, dated 16th ultimo, I am directed by the Member-in-Charge to submit herewith a statement showing the quantity of salt in bond and afloat at Calcutta on the 1st January of the years 1870 to 1875, and the average quantity of the first five years, on a reference to which it will be seen that the total quantity remaining on the 1st January 1875 was about half of that remaining on the 1st January of the three years 1870, 1871, and 1872, and about two-thirds of that remaining on the 1st January 1873 and 1874, while the average of the five years 1870 to 1874 exceeds the stock remaining on the 1st January 1875 by 10,02,181 maunds, or about 76·5 per cent.

2. I am to state that Mr. Money does not see what action Government can take towards increasing the quantity of salt in stock, except publishing this letter in the Gazette, to call the attention of shippers to the scant supply at present in the market.

PENSIONS AND GRATUITIES.

Fort William, the 15th January 1875.

Resolution.—There is reason to believe that an impression exists that an officer who submits an application for invalid pension must be immediately removed from the service.

2. The Governor-General in Council deems it necessary to point out that Rule I, under Section 52 of the Civil Pension Code, does not require the removal of such an officer until a medical certificate is submitted.

ORDERED, that this Resolution be distributed for information and guidance as follows:—

To the several Departments of the Government of India.

To the several local Governments and Administrations.

To the Comptroller-General, and to the several Accountants-General and Deputy Accountants-General in independent charge.

CENTRAL RELIEF FUND.

Proceedings of the 29th Meeting of the Executive Committee, Central Relief Fund, held on the 26th November 1874.

PRESENT:

THE HON'BLE V. H SCHALCH, C S.I., Chairman.
" J. BULLEN-SMITH.
" DEGUMBER MITTER
" JOTENDRO MOHUN TAGORE.
MOONSHEE AMEER ALI, KHAN BAHADOOR.
BABOO DOORGA CHURN LAHA.

I. The proceedings of the meeting of the 12th November were read and confirmed.

II. Read letter from the Collector of Purneah, No. 3621F., dated 3rd November regarding disposal of famine orphans.

Resolved—That before any famine orphan is made over to the charge of a person of a different religion from the orphan or its late parents, in consequence of no fit person of its own religion consenting to take it, the District Committee be asked whether any one or more members of their own body will take charge of the orphan, either with or without such allowances as it may be determined to give.

Resolved—That of the five Purneah orphans, the arrangement made by the Committee regarding three be approved, and with regard to the other two, the Committee be addressed in the sense of the above Resolution.

III. Read letter from Relief Commissioner of Rajshahye, No. 2105, dated 8th October 1874, regarding the disposal of two famine orphans in Rungpore.

Resolved—That the action of the District Committee be approved.

IV. Read letter from the Collector of Midnapore, No. 1828, dated 20th November 1874, regarding the disposal of the grant noted by the Central Committee in aid of the sufferers by the cyclone.

Resolved—That the Central Committee grant the lakh of rupees to meet imminent distress arising out of the late cyclone. They are not prepared to indicate how relief should be given,—that they must leave with those who applied for the money; assuming, however, that care will be taken that the money is only expended for cases of charity, and bonâ fide relief of distress of whatever kind to all who are really suffering and necessitous. While unwilling to enter on details which might fetter the local Committee, the Central Committee would entirely deprecate any system of loans or advances.

V. Read letter from Government of Bengal, No. 6716—S.R., dated 20th November 1874, forwarding a statement showing the amount owing by the Committee to the Government up to 30th June 1874.

Resolved—That Government be asked to favor the Committee with the details referred to in paragraph 4 of the letter, and that then the Collectors be addressed to state what portions of the quantity of Government grain received they have paid for out of the remittances made to them by the Committee.

VI. The following grant was made:—Chumparun, Rs. 100, for November.

VII. Read letter from the Collector of the 24-Pergunnahs regarding alleged distress in Kistopore, &c.

Resolved—That a reply be sent to the Revd. C. Baumann declining to accede to his application for assistance.

VIII. The following papers were read and recorded :—

(a) Letter from Rajshahye Collector, No. 2798, dated 9th October 1874, reporting on completion of relief operations in the Nattore and other sub-divisions.

(b.) Letter from William Smith, Esq., of 14th October 1874, forwarding a receipt from Mrs. McCleery for the Rs. 1,000 granted by the Central Committee.

(c.) Letter from the Agent to the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China, dated 10th November 1874, regarding a further remittance of Rs. 38,710-11-5 from the Lord Mayor of London.

Ditto	ditto	Pubna	for April to August.
Ditto	ditto	Sarun	for October.
Ditto	ditto	Monghyr	for June to September.
Ditto	ditto	Gya	for October.

IX. The following bills for postage incurred in transmitting the Committee's correspondence were passed; viz.—

	Rs.	A.	P.
For September 1874	1	15	0
For October	0	11	0

X. Resolved—That a notification be issued to inform the public that relief operations having practically closed, no further grants will be made by the Committee, and they do not desire to receive further subscriptions.

Proceedings of the 30th Meeting of the Executive Committee, Central Relief Fund, held on the 7th January 1875.

PRESENT:

THE HON'BLE V. H. SCHALCH, C.S.I., Chairman.
„ J. INGLIS, C.S.I.
„ J. R. BULLEN-SMITH.

I. To expedite the settlement with Government of accounts connected with the expenditure of Government grain, it was proposed for the consideration of the Committee at the next meeting that the sum received from Government as their contribution to the Central Relief Fund might be refunded to Government in settlement of all their claims against the Committee's funds on account of Government grain and medical charges debitable to them.

II. The Treasurer presented a statement of the Committee's account made up to the end of December 1874, and showing a balance to their credit at the Bank of Bengal of Rs. 21,64,553-1-1 and of Rs. 527-9-0 in the Treasurer's hands.

Resolved—That the latter sum be placed at the disposal of the Treasurer for the remuneration of the officers of his establishment, who have assisted in the collection and preparation of accounts.

III. Read a letter from the Relief Commissioner of Rajshahye, submitting a claim for the sum of Rs. 1,61,257, paid in the Dinagepore district as wages to persons employed on public works, but who were stated to be physically unable to perform a full day's work.

Resolved—That the Committee do not consider themselves justified in acceding to the request with reference to their former arrangements and considering the circumstances under which the claim is made.

IV. Several applications for grants from the Committee's funds in aid of private charitable institutions, &c., were laid before the meeting.

Resolved—That these and any similar applications which may be received hereafter be circulated previous to consideration at the next meeting to be held to consider the proposal of this meeting for the settlement of accounts.

V. Read a letter from the Collector of Purneah regarding the disposal of two orphans in that district. It is proposed to make them over to European gentlemen who have offered to clothe, maintain, and educate them as domestic servants.

Resolved—That the Collector's proposal be accepted.

VI. Read a letter dated Glasgow, 26th November 1874, from the Chairman of the Glasgow Committee, asking for particulars of the balance unspent of the Glasgow subscriptions, &c.

Resolved—That a reply be sent to the effect that (1) as no separate account has been kept of the Glasgow subscriptions, or of those received from any other city or town, the precise balance of the Glasgow funds cannot be stated, all subscriptions having been merged into one general fund; (2) that after settling with the Government for their claims for rice, &c., used by the District Committees for charitable relief, the Central Committee expect to have a balance of £1,000 to £2,000; (3) that the Committee hope to be in a position to make a preliminary report on their operations early in February.

VII. Read a similar letter from the Lord Mayor of London.

Resolved—That a reply to the effect of the 2nd and 3rd paragraphs of the Resolution in the case of Glasgow be given.

VIII. Bills to the amount of Rs. 5-12-0 for stamps and petty office contingencies were duly passed by the Committee.

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholar-like knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface

Chief Clerk's Office, the 9th day of February 1875.

BENGAL CIVIL FUND.

At a Half-yearly General Meeting of Subscribers to the Bengal Civil Fund, held at the Town Hall, Calcutta, on Wednesday, the 27th January 1875.

PRESENT:—The Hon'ble V. H. Schalch; E. F. Harrison, Esq.; The Hon'ble W. F. McDonell; H. J. Reynolds, Esq.; T. J. C. Grant, Esq.; A. P. Howell, Esq.; J. H. Rivett-Carnac, Esq.; D. Fitzpatrick, Esq.; H. Beverley, Esq.; P. D. Dickens, Esq.; Dr. W. W. Hunter; T. W. Gribble, Esq.; W. H. Grimley, Esq.; W. M. Souttar, Esq.; W. H. Verner, Esq.; H. J. S. Cotton, Esq.; C. J. Lyall, Esq.; T. J. C. Plowden, Esq.; and J. A. Bourdillon, Esq.

H. J. Reynolds, Esq., in the chair.

Read the following Report submitted by the Managers:—

REPORT.

The Managers submit their proceedings for the past half-year for the consideration and sanction of the meeting.

Subject to the approval of Subscribers, they have admitted to the benefits of the Fund the following families:—

Mrs. Carnac ... ... £ 300 0 0 Sons ... ... „ 180 0 0 £ 480 0 0	The widow and two sons of the late Mr. W. J. Rivett-Carnac, who died at Nynee Tal on the 9th July last.
Mrs. McNeile ... ... £ 300 0 0 Children ... ... „ 120 0 0 £ 420 0 0 Less ⅓ under Rule VII ... ... „ 70 0 0 £ 350 0 0	The widow and three children (one daughter and two sons) of the late Mr. D. J. McNeile, who died in England on the 31st August last.
Mrs. Lushington ... ... £ 300 0 0 Children ... ... „ 500 0 0 £ 800 0 0	The widow and five children (four daughters and one son) of the late Mr. C. Hugh Lushington (an annuitant of 1862), who died in England on the 3rd November last.
Mrs. Ward ... ... £ 300 0 0 Daughter ... ... „ 60 0 0 £ 360 0 0 Less ⅕ under Rule VII ... ... „ 60 0 0 £ 300 0 0	The widow and daughter of the late Mr. John Ward, who died at Rampore Beauleah on the 22nd of November last.

The Managers reported at the last meeting that Mrs. Beresford had applied for the continuance of her son John's pension after he attained his majority. She has, in compliance with the requirements of the rules, submitted a certificate from the oculist, Dr. Critchet, who certifies that her son is permanently blind. Subject to the approval of subscribers, Mr. John Beresford's name stands on the list of pensioners.

The Managers have received a memorial from Mrs. Clark to be replaced on the Fund, as she has obtained a judicial separation. She was formerly in the receipt of an allowance of £100 from the Fund, as the daughter of the late Mr. J. C. Brown, and on her marriage to the Revd. F. S. Clark, obtained the usual donation of £300. She has been informed that her request cannot be complied with, as the rules do not contemplate the re-admission of daughters after marriage. Mrs. Clark has expressed a wish that her case should be laid before the service.

The Managers have received an application from Mr. R. G. Melvill, late of the Bengal Civil Service, for a refund of the subscriptions he had paid to the Civil Fund. They have informed him that under the rules this cannot be allowed.

Mrs. Melvill, the wife of Mr. R. G. Melvill, has applied to the Managers for an allowance from the Fund for herself and four children, on the ground that her husband has been dismissed from the service and has no means to support her and her children. The Managers have replied that this cannot under the rules be sanctioned. The Government have taken Mrs. Melvill's case into consideration, and granted her and her children an allowance.

* The allowances granted from the Fund for the maintenance and education of children, shall be paid in advance quarterly to their guardians or relatives having the care of them, or to such persons as may be entrusted with the disbursement of the sums allotted for them, either by the Managers of the Fund in India or by the Agents of the Fund in England. No advances made under this or the preceding rule shall be liable to be recovered on the death, marriage, or coming of age of any incumbent on the Fund.

Mrs. Cunliffe having applied for the full quarter's pension due to her son, for the quarter in which he attained his majority, the Managers have interpreted article 33* of the rules as requiring a full quarter's pension to be paid in advance at the commencement of the quarter to a son coming of age in the course of the quarter.

An application has been received from Mr. J. B. Lyall for the remission of the fine of Rs. 50 incurred under article 5 of the rules. Mr. Lyall pleads that he reported his marriage, which took place in England on the 28th of November 1874, immediately on arrival in India, and that as he left England ten days after the event, had he reported the marriage within the prescribed month by letter from England, the information would not have reached the Managers sooner than by his report on reaching India. The Managers recommend this case for the consideration of the meeting.

The Managers submit, for the consideration of this meeting, the case of Mr. H. Priestly. Under article 8 of the rules, Subscribers who resign the service and wish to secure to their widows and children the full, the half, or the quarter, benefits of the Fund, must on retirement make up their subscription balance to Rs. 25,000, 12,500, or Rs. 6,250, as the case may be, and must continue their contribution from their annuities at half the rates levied from Subscribers in the Service. Mr. Priestly resigned the service on the 5th of August last, and was informed immediately that £430 was payable to make up his subscription balance to Rs. 6,250. He is anxious to keep up his interest, but finds it difficult to pay up £430 at once, and wishes to know whether he may be allowed to pay by annual instalments of £100 with interest at 8 per cent. The Managers lay the matter before the meeting for consideration.

Dr. Hunter has written to the Managers enquiring whether any communication from the Government, on the subject of the rumoured transfer of appointments hitherto reserved for Covenanted Civil Servants to natives of the country not being members of the Service, has been received by them, and, if not, suggesting that as the change is one which may seriously affect the prospects of the Fund, they should take steps to ascertain whether any such measure is in contemplation. The Managers have accordingly addressed the Government of India, asking whether the Secretary of State has in a recent despatch required the Government to draw up rules for the appointment of natives of India under 33 Victoria, III., 6., to posts hitherto held by members of the Civil Service. The Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department has, in a letter dated the 20th instant, replied that the Governor General in Council is in correspondence with the Secretary of State on the subject of these rules.

It was reported at the last General Meeting that the Managers had written to some members of the Service, asking them for statements of any facts or arguments that might seem to them calculated to throw light upon the subject-matter of the second resolution passed at the meeting of the 28th January 1874. They have since received three memoranda from members, showing grounds for apprehending future decrease in the average gross salaries of Subscribers. These documents have been forwarded to the Actuary, and copies have been circulated to the service at large.

The Managers regret that they are unable to lay before this meeting the Actuary's report on the position of the Fund. They were led by a letter of that gentleman to expect the report in the course of the past half-year, but it has not been received. The delay may be in part due to the further references that have been made.

The accounts of the year 1873-74 are submitted.

Proposed by Mr. D. Fitzpatrick, seconded by Mr. C. J Lyall, and carried "that the proceedings of the Managers, in admitting to the benefits of the Fund the families of the late Mr. W. J. Rivett-Carnac, Mr. D. J. McNeile, Mr. C. Hugh Lushington, and Mr. John Ward, be confirmed."

Proposed by Mr. H. Beverley, seconded by Mr. W. M. Souttar, and carried "that the Managers' action in allowing Mr. John Beresford's name to remain upon the list of pensioners be approved and confirmed."

Proposed by Mr. T. W. Gribble, seconded by Dr. W. W. Hunter, and carried "that the Managers' refusal to replace Mrs. Clark upon the Fund be affirmed."

Proposed by Mr T. J. C Plowden, seconded by Mr. C. J. Lyall, and carried "that the reply of the Managers to Mr. R. G. Melvill be approved."

Proposed by Mr. P. D Dickens, seconded by Mr. H. Beverley, and carried "that the reply of the Managers to Mrs. R. G. Melvill be confirmed."

Proposed by Mr. P. D. Dickens, seconded by Mr. W. H. Grimley, and carried "that the Managers' interpretation of article 33 be approved and confirmed."

Proposed by the Hon'ble Mr. W. F. McDonell, seconded by Mr. T. J. C. Grant, and carried "that the fine imposed upon Mr. J. B. Lyall be exacted."

Proposed by Mr. W. M. Souttar, seconded by Mr. P. D. Dickens, and carried "that in the opinion of this meeting the rules do not admit of Mr. Priestley's being allowed to pay up the balance of £430 by instalments of £100 a year, and that he be informed that he must pay the balance within a time to be fixed by the Managers."

The following correspondence was then read :—

UNITED SERVICE CLUB,
Calcutta, 23rd December 1874.

To

THE SECRETARY TO THE CIVIL FUND.

SIR,

It is understood that the Secretary of State in a recent despatch has instructed the Government of India to draw up rules under 33 Vic., III, 6, for the admission of natives of India to appointments which have heretofore been reserved for members of the Civil Service. The question of the employment of natives in these posts is, of course, one which must rest with Government. But a very general impression exists that if the measure is to be carried out, it should be done in such a way as not to involve injustice or pecuniary loss to the Civil Fund; whose members for the most part entered the employment of Government and have paid their subscriptions under the previous state of the law by which these appointments were guaranteed to the body of men who constitute the members of the said Fund, and whose covenants with Her Majesty's Secretary of State rendered those subscriptions compulsory.

A good deal of anxiety is felt on this question by the Up-country subscribers to the Fund, and upon behalf of myself and other members I venture to enquire whether any communication from Government has been received by the Managers of the Fund on the subject; and if so, what steps have been taken by them with a view to watching over or representing the vested interests of the Fund in the change which is said to be now impending.

If no such communication has been received, I venture to suggest, for the consideration of the Managers, whether steps might not be taken by them with a view to ascertaining the facts from Government, and if needful, representing the interests of the members of the Civil Fund.

It is unnecessary to point out that the opening up of posts hitherto guaranteed by law to the body of men who constitute the members of the Fund, and the filling of these appointments by persons who are not subscribers, will diminish the income of the Fund, and possibly affect the basis of calculation on which its estimates have hitherto proceeded.

I have, &c.,

THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA, HOME DEPARTMENT.

CIVIL FUND OFFICE,

No. 326, dated 4th January 1875.

SIR,

I am desired by the Managers of the Bengal Civil Fund to enquire whether the Government of India, in a recent despatch from the Secretary of State, has received instructions to draw up rules under 33 Vic., III, 6, for the admission of natives of India to appointments which have heretofore been held by members of the Bengal Civil Service. The question is one which must greatly affect the prospects of the Civil Fund.

I have, &c.,

Offg. Secretary.

FROM

ARTHUR HOWELL, ESQ.,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of India.

To

THE OFFG. SECY. TO THE BENGAL CIVIL FUND.

SIR,

Fort William, the 20th January 1875.

In reply to your letter No. 326, dated 4th instant, I am directed to refer you to Section 6 of 33 Vic., Chapter III, which Act was passed with the object of giving additional facilities for the employment of natives of India of proved merit and ability in the Civil Service of Her Majesty in India.

Home Department (Public), No. 114.

I am to point out that the wording of this section makes it imperative on the Governor General in Council to frame rules in view to the attainment of this object, and all appointments are to be made subject to such rules when sanctioned by the Secretary of State in Council. I am to inform you that the Governor General in Council is in correspondence accordingly with the Secretary of State on the subject.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) ARTHUR HOWELL,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of India.

With reference to the correspondence just read, the following Resolution was proposed by Mr. W. M. Souttar, and seconded by Mr. T. W. Gribble, "that the action of the Managers as guardians of the interests of the Fund in addressing Government be approved; and that as subscribers to the Fund view with apprehension the loss which the filling up of appointments by persons who are not subscribers may entail on its resources, the Managers be directed to continue to watch the matter in the interest of the Fund and to submit a specific representation to Government on the subject."

Carried nem. con., Mr. A. P. Howell declining to vote.

The accounts of the past year were approved.

Messrs. Schalch, Grant, O'Kinealy, Souttar, and Cotton, were elected Managers of the Fund for the ensuing year.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman.

LAND GIVEN BY ZEMINDARS FREE OF COST FOR FAMINE ROADS.

No. 164—S.R., dated Calcutta, the 19th January 1875.

From—C. BERNARD, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Scarcity and Relief Department,

To—The Secretary to the Board of Revenue

THE Member in charge is aware that in many districts of Bengal land for relief roads and tanks has been given free of charge by the zemindars. The liberality of the zemindars in this matter has been publicly acknowledged by the Lieutenant-Governor.

2. It has been brought to the notice of the Lieutenant-Governor that there may be practical difficulty in giving effect to the Board's rule that land so given for a public purpose should be regularly taken up under the Act, and a nominal sum paid to the zemindar. The Board's rule is, under ordinary circumstances, right and proper; it secures an indefeasible title to Government, and it guards against possible claims and difficulties hereafter. It seems, however, that in many instances the zemindars have cheerfully given their land free of charge for relief roads, on the single condition that the land should revert to them if the road is hereafter abandoned. These zemindars say that, if the land is formally taken up under the Act, and a nominal price tendered to them, they will then demand payment in full at ordinary rates for every rood occupied.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor has discussed the matter with the Commissioners of Patna and Bhagulpore, and with the Relief Commissioner of Rajshahye, in which divisions these cases have chiefly arisen. These officers and their Collectors are satisfied that it will be best to give way in this matter to the views of the zemindars who are liberally minded. It cannot be denied that the title to the land will, if procedure under the Act be waived, not be so good as it would have been under the procedure prescribed by the Board; and claims may possibly hereafter be set up by shareholders or successors of the present zemindars. But the Lieutenant-Governor prefers to accept such risk, which he believes to be inconsiderable, and to trust to the good feeling of the zemindars rather than to insist on proceedings which may induce the zemindars to withdraw from their liberal action in the matter.

4. Accordingly, I am to request that in cases where zemindars have given, free of cost, land for relief roads, the full procedure prescribed by the Land Acquisition Act may be foregone. The land occupied should be surveyed and measured in the usual way. The usual file (nuthee) of such survey should be prepared for each such road (or separately for each estate affected if the Board so direct) and filed in the Collectorate Office, with a fully attested copy of the document whereby the zemindar resigns his claim to compensation. Such document should be registered, and all fees for registration and stamps should be borne by Government and debited to the head of "District Road Fund" in the same way as other relief works charges.

No. 47B, dated Fort William, the 26th January 1875.

From—W. H. GRIMLEY, Esq., Offg. Secy. to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces
To—The Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Scarcity and Relief Dept.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of Government order No. 164—S.R., dated 19th instant, and to say that the Commissioners of Bhagulpore, Patna, Rajshahye, Burdwan, and Presidency Divisions have been requested to direct their district officers to act according to the instructions therein given.

2. With reference, however, to the question of possible claim hereafter, Mr. Money suggests the advisability of passing a law limiting the time within which claims may be brought on account of lands taken up for relief purposes.

No. 293—S.R., dated Calcutta, the 1st February 1875.

From—The Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Scarcity and Relief Department,
To—The Secretary to the Board of Revenue.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 47B, dated 26th January, and to say that for the present the Lieutenant-Governor would prefer not to trouble the legislature in the matter of lands taken up or given for famine roads.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor quite recognizes the difficulty and risk which the Member in charge foresees; but His Honor would prefer to trust to the good feeling and liberality of the zemindars, and co-sharers or heirs of zemindars, who have given their land free of charge for relief roads.

GOALUNDO LIFE-BOAT.

CALCUTTA, THE 4TH FEBRUARY 1875.

RESOLUTION.

An endorsement, No. 21, dated the 21st January 1875, with annexures, from the Officiating Commissioner of Dacca, regarding the successful working of the life-boat at Goalundo, during the rainy season of 1874.

THE Lieutenant-Governor has perused the above correspondence with interest.

2. The Goalundo life-boat was procured from England in 1874, and has been maintained at a moderate cost during the year. The boat has rendered excellent service, having been the means of saving 37 lives from drowning.

3. The successful manner in which the life-boat has been worked is mainly due to the interest evinced by Mr. Davies, who was lately Deputy Magistrate of Goalundo, and the Lieutenant-Governor's acknowledgments will be conveyed to that officer.

4. The establishment of the life-boat was sanctioned as an experimental measure for one year, but with reference to the report now made, His Honor is pleased to sanction its continuance for another season. The Government grant of Rs. 300 a year will be continued, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the Eastern Bengal Railway Company will also be able to continue its contribution of Rs. 150, the Goalundo Town Committee contributing as before the remaining Rs. 150 for the maintenance of the boat.

Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Ordered also, that a copy be forwarded to the Agent to the Eastern Bengal Railway Company, the Accountant-General, and the Controller of Military Accounts, and to the Commissioner of Dacca for his own information and for communication to Mr. Davies.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Acting Junior Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

LOSS OF THE STEAMER "MARY GRANT."

RESOLUTION.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.—MARINE No. 394.

Calcutta, the 8th February 1875.

READ—

Letter from the Officiating Master Attendant, No. 5983, dated the 10th September 1874, submitting the proceedings of the Committee appointed to enquire into the loss of the Steamer Mary Grant.

Rules for the Survey of Steam Vessels, prepared in accordance with Section 8, Act V (B.C.) of 1862.

Letter from Officiating Master Attendant, No. 7369, dated 5th November 1874, reporting further on the loss of the Mary Grant.

Letter from Officiating Master Attendant, No. 584, dated 26th January 1875, proposing certain modifications in the rules prepared under Section 8, Act V (B.C.) of 1862.

THE Steamer Mary Grant, which foundered at sea on the 25th August 1874, had been surveyed on the 4th August by the Government Surveyor, and her engines and machinery had been examined on the 6th August by the Chief Engineer of the Dockyard. These officers considered her sound and in good order, and a certificate under Section 4, Act V (B.C.) of 1862, was accordingly granted to her for a period of fifteen days from the 6th August. She was plying between Calcutta and the Orissa ports. She went to sea from Calcutta on the 19th August, when only two days remained of the period covered by her certificate, and she foundered on the return voyage from Orissa to Calcutta, after the term of the certificate had expired. In the Surveyor's report upon the vessel it is stated that she had three boats. But she went to sea with two boats only. It is, however, to be observed, that the loss of life which unfortunately accompanied the loss of the vessel, was not attributable to any deficiency in the number of boats, as the two boats which the ship carried could have contained the crew and the passengers.

2. It appeared to the Lieutenant-Governor that the circumstances which attended the loss of this ship showed the necessity for some revision of the existing rules for regulating the survey of steamers under the Act. It could not, His Honor thought, have been contemplated by the law, that certificates should be granted for such a period as fifteen days. If a vessel is not in a condition which would justify the Surveyor in granting a certificate for three months at least, she is not fit to go to sea at all. The practice of granting certificates for such short periods as fifteen days is also likely to lead to carelessness on the part of surveyors. It also appeared necessary to provide in the rules against a vessel's being allowed to go to sea with a smaller number of boats than she had carried when the Surveyor's certificate was granted to her.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor was also of opinion that explanation was necessary from the Surveyor, who was shown to have given a certificate of soundness to a vessel which foundered three weeks afterwards without having met with any accident, and without having even encountered a gale of wind.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor having considered the recommendations of the Master Attendant, is pleased to direct that the following additions be made to the rules previously issued under Section 8, Act V (B.C.) of 1862.

At the end of the present Rule 13, the following words are to be added:—

"Provided that no certificate shall be granted for a shorter period than three months."

After Rule 13, the following new rule will be introduced, the numbering of the subsequent rules being altered accordingly:—

"14.—The Surveyor shall in all cases specify in the column of remarks of the certificate, the number and capacity of the boats carried by the vessel."

5. It does not appear that any regulations regarding the number of boats to be carried can be framed under Act V (B.C.) of 1862. The Bill now under consideration by the Legislative Council of India, for the amendment of the Native Passengers' Ships' Acts, will enable the Government to issue such orders regarding this as may appear to be proper.

6. The above rule will provide for the case of a vessel attempting to sail with a smaller number of boats than she carried when her certificate was granted. For in that case the certificate would not be a certificate applicable to the voyage upon which the vessel was about to proceed, and consequently under Section 5 of the Act the vessel would be liable to be detained by any Officer of Customs or any Pilot on board.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor has considered the explanation furnished by the Surveyor Mr. J. Cranstoun, who states that he made a careful and complete survey of the vessel, and that she was sound and fit to undertake the voyage when he granted the certificate. Mr. Cranstoun expresses a confident opinion that the hull of the steamer must have come in contact with some other substance than water. The Lieutenant-Governor knows that Mr. Cranstoun has acted as a Marine Surveyor for many years, and that he has the character of a careful, trustworthy, and competent officer. As the evidence in the case throws no light upon the real cause of the foundering of the vessel, the Lieutenant-Governor is willing to accept Mr. Cranstoun's explanation.

ORDERED.—Ordered, that a copy of the Resolution and of its endorsement be forwarded to the Officiating Master Attendant for information and guidance, and for communication to Mr. Cranstoun. Copies of the revised rules under Section 8, Act V (B.C.) of 1862, will be forwarded from this office.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue (Customs Department), for information and for communication to the Collector of Customs.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

H. J. REYNOLDS,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE SALT MARKET FOR THE SECOND QUARTER OF 1874-75.

No. 803B.—Fort William, the 4th December 1874.

From—W. H. GRIMLEY, Esq., Offg. Secy. to the Board of Revenue, L. P.,
To—The Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Department.

A. MONEY, Esq., C.B.

I AM directed by the Member in charge to submit the following report on the state of the salt market for the second quarter of 1874-75, comprising the months of July, August, and September last.

2. The quantity of salt consumed (i.e., the quantity of total clearances of salt of all descriptions) in the quarter under report amounted to maunds 24,73,224-24-1, against 17,83,280¾ maunds in the previous quarter and 25,79,340 maunds in the corresponding quarter of the previous year; and the total amount of duty levied was Rs. 79,50,045-8-3, against Rs. 57,40,320-9 and Rs. 83,82,855 in the previous and corresponding quarters respectively.

3. The quantity of excise salt sold in Cuttack, Balasore, Pooree, and the 24-Pergunnahs during the present quarter from the stock of the different seasons, and the quantity which remained in store at the close of the quarter, are shewn in the following Table I :—

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON VACCINATION IN BENGAL FOR 1873-74.

RESOLUTION.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Calcutta, the 9th February 1875.

READ—

The Surgeon-General's report on vaccination in the Lower Provinces for the year 1873-74.

THE Lieutenant-Governor observes with pleasure the unabated success which, during the past year, has attended the efforts of the Medical Department to extend vaccination among the people of these provinces. The total number of operations performed was 791,634, against 687,406 in 1872-73; this number is still far short of the requirements of these provinces, being little more than one-third of what is accepted as their birth-rate. Still it is satisfactory as indicating considerable progress compared with the previous year. Of the net increase of 104,228 cases, about one-third is attributable to the extension of dispensary practice, and the rest to the labours of the special establishments entertained at Government expense. Besides these, in many districts there were independent vaccinators and ex-inoculators at work, from all of whom returns have not been received. Increased attention has been given by civil surgeons to vaccination with the satisfactory result of an increase in the number of inoculators who have engaged to practice the art, and further efforts on their part in this direction are desirable.

2. An examination of the figures submitted with the present report shows that there was a decrease of 8,642 in the number of operations performed in the course of the year in the Darjeeling circle, against an increase of 82,718 cases in the five remaining circles. The large number of emigrants who were vaccinated on passing through Calcutta have swelled the returns of that circle. Operations were most successfully carried on in the Metropolitan circles, where a large area has been effectually protected from small-pox. Considerable energy has been shown in pushing on the work in the Eastern Bengal circle, and credit is due to the Superintendent for the large increase in the number of operations performed by his staff. In the Sonthal Pergunnahs, where there were repeated outbreaks of small-pox in the course of the year, strenuous attempts were made, with some success, to induce the people to be vaccinated. Operations were carried on in selected thanas of all the districts of the Darjeeling circle. The decrease in the outturn of work is ascribed to the opposition encountered in certain parts where inoculators had excited the prejudices of the people, and to some of the ground gone over having been that protected in a previous year. The great extent of this circle, and the absence of good roads increase the difficulties of inspection, and the vaccinators are consequently less easily kept up to their work.

3. Out of 766,297 primary cases, 711,333, or 92·99 per cent., were successful; and out of 25,337 re-vaccinations, 5,716, or 22·79 per cent., were successful. These figures would seem to show that, compared with the previous year, there had been some decline in the success attending primary operations; the result is rather, however, to be attributed to an increase in the care with which dispensary work has been checked and supervised.

4. The amount of inspection work performed by the Superintendents of the various circles was satisfactory. The number of cases personally examined and verified with the registers was no less than 47,165 in the Metropolitan circle, 29,754 in the Darjeeling circle, and 21,269 in the Dacca circle. In the Ranchee circle the number was comparatively small, but the Superintendent appears to have moved freely about the country and to have been careful in the supervision of his work. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that complaints are made of the inferiority of dispensary practice, and of the difficulty with which vaccinators who have engaged in it are induced to adopt correct methods. The returns furnished disclose great variations in the number of operations performed at the various dispensaries, and there seems to be little doubt that some of the vaccinators entertained there are inefficient. It is of the first importance that their work should be strictly supervised, more especially in the municipalities where inoculation is prohibited by law; and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the matter will have the continued attention of the Medical Department. He would wish that in future reports a statement should be given of the amount of the work, personally examined and verified by the civil surgeon, similar to that rendered in the case of the circle superintendents.

5. Judged by the number of operations performed on an average by each vaccinator, there has been, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice, an improvement in the efficiency of the establishments entertained. The work performed in the Metropolitan circle and in the Sonthal Pergunnahs, which amounted on an average to 3,031 and 2,506 cases respectively, was particularly satisfactory. In the Darjeeling and Eastern Bengal circles some difficulty has been experienced in bringing up the staff of vaccinators to the full sanctioned number. In Julpigoree and the Hill Tracts of Darjeeling it is with difficulty that men are got to serve at all; but the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that Dr. Lidderdale will not relax his efforts to obtain recruits from among the resident population—a measure the importance of which he fully recognises. There was considerable sickness and there were also some deaths among the staff employed in the Eastern Bengal circle; and, under the circumstances, much credit is due to the Superintendent for the amount of work overtaken and for the success of the operations performed. In the Ranchee circle the apprentices attached to the various parties of vaccinators are reported to have laboured creditably, and the Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared to entertain favourably a proposal, if separately submitted, to give them a subsistence allowance in accordance with the Surgeon-General's recommendation.

6. The total cost of vaccine operations, as exhibited in the statement appended to the present report, was Rs. 98,207, or Rs. 6,104 more than in the previous year. Of the whole amount, Rs. 9,897 only was paid from local funds or other sources, the rest being a charge on the State. The average cost of each successful operation was two annas, or nearly half an anna less than in the previous year. This result the Lieutenant-Governor considers satisfactory, and he trusts that in future years an increased outturn of work will still more diminish the average cost in Ranchee, and especially in Calcutta, where it is still abnormally high.

7. It is impossible that Government should provide vaccination for the whole of the people of these provinces, or even maintain permanently large establishments in any of them; and the Lieutenant-Governor therefore watches with interest the efforts which are made to introduce a self-supporting system in certain districts. In Bankoora, Midnapore, Sonthal Pergunnahs, Gowhatty, and the districts of the Chota Nagpore, Patna, and Bhagulpore divisions, a considerable number of inoculators have been induced to change their practice and undergo instruction in vaccination. These results are creditable to the civil surgeons of these districts, who will doubtless continue to interest themselves in the matter. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that other civil surgeons will make similar efforts and will thereby obtain a similar success. So long as the ex-inoculators are under instruction, it may be necessary or advisable to give them a subsistence allowance, and the Lieutenant-Governor will receive favourably proposals to this effect. Once trained, however, they must distinctly understand that it is to their own exertions that they must look for support, though in special cases the Lieutenant-Governor will not be unwilling to grant a bonus to deserving men who have exerted themselves successfully and whose work has been inspected and approved. It is important that whatever funds are available should be devoted to organizing an efficient system of inspection and control over the work performed by these men. The experience of successive years has demonstrated the danger of giving them the support of Government without any security against misconduct on their part. The present reports contain more than one instance where the work of the staff of Government vaccinators has been discredited, and where obstacles have been thrown in their way by the irresponsible action of ex-inoculators whose proceedings have been uncontrolled.

8. In Bankoora, where Dr. Conolly has interested himself very successfully in the cause of vaccination, the Lieutenant-Governor has accordingly sanctioned a special establishment to supervise the inoculators whom he has trained, and, should the system be successful, the Lieutenant-Governor will be glad to extend it to other districts. It is particularly desirable that the Civil Surgeon of Beerbhoom should persevere in his endeavours to utilize the ex-inoculators whom he has already engaged in vaccination. In Midnapore operations were much interfered with by the epidemic of fever, which prevailed throughout the season, indisposing the people to vaccination and crippling the staff at the disposal of the Civil Surgeon, whose attention was necessarily much diverted to the establishment of endemic dispensaries. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that in the current season more progress will be possible, and that a fair start will be given to a system which promises to be self-supporting.

9. During the year under report, small-pox was more than usually prevalent in all the circles except the Darjeeling one. It was present in Calcutta throughout the year, and appeared also in the 24-Pergunnahs and Burdwan. It was particularly severe in Bankoora, Beerbhoom, and the Sonthal Pergunnahs. It was also epidemic in Hazareebagh and Lohardugga. Full advantage was taken of the circumstance to push forward operations, the people accepting vaccination the more readily when danger is at hand. Vaccinators detached from the metropolitan staff protected nearly 10,000 persons in Beerbhoom. In Bankoora more than twice that number were protected owing to the good arrangements made by the civil medical officer. In the Sonthal Pergunnahs the staff of vaccinators at the disposal of the Deputy Superintendent was found to be quite insufficient. It has now been reinforced by the transfer of vaccinators from the Metropolitan circle, and will now, it is expected, fully meet the requirements of the Pergunnahs

10. The results of the vaccine census, submitted with the present report, shew that vaccination is making steady progress among the juvenile population. The Lieutenant-Governor has read, with interest, Dr. Charles' remarks on the degree of protection from small-pox which has been afforded to Calcutta in the past season by vaccination.

11. The fact that in several instances outbreaks of small-pox in districts to which Act IV (B.C.) of 1865 has been extended were traced to the proceedings of inoculators should render magistrates sensible of the necessity which exists for a strict enforcement of the law. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that the Surgeon is of opinion that a clear case has been made out for the extension of the Act to Bogra and Dacca, and he will be ready to entertain proposals to this effect on their separate submission. The Act has, since the close of the year, been introduced into certain thanas of Jessore, and arrangements for extending it to the Sonthal Pergunnahs are being made.

12. In conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor thanks Dr. Campbell Brown and his subordinate officers, for the efforts they have made to promote the work of the department.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

RIVERS THOMPSON,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

BENGAL.—(Contd.)
	Eastern Districts.
Dacca Divn. 18	Dacca, 8th* Feb. 1875	Nil	Seasonable weather; clouds hanging over. State of crops very good
Dacca Divn. 19	Fureedpore, 6th Feb. 1875.	0·01	Cloudy on 31st January, when a few drops of rain fell; rest of the week clear and sunny, Cold-weather crops doing well everywhere. Price of coarse rice has fallen slightly at Goalundo; it has risen at Gopalgunge, owing to large purchases being made by exporters, but at Fureedpore, Madareepore, and Bhanga prices continue the same as last week. General health of the district good.
Dacca Divn. 20	Backergunge, 4th Feb. 1875.	Nil	Cold and pleasant weather. State and prospects of crops good.
Dacca Divn. 21	Mymensingh, 5th Feb. 1875.	Nil	Days getting warmer. Prospects of crops favorable.
Chittagong Divn. 22	Chittagong, 4th Feb. 1875	Nil	Cold in the early portion of the week; afterwards warmer. State and prospects of crops good.
Chittagong Divn. 23	Noakholly, 4th Feb. 1875.	Nil	Weather fair, except the night of the 31st January, which was slightly cloudy. The reaping of the late rice crop has been completed, and the produce has been on an average about 12 annas, being in excess by two annas of last year's crop. The constant cloudy weather and rains of late have slightly damaged some of the cold-weather crops.
Chittagong Divn. 24	Tipperah, 5th Feb. 1875	·02	A little rain is reported from most thanas The miscellaneous crops are being reaped, and the outturn is fair.
Chittagong Divn. 25	Chittagong Hill Tracts, 2nd Feb 1875	Nil	Nights and mornings foggy; cloudy on the 31st January. The prospects of the mustard, chillies, and tobacco crops are good. There is no other crop on the ground.
Chittagong Divn.	Hill Tipperah	.....	Return not received.
BEHAR.
Patna Divn. 26	Patna, 8th* Feb. 1875	·11	Weather cloudy and occasional rain. Rice crop all reaped, and prospects of the cold-weather crops are at present excellent, but cloudy weather bringing blight; poppy beginning to suffer. Health good.
Patna Divn. 27	Gya, 6th „ „	·68	Seasonable weather; some rain has fallen. The prospects of the cold-weather crops continue excellent. Health of the people good.
Patna Divn. 28	Shahabad, 6th „ „	0·37	Rain fell on the night of the 30th January and on the 5th February; weather clear; wind variable. Prospects of the crops excellent; the late rains have done much good. Damage from hailstone very slight.
Patna Divn. 29	East Tirhoot, 6th „ „	Nil	Pleasant weather. Prospects of crops favorable.
Patna Divn. 30	West Tirhoot, 6th Feb. 1875.	0·16	Some rain has fallen; weather fair afterwards. The prospects of the cold-weather crops continue good. Public health good.
Patna Divn. 31	Sarun, 6th Feb. 1875	·34	Weather cloudy and clear alternately; east wind prevailing. A little rain on the 30th January and on the 4th and 5th February. The prospects of the cold-weather crops are generally favorable. Wheat, barley, rahur pulse, and peas are doing well. Poppy beginning to flower. Mustard is being gathered. The late rain has on the whole benefited the crops, but very slight injury to rahar, peas, and barley from frost and blight has been reported within the jurisdiction of Banaspore out-post, of thana Mushruck, in the Sudder Sub-division, and thanas Baragaon, Darowlee, and Sewan, in the Sewan Sub-division. Indigo fields are ready for sowing. Prices (common rice and wheat excepted) stationary. General health good.
Patna Divn. 32	Chumparun, 5th „ „	·22	Weather cloudy and cold, with easterly wind and showers. Crops excellent and improved, if possible, by recent rain. Opium magnificent. Indigo prospects good.
Bhagulpore Divn. 33	Monghyr, 6th „ „	0·39	Slight rain followed by intense cold. State and prospects of crops excellent.
Bhagulpore Divn. 34	Bhagulpore, 8th* „ „	·13	Rain on the night of the 6th February, and sky very cloudy up to the time of report. The cold-weather crops throughout the district, unless damaged by hail or too much rain before ripening, must be bumper ones—full 16 annas. General health very good.
Bhagulpore Divn. 35	Purneah, 6th „ „	0·07	Slight rain fell. Weather warmer during the last two days. State and prospects of crops, as before reported, are very good.
Bhagulpore Divn. 36	Sonthal Pergunnahs, 6th Feb. 1875.	·59	Some rain has fallen. Weather variable. In some places cool and fine; in others cloudy and warm with threatening rain. State and prospects of crops are very good.

ORISSA
Orissa Division 37	Cuttack, 30th Jan. 1875	·88	Rain has fallen; weather cold and cloudy; more rain is expected. Cold-weather crops coming on vigorously; harvest of earlier kinds has begun.
Orissa Division 38	Pooree, 4th Feb. „	·15	There was a slight shower of rain on the 31st January, afterwards weather fair and cold. The harvesting of the main rice (Sarud), is nearly completed and the outturn is comparatively inferior to that of last year. Pulses are generally indifferent; Berrhi, black moog, and arahur pulses continue to be gathered. White moong pulse is growing well. Koolthee pulse is ripening. Mustard and castor seed are being gathered. Sugarcane continue to be gathered with a good outturn Dalua or spring rice plants are thriving well, having been benefited by the late rain. Mango blossom seriously injured by the late fall of rain.
Orissa Division 39	Balasore, 5th „ „	1·43	Sky dark and threatening on the 30th January. Rain with gusts of wind on the night of the 30th and on the 31st; afterwards fine weather. All crops off the grounds except a few pulses, &c., on banks of large rivers. Cholera reported from tract affected by cyclone of the 15th October last.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
40	Hazareebagh, 5th Feb. 1875.	0 84	Much rain all over the district at the early part of the week, but afterwards fine. The crops are excellent. The sergooja and sursow (oil-seeds) have been reaped, and have yielded abundantly; wheat, arhur pulse, and opium are progressing well. At 8-45 P M. on Thursday, a violent shock of earthquake was felt, which seemed to proceed from east to west. It was accompanied by noise resembling distant thunder.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

PENSIONS AND GRATUITIES.

Fort William, the 15th January 1875.

Resolution.—There is reason to believe that an impression exists that an officer who submits an application for invalid pension must be immediately removed from the service.

2. The Governor-General in Council deems it necessary to point out that Rule I, under Section 52 of the Civil Pension Code, does not require the removal of such an officer until a medical certificate is submitted.

ORDERED, that this Resolution be distributed for information and guidance as follows:—

To the several Departments of the Government of India.

To the several local Governments and Administrations.

To the Comptroller-General, and to the several Accountants-General and Deputy Accountants-General in independent charge.

To the several Chiefs of Departments administered by the Government of India in the Financial Department.

No. 550P.—Fort William, the 15th February 1875.—Notification.—Political.—The following instructions, issued to the Commission appointed to investigate the charges against His Highness Mulhar Rao Gaekwar of Baroda, are published for general information:—

To

The Honourable Sir Richard Couch, Knight, Bachelor, and Chief Justice of Her Majesty's High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal;

His Highness Mookhtar-ool-Moolk, Azeem-ool-Iktidar, Rufi-oos-Shan, Wala Shikoh, Mohtashim-i-Douran, Oomdut-ool-Oomrah, Maharaja Dheeraj, Alijah Maharaja Jeeajee Rao Sindiah Bahadoor, Sreenath, Munsoor-i-Zaman, Fidvee-i-Huzrut Malikah-i-Moouzuma, Rafi-ood-Durjeh-i-Inglistan, Maharaja of Gwalior, Knight Grand Commander of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India;

His Highness Siramad-i-Rajahan-i-Hindoostan, Raj Rajender Sree Maharaja Dheeraj Sewaee Ram Sing Bahadoor, Maharaja of Jeypoor, Knight Grand Commander of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India;

Colonel Sir Richard John Meade, Knight Commander of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, and Chief Commissioner of Mysore and Coorg;

Raja Sir Dinkur Rao, Knight Commander of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India; and Phillip Sandys Melville Esquire, of the Bengal Civil Service, and a Commissioner in the Punjab.

WHEREAS an attempt has been made at Baroda to poison Colonel R. Phayre, C.B., the late British Resident at the Court of His Highness Mulhar Rao Gaekwar; AND WHEREAS the following offences are imputed against the said Mulhar Rao Gaekwar, that is to say:—

I.—That the said Mulhar Rao Gaekwar did by his agents and in person hold secret communications for improper purposes with some of the servants employed by Colonel Phayre, the Resident at Baroda, or attached to the Residency;

II.—That the said Mulhar Rao Gaekwar gave bribes to some of those servants, or caused such bribes to be given;

III.—That his purposes in holding such communications and giving such bribes were to use the said servants as spies upon Colonel Phayre, and thereby improperly to obtain information of secrets, and to cause injury to Colonel Phayre, or to remove him by means of poison;

IV.—That in fact an attempt to poison Colonel Phayre was made by persons instigated thereto by the said Mulhar Rao Gaekwar;

AND WHEREAS the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council has temporarily assumed the administration of the Baroda State for the purpose of instituting a public inquiry into the truth of the said imputations, and of affording His Highness Mulhar Rao Gaekwar an opportunity of freeing himself from the grave suspicion which attaches to him:

THEREFORE the Viceroy and Governor-General of India in Council appoints you the said Sir Richard Couch, you the said Maharajah of Gwalior, you the said Mayarajah of Jeypoor, you the said Sir Richard John Meade, you the said Sir Dinkur Rao, and you the said Phillip Sandys Melville, Esquire, to be Commissioners for the purpose of enquiring into the truth of the said imputations and of reporting to the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council how far the same are true to the best of your judgment and belief. And the said Viceroy and Governor-General in Council appoints you the said Sir Richard Couch to be the President of this Commission, with full power to appoint times and places of meeting, to adjourn meetings, to adjust and arrange the method of procedure, to settle the course which the enquiry shall take, to call for and to receive or reject evidence, documentary or otherwise, to hear such persons as you shall think fit on behalf either of the Viceroy and Governor-General of India in Council or of His Highness Mulhar Rao Gaekwar, and generally to guide the whole course of the proceedings of this Commission as from time to time shall appear to you to be proper for the purpose thereof.

AND WHEREAS certain other matters of importance pending between the British Government and His Highness Mulhar Rao Gaekwar were enquired into and reported upon by a Commission appointed by the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council by orders dated 23rd October 1873; AND WHEREAS the enquiry which you are appointed to make is not connected with such matters: for the better understanding of your functions, the said Viceroy and Governor-General in Council hereby declares his desire that you shall not extend your enquiry to other matters than the offences imputed to His Highness Mulhar Rao Gaekwar as aforesaid, and that you shall not permit any such other matters to be submitted to you for consideration or enquiry.

And the said Viceroy and Governor-General in Council desires that, in the event of any of your number being prevented by sickness or other cause from taking his place as Commissioner, or from remaining as Commissioner till the conclusion of your enquiry, you the other Commissioners shall nevertheless conduct and complete your enquiry in the same way as if the number of Commissioners present or remaining were the whole number appointed hereby.

And the said Viceroy and Governor-General in Council hereby appoints John Jardine, Esquire, of the Bombay Civil Service, to be your Secretary.

By Order of the Viceroy and Governor-General of India in Council.

By order of the Member in charge,

W. H. GRIMLEY, Offg. Secretary.

BOARD OF REVENUE, L. P., FORT WILLIAM, the 26th January 1875.

NOTICE.

SEALED tenders are hereby invited for the supply of coal pitch and iron clamps, required for the opium chests of the Behar Agency of the season 1874-75.

Tenders will be received in the office of the Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, up to noon of the 23rd February. All particulars as to time and place of delivery, as well as the quantity, description, and quality of the articles, being obtainable by personal application at the said office.

The party or parties whose tenders may be accepted will be required to enter into an engagement, and, as security for its fulfilment, to deposit with the Board such amount as the Member-in-Charge may think proper to demand.

The Member reserves to himself the right of rejecting any tender without assigning any reason for doing so.

By order of the Member-in-Charge,

W. H. GRIMLEY, Offg. Secretary.

BOARD OF REVENUE, L. P., FORT WILLIAM, the 8th February 1875.

The Calcutta Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1875.

PART II.

Advertisements.

[N.B.—Advertisements, Notices, &c., intended for insertion in this part of the Gazette cannot be received after Noon on Monday.]

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of land, no longer required by the Government, situated in the district of Bhagulpore, S. P., will be put up to sale at the Assistant Commissioner's Cutcherry at Rajmehal, at 11 o'clock A.M., on Monday, the 15th March 1875, corresponding with 2nd Choitro 1281, B.S.

The purchasers of these plots will be subject to the following conditions :—

1*st*.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

2*nd*.—If the amount of purchase-money exceeds Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

3*rd*.—The plots will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.

4*th*.—The purchasers shall be put in possession on receipt of the orders of the Collector confirming the sales. But such possession shall be liable to be disturbed in case the final sanction of the Member of the Board of Revenue in charge should not be accorded to the proceedings.

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholar-like knowlege of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

INSPECTION OF STEAM-BOILERS AND PRIME MOVERS.

The Hon'ble Mr. Hogg moved that the Bill to amend Bengal Act No. VI of 1864 be read in Council. When he asked permission to introduce this Bill, he brought to the notice of the Council that the use of machinery being greatly on the increase in Calcutta, it seemed desirable to frame regulations by which some control should be had over persons who were placed in charge of the boilers and prime movers; more especially as upon inquiry it was found that the machinery belonging to the poorer classes were constantly placed in charge of persons who had no practical knowledge of the working of boilers or engines. If the Council would refer to Section 6 of Act VI of 1864, passed by this Council, they would see that there were certain conditions under which the Lieutenant-Governor or any person authorized by him in that behalf might revoke any certificate granted for the working of a boiler. The way MR. HOGG proposed to deal with the subject before the Council was to repeal the whole of Section 6 of Act VI of 1864, and to re-enact it with the addition of a clause providing that the Lieutenant-Governor, or any person authorized by him, might, in addition to the conditions stated in that section, revoke a certificate when it was found that a boiler or prime mover was not in charge of a person competent to have charge of the same. MR. HOGG had treated the subject in that manner because he found that in many cases the persons placed in charge were illiterate men; and it therefore seemed difficult to impose upon them any sort of examination previously to their being placed in charge, whereby the inspecting officer would be able to ascertain their qualifications and issue certificates The plan he proposed seemed to be the simplest one that could be followed, and would, he believed, effect the object in view.

THE HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said he wished to preface the few remarks which he had to offer on this Bill with an observation, which he trusted the Council would receive with indulgence. He was a new-comer to this assembly, and was not familiar with its practice and procedure. But he believed he was correct when he said that in all deliberative bodies it was usual to circulate, previous to discussion, the papers relating to subjects on which projects of legislation were based. It was indeed most inconvenient to discuss the merits of a measure without knowing the reasons upon which it was founded; the circumstances which might have led to its inception; and the history of the different stages through which it had passed before it had obtained the maturity of a draft Bill. With reference to the subject-matter of the present Bill, he was sorry to observe that, beyond the half-a-dozen lines in the shape of Statement of objects and reasons from the hon'ble mover, the Council had not a scrap of paper before it to show whether there existed any necessity for the measure or not. He believed that if such a measure were introduced in the English Parliament, the evidence of experts would have been taken before any decisive action would have been adopted. The executive Government, if he was rightly informed, had practically followed that course by inviting opinions from competent persons on the subject; but these opinions had not been laid before the Council, though it had been asked to pass the Bill. The Council was utterly in the dark as to whether, in the opinion of the persons consulted, there was good and valid reason for a measure of this kind. In another capacity he happened to come into possession of the papers on the subject; and from those papers it appeared that in 1873 the Government appointed a Commission to inquire into the working of the Steam-Boilers' Act in the town and the suburbs. Mr. Horace Cockerell, who was President of that Commission, stated that—

"In flour and soorkey-mills worked by native proprietors, common coolies, entirely unacquainted with the working of the steam-engine, are placed in charge of the machinery; that the mills are frequently kept working day and night without a change of men, and that the practice of working mills at night is greatly on the increase."

He was also of opinion that—

"The supervision over steam-boilers in the town and suburbs cannot be considered complete and effectual unless we take measures to ensure that the working of the machinery is placed in the hands of competent persons."

He believed from that report originated the present measure. But from inquiries which he had been able to make, he found—and he believed the hon'ble mover of the Bill would bear him out in the statement—that in boilers worked by natives there had not occurred a single accident. Some of those boilers had been worked for about twenty years or more; and however ignorant the men employed might be of the general principles of science, they were experienced in their work. He did not deny that in the abstract it was desirable to employ men well versed in the principles of science and in the theory of conducting machinery; but when we got practical men, experienced in their business, he thought it was quite sufficient for all practical purposes: and the best proof of the efficiency of these men was that there had been no accidents. A few accidents, it was true, had occurred with machinery in Calcutta and the suburbs; but in those cases the boilers and prime movers were under the superintendence of European gentlemen or workmen. The natives of the country were just beginning to learn the use and advantage of the means and appliances placed at their disposal by Western science; and this, he submitted, was not the moment to fetter or clog their efforts by restriction or repressive legislation. The Government ought rather to encourage, consistently with public safety, the use of steam power in the manufactures of the country. It ought to take a broad view of its own position and of the duty it owed to the people. Holding that view, and remembering that there had been so few accidents, and that self-interest was a sufficiently powerful motive to keep the men engaged in the work on their guard, he thought the Bill might not improperly be called a piece of unnecessary legislation.

The present Bill was practically, as had been stated by the hon'ble mover, a re-enactment of Section 6 of Act VI of 1864. The only clause added was that a certificate might be revoked if the boiler or the prime mover was not "in charge of a person competent to have charge of the same." He must confess that the hon'ble mover had drawn up that provision with very great care. He had not followed the recommendation contained in the report of Mr. Horace Cockerell, who suggested that only certificated men should be permitted to be employed. If that suggestion had been carried out, a particular class of men would have a monopoly, and the result would be a considerable rise in the wages of the men employed to manage steam-engines. Now, hon'ble members were no doubt aware that success in the employment of steam power in Indian manufactures was chiefly dependent upon economic management; and if the wages of the men employed by the masters to conduct the machinery were inordinately high, the result would be that most of the soorkey-mills would have to be closed. Surely, the Government did not contemplate such an untoward result. BABOO KRISTODAS PAL was therefore of opinion that the hon'ble mover had shown much consideration in framing this provision; but it appeared to him that the provision in question was open to other objections. It left it entirely to the discretion of the Inspector to declare a man competent or incompetent: in fact it threw great responsibility upon the executive officer. He did not think that this wide discretion should be left to the executive officer, particularly when there was no necessity for the measure. He thought that the general penal law of the country was quite sufficient to meet the object aimed at by the Bill. If the Council would refer to Section 287 of the Penal Code, they would find that the present law was amply sufficient. That section provided as follows:—

"Whoever does, with any machinery, any act so rashly or negligently as to endanger human life, or to be likely to cause hurt or injury to any other person, or knowingly or negligently omits to take such order with any machinery in his possession or under his care as is sufficient to guard against any probable danger to human life from such machinery, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both."

Now, he submitted that the Penal Code sufficiently met the cases contemplated by the Bill. He believed that about two or three years ago a case was tried by the Bombay High Court under that section, and the party concerned was punished: so when the general penal law of the country was sufficient to meet the requirements of the public, he did not think there existed any necessity for a measure of this kind.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said he had been prepared to suggest, for the consideration of the Select Committee, if the Bill should be referred to a Committee, an objection which the hon'ble member who had last spoken had just mentioned, but had himself answered, that it was leaving too much to the discretion of the Government to provide merely that the certificate should be withdrawn if the man found in charge of the engine was not competent to manage it. The Bill gave no definition of competency. It had occurred to MR. DAMPIER that it would be better to have some definition, and that the natural means of defining the degree of competency would be by requiring a certificate to be taken out. He should have made the suggestion in the interest of the owners of machinery; but if, as appeared from the speech of the hon'ble member who spoke last, such a provision would not be agreeable or palatable to them, there would be no reason for pressing it further.

The Hon'ble Mr. Hogg said that the hon'ble member on his left (Baboo Kristodas Pal) was correct in saying that the action of the Government was taken on the report of Mr. Horace Cockerell, who brought to the notice of the Government that boilers and prime movers in the town were, as a rule, placed in charge of persons utterly unqualified to take charge of them. As that report was based on statements made by a very experienced officer, Mr. Walker, who was for a long time the Inspector of Boilers in the town, the Government addressed the Locomotive Superintendents of the East Indian Railway and the Eastern Bengal Railway, the Trades' Association, the Chamber of Commerce, and other public bodies, and some private individuals who had special knowledge on the subject.

All those public bodies and gentlemen were strongly in favour of Mr. Cockerell's proposal being adopted by the Government. Some native gentlemen were also consulted, but they were against the measure. There was, then, a concurrence of opinion of all the European gentlemen best qualified to take an impartial view of the matter, and they advised the Government in favour of having some supervision over those who might be entrusted with the working of steam-boilers. On the other hand, the only persons who were averse to the proposal, were a few native gentlemen, who had not the same means or opportunity of arriving at a fair conclusion as those who supported the Government. He was certainly unable to agree with his hon'ble friend that it would be wise to await the occurrence of an accident before taking any action in the matter. The Bill as framed was intended to obviate as far as possible any inconvenience upon the proprietors of machinery. He quite agreed that it would be a very great inconvenience if an Act were passed compelling the persons placed in charge of steam-boilers to submit to an examination and obtain certificates. It would be difficult to test their qualifications, and we should have to fall back on the employers and ask them how far their men were qualified. He was certain that it was not the intention of the Government to work the Bill in a harsh manner, and the only object sought was to guard against boilers being left in charge of incompetent persons.

The motion was then agreed to, and the Bill referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier, the Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal, and the mover.

REALIZATION OF GOVERNMENT ADVANCES.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill for the summary realization of loans of money and grain due to Government be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill. He had the honor to present the Report of the Select Committee with some remarks at the last meeting of the Council.

The Hon'ble Baboo Kristodas Pal moved the amendments of which he had given notice, and which were as follows:—

In clause 1, for lines twelve, thirteen, fourteen, and fifteen, read the following:—

"And whenever any arrear of such demand shall remain unpaid, the Collector or other officer to whom such demand is payable shall give to the Moonsif, within whose jurisdiction such demand is payable, a notice in writing in the form in Schedule (B) annexed to the said Act, and such Moonsif shall make under his hand a certificate of the amount of such arrear so remaining unpaid in a form similar to that in Schedule (A) annexed to the said Act, and shall cause the same to be filed in his office, and every certificate so made shall be deemed to be a certificate made in pursuance of section nineteen of the said Act."

Omit the last paragraph.

In clause 2, lines twelve and thirteen, for "Collector of the District in which," read "Munsif within whose jurisdiction." In line seventeen, for "the Collector," read "such Munsif"

Omit the last paragraph.

After clause two, insert three fresh clauses, as follows:—

"For the purposes of this Act, the Munsif, as mentioned in the two last preceding sections, shall have the same and the like powers and duties as are given to, and imposed on, the Collector by sections twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-six, twenty-seven, and twenty-eight of the said Bengal Act No. VII of 1868."

"Any Munsif making a certificate in accordance with sections one and two of this Act, may, in his discretion, order in such certificate that the amount payable be paid by instalments."

"Every order made by a Munsif in accordance with the provisions of this Act shall be final."

He believed there was no one in or out of this Council who could take the slightest exception to the objects of this Bill. The Government came forward most nobly to help the ryots at a time when they were threatened with starvation and death, and when assistance to them was not available from any other quarter. The debt which the ryots owed to Government he might say was a sacred one; and he was glad to find, from the reports which had been received from the district officers, that they did not apprehend the slightest difficulty in realizing it. In fact, it appeared from some of the papers that portions of the loans had already been recovered in some districts. The question before the Council was whether, if any suits should arise in connection with these loans, the procedure for the trial of these suits should be that which was laid down by Act VII of 1868, or any other procedure equally or still more summary. Now, with regard to the summary character of the procedure, he believed that there was no difference of opinion. The Select Committee were agreed on that point. They were unanimous that the procedure should be sharp and summary. The question simply was whether the Collector or the Munsif should be the trier of the suits. It was BABOO KRISTODAS PAL'S misfortune to differ from his colleagues in Committee upon the last point. The majority of the Committee were of opinion that the Collector would be the proper person to try the suits. He, however, felt that the regularly constituted tribunals of the country would be the proper courts for the trial of these suits. He believed the Council would admit that the Collector was in one sense an interested party in this matter. It was true that his own pockets would not suffer whether the cases ended one way or another; but his reputation was pledged as it were to the recovery of the loan, and it would therefore be individually his interest to see that every pice was recovered without loss. He did not for one moment believe that any intentional or conscious injustice would be committed; but there was in the Collector what the hon'ble member opposite (Mr Dampier) called the other day, a departmental bias. There might be that departmental bias in the revenue officers which might lead them to overlook the interests of the other parties involved in the case. The Munsif, on the other hand, would be free from that bias; he would be an independent officer, and his judgment would not be open to that charge which might not without reason be taken against that of the Collector. He believed the Council would agree with him that there might arise questions of fact and law in connection with these advances which would require trained judicial experience for their solution; and it could not be pretended that the revenue officers possessed superior qualifications in that respect compared to the judiciary. When the Munsif was trusted in cases between private parties, he did not think it would be just to show any distrust in them when the Government became a party. The Government in other cases trusted the Munsif in suits in which it was interested; why then should suits coming under this Bill be taken out of his jurisdiction? What would be the moral effect on the public mind of such distrust in the Munsif on the part of the Government? Besides, it needs be borne in mind that the suits covered by this Bill were in the nature of money demands; and when such suits arose between private individuals, they were told to go to the Small Cause Court or to the Munsif's Court. If, then, the Government happened to be an interested party in a case of that kind, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL did not see why a different agency should be resorted to for the trial of the suit. It was true that the Government employed a special agency for the trial of cases in the nature of arrears of demand; but it could not be desirable to broaden this invidious distinction in all cases. In fact there ought to be as little distinction as possible between the Government and private parties in the trial of suits. The Government, as the employer of the judicial agency, ought to show its confidence by entrusting the trial of suits in which it might be interested to the ordinary tribunals of the country.

There were also other weighty reasons why the revenue officers should not be entrusted with the trial of these suits. From some of the papers before him, he found that already doubts were entertained by some officers as to whether it would be always easy to identify the parties who took advances in such cases in which they might deny having received the advances. For instance, he found from the report of the Collector of Bhagulpore that Mr. Kirkwood, the Relief Officer, said that "of course in many cases the parties must have only made their mark, and the only difficulty would be if they denied their identity and urged false personation on the part of some one else, it would be impossible for any one to identify each man to whom the order was given." Then the report of the Collector of Monghyr went further, and even proposed to throw the onus of proof from off the shoulders of the plaintiff to those of the defendant. Mr. Campbell, the Sub-divisional Officer in Monghyr, said on this point: —

"In the Bill now before the Council, it should be well to insert a section throwing the onus of proof on the person repudiating his identity and asserting personation or fraudulent entry of his name in a bond."

Now, with these opinions entertained by the revenue officers, it might be easily imagined whether ryot defendants would receive fair play; whether they might not be called upon to prove a negative in defiance of the recognized principles of civilized law. Then how were the advances made? They were made by golahdars, relief officers, sub-deputies, et hoc genus omne.

There might have been many abuses. When the villagers in their collective capacity took the advances, some of the ryots might not have received the full quantity entered against their names—some might not have received any at all. Then persons holding in common tenancy might not have shared alike. There might be many questions in connection with these advances which it was very desirable should be carefully sifted by a properly qualified judicial agency. It might be said that the trial by a judicial court would be dilatory and tedious, and might defeat the objects for which the Bill was introduced. He denied that. He did not propose that these suits should be tried under the Civil Procedure Code. He simply suggested that the certificate procedure laid down in Act VII of 1868 should be followed, with this modification that in lieu of the Collector the Munsif should be inserted. If experienced Munsifs were appointed to try the cases, they would be able without much difficulty to sift their real nature and merits and decide satisfactorily. He did not think the interests of the Government would suffer in the least by transferring the jurisdiction in these cases from the revenue officer to the Munsif. On the other hand, he might observe that if his proposal were adopted, the procedure would be still more summary than that contained in Act VII of 1868. That Act, as the Council were aware, allowed an appeal from the decision of the Collector to the Commissioner, whereas he proposed that the judgment of the Munif should be final. Thus the primary object of the Bill would be attained if the proposed procedure were adopted.

The next question was as to the time for the repayment of the loans. None was better aware than His Honor the President of the condition of the ryots at the time when they took the advances: they had gathered no crops from the field; they had sold all they had at home to keep their body and soul together; they were on the brink of starvation, and then came in the Government, like the good Samaritan, to give them money and food when they hungered and water when they were thirsty. That was a most noble act of humanity. But should not the same generous consideration which was shown to the ryots in their distress be shown to them in the recovery of these loans?

It should be remembered that these ryots were entitled to peculiar consideration on the part of Government. If they had not, from a sense of self-respect, taken loans from the Government, but had, on the contrary, gone to the relief centres as poor beggars, the Government would have been obliged to feed them, and would have had to debit the whole amount so expended against the revenue. But because these ryots had a sense of self-respect, and wanted to earn their livelihood by honest labour, and to borrow money when they had not any, and to repay it when they had sufficient means,—because, he said, these ryots followed an honest and honourable course, the Government was in a position to recover what it had laid out for their maintenance, and they were not unwilling to pay their just debt. As he had already observed, the Collectors as a body thought that there need be no apprehension entertained about the recovery of these loans. Now, what was the position of the ryots to-day? They had in the first place to meet these loans from the Government; then the rents of the zemindar, which were in arrear; then their own household expenses; and numerous other demands. With respect to the Government demand, it should be remembered that they contracted the loan at one rate and had to repay it at a different rate; they received the loan in grain and had to repay it in money. They borrowed it at from 10 to 12 seers to the rupee, and they would have to sell rice from 25 to 35 seers to make up that rupee. Here they would suffer great loss. Then again the rents of the zemindars had been in arrear, which they must pay up.

The zemindars, as the Government had testified, had shown considerable liberality and humanity in assisting their distressed tenantry; but they could not be expected to meet the Government revenue this year, as they did last year, from their own pockets, or by borrowing money. The ryots, as a matter of course, must now pay their rents to the zemindar, and they had their own expenses to meet. Was it possible that one year's crop would be sufficient to meet all these numerous demands? It was true that last year's crop had been left to the ryots, because the Government did not in all cases enforce their demands this year. But the demands upon them were so many, that it was doubtful whether in all cases the ryots would be able to meet fully all these demands with the next year's crop. Indeed if such was possible, then the failure of one year's crop would not have brought millions of ryots very nearly to death's door. There might be ryots in good circumstances who might be able to pay at once; there might be others, again, who would want two, three, or four years to meet the aggregate demands upon them, and in these cases the Government ought to show some consideration. It was therefore necessary that a discretion should be given to the Collector and the Court to receive the money in convenient instalments. It might be said that the amount of loan per family or head was very small; it might be small compared to the means of others: but the amount was not small compared to the means of those who had contracted them. Already in one district a complaint had come that though it was understood that the loan would have to be repaid in two years, notice had been served for its repayment at once. He did not know how far the case was true, or how far this was general, but such a complaint had come. It was therefore of the utmost importance that some provision should be made in the Bill authorizing the Collector to receive payment in convenient instalments, according to the circumstances of each party, and he had accordingly thought it proper to insert a provision to that effect in his amendments. He was aware that this object might be met by an order from the Executive Government. If the Hon'ble President would give such an assurance from his chair, it would not be necessary perhaps to make such a provision in the Bill. But Baboo Kristodas Pal might point out that if the procedure he recommended were not adopted, there would be an appeal to the Commissioner; and if there were no provision in the law authorizing the Collector to receive the money in instalments, it would not be open to the ryot, on appeal to the Commissioner, to urge that no time had been given to him for the repayment by instalments. As one of the grounds of appeal, it would be convenient to insert this provision in the Bill.

In making these remarks, he would only add that he was as anxious as any hon'ble member of the Council to afford every facility to the Government for the recovery of these loans: in fact it was but barely just to the general tax-payers of the country to provide for such facilities. But he would repeat that the same generous spirit which had characterized the operations of Government in assisting the ryots in their late distress, should actuate it in providing for the realization of the famine loans.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier said, as he anticipated in his speech at the last meeting of the Council, the hon'ble member who had just spoken had most ably expressed most of the arguments which were advanced in the memorial which the British Indian Association had presented to the Select Committee. In that memorial three points were made: first, that it would be better that it should be left to a judicial rather than to a revenue officer to pronounce an authoritative declaration that a certain amount was due to the Government in repayment of the loan in question; secondly, that the Bill should restrain the Government from proceeding against tenures in realizing sums which had been authoritatively declared to be due; and thirdly, that a discretionary power should be left to the officer making the authoritative declaration to fix the instalments by which the debt should be repaid. The hon'ble member had moved amendments which embraced the first and third of these points, and had dropped the second as regards not proceeding against tenures.

The first objection was founded on what Mr. Dampier had before termed departmental bias of the revenue officers; and after the fair and temperate way in which the hon'ble member had put this objection, it was not for Mr. Dampier to say that it was unreasonable, that it was a slight upon the Collectors, that it showed a want of confidence in the revenue officers, and so forth. The objection was not a frivolous one: he recognized it as a fair one, and as raising a fair subject for discussion. He could well understand that there was a feeling that the Collector as the executive officer who had been bound to use moderate caution in making these advances, and who was responsible for the realization of them to the Government,) would be to a certain extent unconsciously biassed in the direction of recovering these loans summarily and arbitrarily. But this objection had been very fully considered by the Select Committee; and on behalf of the majority of the Committee he had to say that they came to the conclusion that it was outweighed by considerations on the other side of the question. These considerations were that the Collector (and in the term Collector he here included the higher officers of the Revenue Department, who, under the Bill as it stood, would have to make the authoritative declaration that the amount demanded was due,) was in a better position to do substantial justice in these cases, and to ascertain the real facts of the case, than any officer of another department, whether judicial or other, could be. The Committee thought it was possible that if the case went for hearing before the judicial officer, the debtors might in some cases get the advantage of technical objections, which they would not perhaps get from the Collector; but they felt convinced that in the vast majority of cases, at any rate, substantial justice, as between the two parties, was more likely to be done by the Collector than by an outside Judge. Considering the habits of the people, the Committee thought that the very knowledge that the mere raising of an objection to the debt would lead to an inquiry by an officer of the Civil Court, would be sufficient to induce the ryots to try and put off the evil day, or even to get off paying what he felt himself to be a fair and just debt by making malâ fide objections. In regard to questions of disputed identity, the Committee took into consideration the departmental knowledge which the Collector had; and with his special knowledge of the villages in which these loans were made, his relations with which had been drawn more close by the events of the last year, and considering these, they thought that on a question of identity the Collector was in a better position to give a substantially just judgment than any officer of the Civil Courts could be. Further, they considered that as to the particular matter of identity, if a question was raised at all, it must be in its simplest form, for these loans were not made in a corner: they were made in the presence of the village community, at the doors of the recipients, with the people standing round them. Of course there might be rascality and fraud; but the protection and guarantees against fraudulent personification seemed to be greater in the case of these loans than in almost any transaction that could be imagined. And Mr. Dampier could not think that when once a doubt as to identity was fairly raised, departmental bias would come into play in the matter. He could not believe that a revenue officer, in the position of those now in question, having any doubt whether the person from whom repayment of a loan was demanded was really the person who received the money, any amount of departmental bias would make him stop short of thoroughly satisfying himself on the subject before enforcing payment.

Passing from questions of identity, the majority of the Committee were of opinion that to call in the interference of the establishments and machinery of the Civil Court was to entail additional expense upon the ryot without sufficient counterbalancing advantage. Every case of this sort must first be got up in the Revenue office. According to the procedure which the Government had asked the Council to allow, it would begin and end in the Collector's office, and the establishments of the Revenue office alone would extort the illicit gratifications which unfortunately were notoriously inseparable from proceedings in public offices in this country; but according to the proposal of the hon'ble member to substitute the Munsif for the Collector, after the Collector's subordinates had enjoyed their gratification, the case would go to the Munsif, and a new horde of underlings would fall upon the unfortunate ryot. These considerations preponderated with the Select Committee over the objection to the adjudication of the Collector which the hon'ble member had so ably argued.

And there was one other consideration, that the Collector had been accepted by the law as the authority who was to enforce demands similar to these—demands due to Government. It did not seem to him that there was any good reason for going specially to the Munsif in this particular class of cases, and requiring him, as the hon'ble mover of the amendments had explained, not to act according to the procedure of the Civil Courts, but pro hac vice to exercise precisely the functions with which the legislature had vested the Collector in all similar cases. The objection as to proceeding against tenures had been dropped; and he did not think that practically there would be any procedure against them, except in the cases which the Bill was intended to meet,—cases of mala fides in the repayment of a just debt, where the repayment was opposed by chicanery and fraudulent combination. Then he thought the Government would be perfectly justified in pressing for repayment by proceeding or threatening to proceed against tenures. But in the ordinary course of things, he did not think that the Government would be led to proceed against tenures

The third point was the question of instalments. The procedure in the recovery of these advances might be looked upon as dividing itself into two parts: the first up to the point of the decree or authoritative declaration being given that the money was due—that was, the declaration upon which legal action could be taken; the second part was the procedure for realizing money due under that declaration. The proposals as to tenures and instalments touched the second part of the procedure, the mode of realizing the amount due. It would be observed that these were not proposals to refuse to give the Government the extraordinary powers for which they asked; but they were proposals to restrict the Government, and to tie its hands by withdrawing the powers which it could ordinarily exercise in realizing any kind of debt,—powers which not only the Government, but every other judgment-creditor, possessed in realizing debts decreed. The hon'ble member said that the ryot should have the same consideration shown him afterwards in the realization of the debt as he had had when the money was advanced. Certainly MR DAMPIER admitted that; but there was no reason for the exercise of such consideration at the latter time being made the subject of legislation any more than at the former. The hon'ble member had then said that if the President would give an assurance that such consideration would be shown, he would not press this objection. In this place MR. DAMPIER might say that, in his judgment, it was not desirable that the Council should be too frequently called upon to proceed upon personal guarantees from the Lieutenant-Governor sitting in that chair. He would prefer that, on the one hand, the Council should not be too ready to ask for such guarantees, and, on the other, that it should not be too often asked to allow them to influence its action. In the present case he would ask the Council to judge of the matter as it would of any other, without reference to guarantees. It was known that up to this point the Government, as a body of men, had, under certain circumstances, acted in a certain way towards those who had suffered in the famine; they had, in the interests of these poor men, acted up to the extreme limit to which their duties and responsibilities to the general tax-payer would allow them to go. From this, without falling back on any assurance from the Lieutenant-Governor, the Council might fairly draw the inference that the Government would continue to show the same leniency and consideration throughout the whole transaction. The whole arguments in favour of leniency which the hon'ble mover of the amendments had advanced were certainly such as would weigh with His Honor and the Executive Government; they would doubtless be borne in mind, and go far to influence the Government in its action. But they did not give any valid reason for transferring the duty of humanity from HIS HONOR'S shoulders to those of every Munsif in the districts concerned, for that was what the proposal amounted to. It must not be forgotten that every mahajun to whom a ryot was indebted would be able to throw him into absolutely the same difficulties as the hon'ble member had described. But there was no proposition to restrain creditors in general from pressing indebted ryots who had lately suffered from the famine; why then should the Government be more restricted than any ordinary creditor? He would ask the Council to look at the course of this Bill. The Government came to this Council, saying this great calamity had occurred, and that they, as trustees of the public money, had been obliged to make temporary use of some three quarters of a million in relieving private distress, on the distinct understanding that the requirement was temporary only Under the pressing circumstances of the case, it had been impossible for the Government officers to take all those precautions and all that care on technical points which would have been due to the public under ordinary circumstances. They were obliged to waive technicalities, and to give the money away loosely to those who required it so urgently. Having done that, the Government now came to the Council, after the pressure was over, after the lives were saved, and asked for the same measure as they had dealt to the debtors in the time of their necessity; they asked that technicalities and forms might, to some extent, be waived in the recovery of the debts, as they had been waived in making the advances. They asked the Council to give a procedure by which substantial justice would be done, though not in the highest and the most advanced form, that of judicial procedure. The Collectors were the officers absolutely in the best position to judge whether the money was due or not in each case: let these men be entrusted with the power to make a legal declaration that the money was due, upon which legal action could be taken afterwards. That done, the Government asked for no facilities greater than every creditor had for the recovery of debts due to him. The answer which the British Indian Association proposed to give to the Government was—"We highly approve of your action; you were quite right in relaxing all these technicalities and lending the money without insisting on the precautions which would have been necessary under other circumstances, and we quite acknowledge that you require special facilities for recovering the money: nevertheless we will not give you the facilities for which you have asked towards obtaining the authoritative declaration. On the contrary we shall take the opportunity of your having asked the Council for this facility to limit the ordinary powers which you in common with other creditors have of recovering debts when formally declared to be due. After once it is declared that money is due on account of these loans, we shall not allow you to proceed against tenures, and we shall tie your hands by fixing instalments; thus placing you under special disabilities as regards the recovery of these loans, which are not imposed upon any other creditor." If the Council would look at the matter in that view, it would scarcely be surprised if the Government replied—"If this is the only measure which the Council can offer to us by way of facilities for the recovery of these loans, we will not ask the legislature for any special assistance at all; we had rather be left to recover under the ordinary procedure of the law." He thought upon these grounds the Government was fully justified in asking the Council to reject the amendments which had been moved.

The Hon'ble Baboo Jagadanund Mookerjee said the question before the Council was whether the summary procedure should be given to the Moonsif or the Collector. There could be no doubt that it was the Collector who made the advances, and he was therefore the person who, in a subsequent proceeding, should be vested with the power of realizing the money. The Collector who advanced the money would be in a better position to know whether the person before him was the identical person to whom the money had been given,—whether the identity was fully proved. If that question were submitted to another tribunal, it would go before a new officer, whose experience was much more limited than that of the Collector; because the Collector was supposed to be an officer of at least ten years' standing, and the Munsif might have been appointed only the other day. Therefore, comparatively speaking, the Collector was supposed to be better experienced than the Munsif. To give power to the Munsif in a matter like this, would throw upon him a duty which, to say the least, he was very little acquainted with. The advantage that might be gained would in no way override the disadvantage apprehended of prejudice and bias which were supposed to influence the Collector. In the non-regulation districts, the Deputy Commissioner was an officer who was entrusted with the powers of a Collector, a Judge, and a Magistrate; and though all those powers were exercised by one and the same individual, we had not yet heard that, as a rule, he showed a bias when he had to try a question judicially. If, therefore, we could trust the Deputy Commissioners, who were vested with the powers of both Collector and Judge, why should we say that the Collectors of districts would be biassed, and were not fit to be entrusted with the powers which the Bill conferred upon them. It appeared to Baboo Jagadanund Mookerjee that it was the Collector who, from his past knowledge in the particular matter, ought to be better able to try these questions summarily. He thought the amendments proposed went to a great extent beyond the objects which the Government had in view in bringing this Bill before the Council.

The Hon'ble the Acting Advocate-General said he thought if the main-provisions of the Bill were carefully examined, it would be found that the principal objections advanced against it by the hon'ble mover of the amendment would resolve themselves into fears and apprehensions of an unreal character. It was quite clear that the hon'ble member who assisted in the deliberations of the Committee had not been at all convinced by the discussions which had taken place at the Committee meeting, as he had repeated precisely the same objections as he had then made. We endeavoured to convince our worthy colleague of the position we took up in the report which we had presented; but it appeared we had not succeeded in convincing the hon'ble member of the propriety of that position. The ADVOCATE-GENERAL would repeat that if the provisions of the Bill were carefully looked into, the objections which had been advanced would wholly fail. As he understood those objections, they might be generally put down thus: first, that the Collector, being pledged as it were to the recovery of the money, would naturally be biassed in favour of the Government to whom he would have to account; secondly, that difficult questions of law and intricate questions of disputed identity would necessarily arise in the consideration of these cases, and would render it necessary that the scene of contest should not be the Court of the Collector, but that of an officer ordinarily exercising functions of a judicial nature.

With regard to a portion of the second objection, namely that difficult questions of law requiring judicial determination would arise, he was wholly unable to make out how such questions could arise in respect of such simple matters. It was however possible though highly improbable) that serious questions of identity might arise in the investigation of these cases; and these were the only questions to which it was necessary to refer as bearing on the subject of bias, which formed one of the principal grounds urged in support of the proposed amendment. The objections urged by the hon'ble member were those originally made by Baboo Digumber Mitter, and consequently the Committee appointed to consider the Bill were fully aware of those objections; and the Committee, bearing in mind the objections raised, considered it necessary to have the evidence of gentlemen acquainted with the procedure adopted in the making of loans. Two gentlemen who attended with bonds and books to show how advances were supported by evidence were fully examined; and any one there present would have been struck with the very great care and clearness with which the books had been kept. In the absence of any just ground of suspicion or distrust, one might fairly assume that these bonds and books faithfully represented a true state of things. The books stated the names of the ryots to whom loans were granted, the names of their sureties, the amounts of loan granted, and they contained a column under which any repayment would be entered. By looking into his books, the Collector would at once see what were his outstanding advances, and by whom due; and he would thus be enabled to make his certificate without difficulty. It should be remembered that Government advances were made to two classes of people; the zemindars or a collection of villagers, who stood as sureties and who were well-known and substantial persons; and the ryots, or the persons who received the benefit of the advances. Certificates would therefore be ordinarily made against the surety or sureties and the principal debtor, the ryot. If it should appear, upon cause being shown against a certificate, that a ryot mentioned in such certificate disputed his identity, and there should exist good grounds for doubting his having been a borrower, it would not be necessary in the majority of cases for the Collector to do more than to omit or strike out the name of such person, and to amend the certificate, making the same available against the supposed borrower's surety or sureties, who were, as previously observed, well-known and substantial persons. In this manner the supposed bias calculated to induce the Collector to fix liability upon a particular ryot would not be allowed to have any effect on his mind. On the Government recovering the amount of any advance from a zemindar or other surety, the right to have a certificate under the second section of the Bill would accrue to such zemindar or other surety. If, in the assertion of this right, a certificate be applied for and made by the Collector, and cause be afterwards shown against the same, on the ground that the ryot charged thereby disputed his identity, the question of his liability or otherwise would then be entered on and decided by the Collector, without such bias as had been imputed, inasmuch as the Government would have been previously paid off by the zemindar or other surety, and the Collector's interest in the matter would have thereby ceased. If, however, in a few exceptional cases the supposed bias of the Collector might be deemed a disturbing element in the proper administration of justice, a correction had been provided by an appeal to the Commissioner. The ADVOCATE-GENERAL had assumed that no question of identity could possibly arise as regards a zemindar or other well-known surety, and he considered that he was perfectly justified in making that assumption, for reasons which were self-evident and need not be further stated.

Then, with regard to the other question, namely the question of joint tenancy and advances received by one person for the benefit of several persons, being members of a joint family, he considered that such questions could not arise. The estate and interest of the debtor alone would be liable to be sold, and not the whole estate of a joint family. Under the certificate procedure the Collector would not be entitled to adjust equities between the Government and all the recipients of its bounty, but merely to settle the amount of the liability of the debtors named in the bonds and books. The only questions which would ordinarily arise for determination were, first, whether the money was lent; secondly, whether a particular advance was made to the ryot against whose name the same was entered; thirdly, whether the whole or any portion was repaid. On the first question, there would exist no doubt; and with reference to the third question, repayments would be supported by receipts. The second question raised the question of identity already referred to and discussed. With great distress prevalent in a particular district, it was difficult to suppose that all, or almost all, persons in the position of ryots would not readily avail themselves of Government advances, and consequently the fraudulent insertion of a particular man's name in a bond or in the Collector's books would indicate a case of a highly improbable character—so improbable, that in dealing with the general subject for the purposes of legislation, the possibility of the occurrence of the above case of fraud should not be treated as a serious objection to the summary remedy proposed by the Bill.

Having attempted to show—the ADVOCATE-GENERAL trusted in a satisfactory manner—that the jurisdiction intended to be conferred by this Bill on the Collector was not open to any well-founded objection, he would proceed to consider the advisability of the substitution of the Munsif for the Collector. As no difficult questions of law requiring investigation were likely to arise, there existed no necessity for the substitution of an officer in the Judicial Department for the Collector, and consequently the proposed amendment was not required. He would go further and say that if the amendment, as it was worded, were accepted, the Bill had better be dropped. If jurisdiction were given to the Munsif, upon objections taken to the certificate filed, written statements on behalf of both parties would probably follow, and the case would be decided according to the procedure observed in civil suits. An appeal might be taken away, but the power of superintendence vested in and exercised by the High Court over the Munsif's court would exist, and any litigious individual might, upon ex parte statements, succeed in invoking in the first instance (though unsuccessfully in the end) the exercise of the power of superintendence, and thus cause delay, and thereby frustrate the whole scope and scheme of the summary remedy intended to be provided by the present Bill. It appeared to him, therefore, that the summary remedy intended to be provided was incompatible with the proposed amendment of vesting the Munsif with jurisdiction over these cases. If the Bill were not to be accepted in its present shape, it would be better to leave the Government to invoke the agency of the civil courts in the ordinary way.

Then, passing on from that, the ADVOCATE-GENERAL would observe that he did not think the Council ought now to be called upon to consider the question whether the jurisdiction already given to the Collector in respect of Government demands in a great number of cases was right or wrong, whether it was desirable or undesirable. The principle had been accepted, and the only question before the Council was, should that principle be extended to the simple cases which were the subject of this Bill, and as to which the Collector had the fullest evidence in the books and bonds in his possession. If it were once conceded that the principle of the certificate procedure should not now be questioned, this was just one of those cases to which it should be made to extend. The principle enunciated by Act VII of 1868 remained; and he submitted that if that principle was shown fairly to apply to the circumstances brought before the Council, no reasonable ground would exist for the limitation of the principle contained in Act VII of 1868. On the subject of vesting Munsif's with jurisdiction, he would make one observation as arising from his own experience as a practising Barrister in regard to the change which had already taken place in the transfer of rent-suits from Collectors to Munsifs; and that observation was, that rent-suits were not now decided so expeditiously or broadly upon their merits, as previously by Collectors, and that probably upon inquiry it would turn out that technicalities were allowed to prevail, and suitors were delayed in obtaining their decrees.

He now passed on to the question of the payment of the money by instalments. The objection on that score came to this—"You might have a summary procedure for investigation, but you are not to collect your money expeditiously." The humanity and liberality of the Government in having made these advances were generally admitted; and that being so, it might be fairly presumed that the Government would continue to deal with the ryots in the same liberal spirit, and that, when any such persons were really unable to pay the whole amount at once, the Government would not compel them to do so.

But the hon'ble member thought that it was just possible that some cases might turn up in which the same consideration would not be shewn. The ADVOCATE-GENERAL did not see that the Collector, as representing a humane Government, should be put in a worse position than any ordinary creditor. Did the ordinary creditor press a person who was able and willing to pay by instalments with immediate payment of the whole decree so as to ruin him? Experience satisfied us that he did not; but the power of enforcing immediate payment from persons able, but unwilling to pay, should be left unfettered. There were persons in this and other countries, nay even of the class of zemindar, who had a natural aversion to paying their debts, and who would not pay unless a decree had been obtained and attachment issued; and any indulgence or leniency towards such persons was not desirable. Considering, moreover, that in the majority of cases substantial persons were bound to the Government for the repayment of advances, it appeared to him that the Bill should not contain the proposed amendment.

While submitting to the Council that the objections of the hon'ble member were not tenable, the ADVOCATE-GENERAL would admit that they were proper objections to raise for the purpose of inviting discussion, and that the objections had been placed before the Council in a lucid and frank manner by the hon'ble mover. In conclusion, he would repeat that he trusted that the Council would be satisfied that they were dealing with a simple matter, and that no questions of law would be likely to arise, and cases of mistaken identity would be very rare; and that, as the certificate granted by the Collector on becoming final would simply take the place of a decree of a Civil Court, all matters connected with a fair and just mode of getting in payment of such a decree should be left to the unfettered discretion of the Government.

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said he would not detain the Council with any lengthened remarks by way of reply to the objections taken to the amendments which he had moved. He felt much obliged to hon'ble members for the very fair and frank manner in which they had met his remarks. At the same time, there was one misconception which underlay almost all the objections taken to the amendments, viz. that the Collector had made the advances, as it were, with his own hands, and would decide the case himself. That was not the fact, as hon'ble members were well aware.

[The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER explained that he meant the Collector as representing his Department. He knew personally the Deputy Collector, or the gomashta, or the circle officer who made the advance, and he was more likely to know than any one else whether the man who made the advance was a careless or a careful man. MR. DAMPIER alluded to the Collector as head of the Department, and contended that the Collector was more likely to get at the substantial truth than the Munsif.]

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL continued.—The explanation given by the hon'ble member amounted to this: The Collector relied on the information of his subordinates, and the subordinate being, in many cases, either a sub-deputy, a golahdar, or a circle relief officer, the Collector could not thus be expected to have that local knowledge on which the hon'ble mover had laid so much stress.

As for the relief officers, they were only temporary; they came for a day and then went away—that was their position: and he did not see how their knowledge, whatever it was, could expand the knowledge of the Collector.

As regards the machinery of the Civil Court, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL's object was not to revive the procedure of Act VIII of 1859. As he had explained in the remarks with which he introduced his motion, his object was simply to substitute the Munsif in the place of the Collector, the object being to vest the officer who had regular judicial training and experience with jurisdiction in these cases. The hon'ble and learned Advocate-General had observed that there could be no complex questions requiring judicial investigation, and that therefore it would not be necessary to have a trained judicial agency for the trial of these cases. Now, BABOO KRISTODAS PAL believed as hon'ble members generally believed that in the majority of cases there would be no litigation whatever; the ryots would pay without raising any objection. But there might be a few cases in which disputes might arise, and it was only in such cases he apprehended difficulty; and he therefore proposed that a judicial officer should be vested with jurisdiction.

As regards the question of additional expense to the ryot, if the certificate procedure as laid down in Act VII of 1868 were followed, he did not see how additional expense would be thrown upon the ryot when only the Munsif was substituted in place of the Collector as the trier of the suit.

With regard to the question of departmental bias, he must confess that the learned Advocate-General had argued the case with considerable ingenuity. He told us that where a zemindar or a collection of villagers was responsible for the debt or loan, it would not be difficult to identify the person; because the zemindars were men well known, and the particular villagers who stood security could easily be identified. But he had not said that in other cases, where the ryots were individually responsible, it would not be easy to identify the parties; and then the Collector might be carried away by his departmental bias in fixing responsibility, particularly if he thought, as one officer did, that the onus should be thrown upon the defendant, and that the latter should be called upon to prove a negative. The learned Advocate-General, by his remarks, virtually implied that in other cases there might be difficulty; and in order to solve such difficulties he (BABOO KRISTODAS PAL would prefer the trained experience of the Munsif to the patriarchal knowledge of the Collector. But the main objection of his learned friend to the Munsif seemed to be that his proceedings would be open to the general superintendence of the High Court. Now, he confessed that he was not prepared for an exhibition of such nervous dread of the High Court on the part of the learned gentleman, who had once graced the bench of that Court, and who was a representative of law in this Council. [THE ADVOCATE-GENERAL explained that he was speaking on the subject of expedition,—that where there was the superintending power of the High Court, matters would be delayed.] With regard to expedition, then, he had already explained that the procedure he recommended would be still more expeditious than the procedure under Act VII of 1868; because under that Act there was an appeal from the decision of the Collector to the Commissioner, whereas under the amendments he had proposed the judgment of the Munsif would be final; and even taking into consideration the supervising power of the High Court, the procedure he recommended would not be so dilatory, inasmuch as under Act VII of 1868 an appeal would lie to the Commissioner as a matter of right, whereas the interference of the High Court, under the power of general superintendence, would be optional.

As to the question of instalments, he need only point out that he did not mean that repayment by instalments should be made compulsory in all cases. He meant that the Collector should have a discretion to take the money in convenient instalments, according to the circumstances of each particular case. In some cases the Court might think it necessary to order repayment at once; in other cases it might exercise its discretionary power, and direct repayment by instalments. In making that proposal, he did not, as his hon'ble friend opposite had remarked, want to transfer the duty of humanity from the shoulders of the Lieutenant-Governor to the shoulders of the Munsif; the Munsif would, in that case, as much represent the Crown as the Collector.

The amendments were negatived.

On the motion of the HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER, the Bill was then settled in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The Council was adjourned to Saturday, the 20th instant.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON PUBLIC INSTRUCTION IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1873-74.

RESOLUTION.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION No. 475.

Calcutta, the 15th February 1875.

READ—

The Report on Public Instruction in Bengal for the year 1873-74.

THE Lieutenant Governor is compelled to express his concern at the delay which has attended the submission of this report. The report of the Director should be in the hands of Government by the beginning of October at latest, in order to allow of the educational progress of the year being reviewed before the subject has lost its interest. The present report, which is submitted in February 1875, refers to the examinations held by the Calcutta University in December 1873—a topic which is now altogether out of date, another series of examinations having subsequently been held.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor is aware that on this occasion the Director of Public Instruction has had extraordinary difficulty in obtaining all the data required from the various authorities who have to be consulted, and that the emergent avocations of 1874 have in many districts interfered with the punctuality usually manifested by the local officers. But Sir Richard Temple must remind all officers concerned, both civil and educational, that in the coming official year, and on ordinary occasions, promptitude in submitting educational returns is very important, and will, he is sure, be secured by their efforts and attention.

3. The scheme for the extension of primary education, which was inaugurated by Sir George Campbell's Resolution of the 30th September 1872, has made considerable progress during the year under review. At the end of 1872-73 the total number of primary schools of all classes was 8,253, of which 5,575 were aided pathsalas under the new scheme: on the 31st March last the total number had risen to 12,229, of which 9,645 were pathsalas subsidised under the orders of 1872. It thus appears that the number of the new pathsalas has largely increased, while that of other primary schools shows a slight diminution. The number of children under instruction in primary schools was 303,437, against 205,939 in the preceding year.

4. The policy which the Lieutenant-Governor desires to pursue on the question of primary education has been set forth in the Minute which he has lately recorded on the subject. He is anxious to work out that policy on the lines so well laid down by the late Lieutenant-Governor, and to build up the system on the foundation previously established. He is desirous that while the district officers should retain the executive management of primary schools, they should avail themselves to the full of the advice and co-operation of the Circle Inspectors. The Magistrate will be the better judge of local requirements, but the educational officers have an extensive professional experience, which will be useful in correcting errors and supplying deficiencies. To attain successful results in this important branch of national education, it is essential that the civil and educational departments should work hand in hand. It is not the wish of the Lieutenant-Governor that any rural schools should be left unaltered and unimproved, with inefficient teachers and imperfect methods of instruction; nor, on the other hand, that attempts should be made to introduce a standard which will divest the schools of their elementary character. The most effectual method of improving these indigenous schools, while maintaining them as places of really primary education, will be found to lie in the introduction of a system of paying according to results. The Lieutenant-Governor has read with much interest the account of the success which Mr. Harrison, the Magistrate of Midnapore, has attained by adopting this principle. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to commend these paragraphs of the present report to the consideration of all officers into whose districts it may be practicable to introduce a similar system.

5. It is satisfactory to observe that the newly aided pathsalas are attracting, in some measure, a section of the community whom the former efforts of our educational officers had failed to reach. Of the Mahomedan children under instruction, no less than 87 per cent. were studying in primary schools. The proportion of Mahomedan boys at school is still far lower than could be wished; but the experience of the last ten years shows that the education given in the pathsalas is one which they will accept more readily than they will any other.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to call the attention of district officers and committees to the remarks at page 14 of the report, on the necessity of regulating the age of the boys who may be elected to primary scholarships.

7. Secondary instruction is imparted in the middle and higher schools, which, during the year under review, contained 449,873 pupils, of whom 13,603 were girls. But there would appear to be some error in these figures, as at page 68 of the report the whole number of girls under instruction is stated to be 12,202, and above one-third of these are in the primary schools. Of the entire number of pupils in the middle and higher schools, more than one-half were in the lower section of the primary stage: that is to say, they were still unable to read, write, and understand easy sentences in their vernacular tongue. The Lieutenant-Governor would ask the Director to consider whether it would not be possible to apply a check to this by the institution of some kind of entrance examination. It might not be desirable to interfere with aided schools, but in zillah schools, at any rate, a rule might be made that no boy shall be admitted who cannot read and write his mother tongue. The necessary elementary instruction would then be given, as it should be given, in schools of a lower class, and boys would proceed from these schools to the zillah school. There appears a waste of power in employing well-paid and highly-educated masters, such as form the staff of our zillah schools, to teach little children the alphabet.

8. The Government and aided middle schools show a slight decrease of number as compared with the previous year, but an increase in the number of pupils: the unaided schools of the same class show a considerable increase in the number both of schools and of pupils. The State expenditure upon middle schools diminished from Rs. 2,92,747 to Rs. 2,74,010. At the vernacular scholarship examination, which is the educational goal of the middle class vernacular schools, there were 4,218 candidates, of whom 2,607 passed the examination and 216 obtained scholarships. The standard for the middle class English schools is that laid down for the minor scholarship course, and at the examination for minor scholarships the candidates were 1,121, of whom 796 passed and 100 obtained scholarships.

9. Of the higher schools, which teach up to the University Entrance examination, the number diminished from 171 to 165. The gross expenditur was nearly the same as in the previous year, but the State contribution showed a reduction of Rs. 16,076.

10. Pages 30 to 32 of the report contain a summary of some remarks by the Inspector of the Presidency Circle on the State provision for the education of European and Eurasians in Calcutta. Mr. Clarke believes that there are about 800 European and 5,000 Eurasian children of a school-going age whose parents are in receipt of incomes below Rs. 300 a month. For those whose incomes vary from Rs. 80 to Rs. 300, there are, in Mr. Clarke's opinion, sufficient suitable schools already, and no interference by Government is necessary. The difficulty lies in providing education for children of the poorest class, whose parents earn less than Rs. 80 per month. Mr. Clarke considers that this class could be best assisted by Government paying a portion of the fees for them at the Free School, or at some similar institution. The whole subject is under the separate consideration of Government.

11. The number of candidates at the University Entrance examination of December 1873 was 2,544, being an increase of 400 over the previous year. Of these, 2,099 were from Bengal, but only 640 of these succeeded in passing; and it is evident that many students were allowed to present themselves who ought to have remained at school for another year. From the schools of the Dacca division, only 70 candidates passed out of 272; from Patna 26 out of 134; and from Bhagulpore 10 out of 60. On the other hand, the Orissa schools succeeded in passing 13 candidates out of 20, and from Calcutta there were 458 candidates, of whom 194 passed.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor has noticed the remarks at page 28 of the report regarding the departmental examination in surveying and physical geography. The opinion of Government on this subject has already been communicated to the Director. The Lieutenant-Governor is not prepared to admit that a theoretical knowledge of mensuration and surveying is an adequate substitute for a practical acquaintance with the use of survey instruments in the field, and he desires that boys may be encouraged to keep up this practical training.

13. The reports of the Commissioners and Circle Inspectors, summarised in the report, tend in general to show that the condition of higher and middle schools is not satisfactory. The Lieutenant-Governor requests that the Director will be good enough to offer separately, for the Lieutenant-Governor's consideration, some remarks upon this, accounting for the decline of these schools and suggesting some remedies.

14. There are ten Government colleges and high schools and five aided colleges, besides the unaided colleges of La Martiniere, Serampore, and the Doveton College, for those students who have passed the University Entrance examination. Of the Government institutions, only four at present teach the entire course for the B.A. degree; the instruction at the others being limited to the standard prescribed for the First Examination in Arts. The Lieutenant-Governor has expressed his willingness to reconstitute the 3rd-year and 4th-year classes at the Kishnaghur College, and to supply half the necessary expense as a contribution from the State on the condition that the other half is raised by subscriptions from residents, or from the general public. His Honor deems it of much importance that all reasonable facilities for completing the academical course should be afforded to students; and he trusts that the measures now in progress for restoring the Kishnaghur College to its former status will be successfully carried out.

15. There has been some falling off in the attendance at the ten Government institutions, with the exception of the Sanskrit College, at which the numbers have been stationary, and the Cuttack High School, which shows a slight increase compared with last year. This falling off, however, is fully accounted for. It does not arise from any want of appreciation of the advantages of higher education, but is owing to the fact that an increasing proportion of students, after passing the Entrance examination, devote themselves to the study of medicine or of civil engineering. The same tendency, His Honor remarks, is observable among the holders of senior scholarships, among whom the science course of the University is very generally preferred to the alternative literature course.

16. In the Government colleges and high schools, 669 pupils were educated at an average cost to Government of Rs. 269 for each student. The cost in the different institutions varied very much. In the Berhampore College it was as high as Rs. 1,103; in the Hooghly College, which is mainly supported from the endowment of Mahomed Mohsin, the cost to Government for each student was only Rs. 26½. Taking the Government institutions and the aided colleges together, the entire cost per annum of each pupil was Rs 428, of which Rs 220½ were contributed by Government and Rs 207½ were derived from fees and endowments.

17. There was a diminution in the number of candidates at both the First Arts examination and the B A. examination of the University. This is attributable to the cause which has already been noticed as having operated to diminish the number of matriculated students at colleges and high schools.

18. Besides the ordinary course prescribed by the University, professional instruction is given in Government institutions in law, medicine, and civil engineering. Law is taught to candidates for the B L. degree and to students who desire to qualify themselves for admission to the pleadership examination. The number attending the law classes decreased greatly during the year; and though an arrangement has since been made, by which it was hoped that the classes for first-year students could still be maintained, it seems probable that the classes will have to be abandoned everywhere except at the Presidency College. The medical instruction, on the other hand, is increasing in popularity, and the results of the year were very satisfactory in both the English and the vernacular classes, the number of students showing a large increase at a diminished cost to the State. Since the close of the year a new medical school has been opened at Patna, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes to be able to open another at Dacca in June next. The Presidency College classes in civil engineering also showed a large accession to the number of students, which made it necessary to add to the staff of lecturers; while the increase in the fee collections enabled this to be done without any addition to the Government expenditure. The number of pupils in the Calcutta School of Art rose during the year from 74 to 129, and the Principal acknowledges with gratitude the encouragement which His Excellency the Viceroy has afforded to the school.

19. This growing appreciation of the advantages of technical education appears to the Lieutenant-Governor to be a sign of healthy national progress, upon which the country may fairly be congratulated. It will be His Honor's wish to encourage the development of this spirit by opening new schools of this class where a demand for them exists, and by supplying additional teachers to the present institutions. The Lieutenant-Governor would impress upon all concerned that one main object of scientific and technical education is to enable the rising generation in Bengal to earn their own living in practical pursuits, such as mechanics, engineering, surveying, mensuration, the higher branches of agriculture, the special culture of valuable products, and the like; instead of betaking themselves, as at present, to the law and to the public service in such numbers as to overstock those professions. In urging this upon the people, the Lieutenant-Governor only desires to open to them fresh fields for their industry, new avenues for their ambition, additional means for their attainment to wealth and happiness.

20. The orders of the 31st July 1873 contemplated the establishment of a first grade normal school for each division (except Cooch Behar and Chota Nagpore) and a lower grade normal school for each district: all the stipends at lower grade normal schools being allotted to gurus and to boys who were training as primary schoolmasters. Experience has now shown that this scheme is unnecessarily expensive. The Lieutenant-Governor considers it important that the pathsala gurus should have opportunities of receiving normal school instruction; but he is satisfied that this may be done at a lower cost than is now incurred. The question is under consideration, and detailed instructions will be issued hereafter.

21. It has been noticed above that pathsala education appears better fitted to, or at all events more readily accepted by, the Mahomedan population than the instruction given in other kinds of Government and aided schools. According to the report, the Mahomedans form about one-fifth of the whole number of pupils upon our school rolls; but the Lieutenant-Governor is unable to reconcile these figures with those given at page 24 of the report. Nor do the figures in the table given on page 68 agree with the remarks of local officers in the succeeding paragraphs.

22. Under recent orders Mahomedan education has been encouraged by founding madrasahs, by opening Persian and Arabic classes at some zillah schools, and by paying from the Mohsin Fund part of the fees of the pupils. These measures were explained in the Government Resolution of the 29th July 1873—a Resolution which has an important bearing on the question of Mahomedan education, but which is not alluded to by the Director in the present report. The madrasah at Dacca, which has been opened under these orders, has made a successful beginning; but the Lieutenant-Governor understands it to be the opinion of local officers that throughout the Lower Provinces generally the efforts made by Government for the furtherance of Mahomedan education have not as yet produced all the results that are to be hoped for. Considerable progress, however, has been made, and it is admitted that the Mahomedan community recognize the fact that it is the anxious desire of Government to encourage and foster their improvement. It may be hoped with some confidence that the progress will be steady and permanent; that the muktabs will gradually be moulded into true primary schools; and that the middle and upper classes of Mahomedans will show more and more readiness to avail themselves of the advantages of our higher education.

23. With regard to female education, the report is not so encouraging as the Lieutenant-Governor had expected to find it, after all he has heard from well-informed native gentlemen of the marked progress in this respect among the upper classes. The total number of girls under instruction was 12,202, of whom 7,586 were in girls' schools and 4,616 were attending schools, principally pathsalas, for boys. The Lieutenant-Governor is inclined to think that the agency at our disposal may sometimes be more completely utilized. He observes it stated, on the same* page of the report, that the Female Normal School at Boalia has three or four students who could well take charge of girls' schools, but that no opportunities have offered of employing them; and a few lines lower down, that there is an adult female school in the town of Dacca which is not successful owing to the difficulty of getting a female teacher who knows Bengali well. The most successful girls' schools appear to be those connected with missions. The convent school at Bankipore, and the mission schools at Bhagulpore and in the Orissa and Chota Nagpore divisions, are reported to be well attended and efficient. In three districts of the Dacca division there are zenana education associations for the instruction of grown-up girls of the upper classes. But though the Inspector recommends these associations for support, on the ground that it is worth while to use such machinery as exists, the Lieutenant-Governor feels some doubt whether additional public money (beyond that which is already being spent) can be devoted to them while so many urgent requirements remain unsatisfied for want of funds. The existing grants to these associations must, of course, be maintained for the present; but the Lieutenant-Governor (as at present advised) cannot promise to extend State assistance to other institutions of this nature unless they are open to inspection by the officers of Government. With this reservation, however, the Lieutenant-Governor is anxious to afford State assistance to female education everywhere. So much appreciation of this important subject appears to be evinced by the upper classes, that the Lieutenant-Governor cannot but hope that its beneficial influence will, as it were, percolate downwards, till it gradually permeates the majority of the population.

24. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to express his sense of the value of the services rendered to the cause of education during the year by Mr. J. Sutcliffe, Principal of the Presidency College (who has been temporarily officiating as Director), Mr. C. B. Clarke, Inspector of the Presidency Circle, Mr. A. W. Croft, Inspector of the Eastern Circle, and Baboo Bhu Dev Mookerjea, Inspector of the Rajshahye Circle. He is gratified to observe that Commissioners and District Officers have shown much interest in education, and his special thanks are due to those non-official members of district school committees whose time and energies have been devoted to the assistance of the officers of the Educational Department. The successful working of the pathsala system under Mr. Harrison, the Collector of Midnapore, has been remarked on above, and the Lieutenant-Governor notices with much approval the administrative ability and careful attention to details which have characterised Mr. Harrison's management.

25. The Lieutenant-Governor is much indebted to Mr. Atkinson, the Director, for valuable advice and information, especially in regard to high education; and congratulates him on the general condition and progress of the Government schools throughout the provinces under the Government of Bengal.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. REYNOLDS,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

THE REPORT ON IRRIGATION REVENUE FOR THE YEAR 1873-74.

No. 110*I.-A.*

Extract from the Proceedings of the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, in the Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, under date the 13*th February* 1875.

Read—

Chief Engineer's Report of Irrigation Revenue for the year 1873-74, and annexures.

RESOLUTION.—The capital invested in canals in this province amounts at the end of the year under review to Rs. 3,15,18,966; of this amount Rs 52,26,403 had been expended during the year.

The portion of the capital due to works not yet producing revenue (i.e., the Sone and Damoodur Projects) was Rs. 1,00,24,135.

2. The assessments of the year amounted to Rs. 1,94,841, whilst the charges for maintenance and establishment were Rs 2,90,956, showing a loss of Rs. 96,115 on the transactions of the year.

The actual collections, however, only amounted to Rs. 1,47,688, showing a deficit of Rs. 1,43,268. If to this latter sum be added the charges for maintenance unpaid in previous years, viz., Rs. 5,10,726, we obtain as the total deficit on account of current expenses to the end of the year Rs. 6,53,991.

3. The difference between the assessments and collections is heavy, and occurred principally in Midnapore.

It is said to be due to the strain thrown on the establishment by the sudden demand for irrigation in October and November.

4. The interest due for the year on canals returning revenue amounts to Rs. 9,17,537; on canals not yet opened to Rs. 3,82,499: and the total charge for interest up to the end of the year to Rs. 44,61,764.

5. The total deficit chargeable therefore against the department up to the end of the year 1873-74 amounts to Rs. 51,15,758.

6. The lengths of canals open at the commencement and close of the year were as follows:—

Name of Channel.	Open at the end of 1872-73.	Open at the end of 1873-74.	Added during 1873-74.
Kendraparah Canal	39·6	39 6
Ditto Distributaries	244 8	252
Ditto Village hannels	59 5	59·5	2
High Level Canal	33·1	37·1
Ditto Distributaries	88	90
Taldundah Canal	27 3	27·3
Ditto Distributaries	64·5	64·5
Matchgong Canal .	15	15	0
Ditto Distributaries	66·8	74
Midnapore Canal	38	48	10
Ditto Distributaries	177	197 5	20·
Ditto Village Channels	77·5	77 5	0
Tidal Canals . .	29	29	0

7. The area irrigated during the year was 48,920 acres, of which 12,571 were in Orissa and 36,349 in Midnapore. These areas compare favorably with those of the previous year, which were 4,753 and 13.406 acres, respectively.

8. The collections on account of tolls on traffic amounted to Rs. 80,659 against Rs. 45,492 the previous year. They were in Orissa Rs. 18,577, in Midnapore Rs. 104, and on the Tidal Canals Rs. 27,978 and show a large increase over those of 1872-73 which were Rs. 10,044, Rs. 20,994, and Rs. 14,454, respectively. The increase is due some measure to the traffic in grain consequent on the scarcity in Behar; but as the Midnapore and Tidal Canals were only open for through traffic in October and September, respectively there are fair grounds for expecting that the traffic on these last canals will be large.

9. The works not yet completed are the Sone and Damoodur Canals; the latter has been, as stated last year, postponed indefinitely. It was hoped that the Sone Canals might have been so far completed as to allow of regular irrigation being carried on during the rainy season of 1874-75, but the temporary opening during the drought in Behar interfered so much with the progress of the works that it was not found practicable to complete them as soon as was expected. They will probably be ready by the end of the working season of 1874-75.

10. In September 1873 orders were issued to turn water into these canals and distribute it by any means. Irrigation was accordingly supplied to an estimated area of 159 470 acres, much of which received two and even three waterings.

11. The value of the crops saved by the irrigation from the Sone was about Rs. 48,00,000, and in Midnapore about Rs. 5,29,000; these would almost to a certainty have perished without the water, so that this amount may be fairly considered an indirect return from the works greater in amount than the whole accumulated deficit.

12. The reports of the Commissioner and Officiating Revenue Superintendent in Orissa, and of the Collector and Deputy Revenue Superintendent in Midnapore, give details of all that has been done during the year.

13. The Commissioner of Orissa considers that matters are going on very quickly and satisfactorily, and that although progress is but slow it is still steady, and there is reason to be hopeful for the future. The Collector of Midnapore considers the year as the most critical and most successful that has been experienced; the only limit to the amount watered being the quantity of water available, which was unfortunately much reduced by the failure of the rains.

14. On the whole, then, it may be considered that the prospects of canal irrigation and traffic being extended are very much better than when the last report was written, and that there will be some return for the capital invested.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in acknowledging the services rendered during the year by the officers of the Irrigation Department.

To Mr. Levinge, the Superintending Engineer of the Sone Canal, and to Major McNeile, Captain Heywood, Mr. Stoney, and Mr. Hope, the Executive Engineers under him, especial credit is due, not only for the rapid and excellent work which they have done in carrying on the canal construction, but for their great and untiring exertions in distributing the water to the furthest point which it could be made to reach. In Midnapore Mr. Harrison, the Collector, Mr. Kimber and Mr. Apjohn, Executive Engineers, and Baboo J. N. Mookerjee, the Deputy Superintendent, deserve great credit for their successful exertions in extending the irrigation. In Orissa Mr. Walker, the Superintending Engineer, has worked with his usual ability and energy, and Mr. Wyly, the Officiating Revenue Superintendent, has done good work.

16. Although not employed on works returning revenue, the exertions of Mr. Martin, the Superintending Engineer, and Messrs Vertannes, and DeGrousilliers and Cotton, in completing the embankments of the River Gunduck, and of Mr. Whitfield in forcing water into the old bed of the Kana Nuddee in the Hooghly Districts, deserve acknowledgment.

17. The best thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Colonel Gulliver for his efficient superintendence of the operations of the Department during the year under review.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. W. GULLIVER, Colonel, R.E.,

Offg. Joint-Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal,

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending the 13th February 1875.

No.	District and date of return.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather, state and prospects of the crops, and state of health at date.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.
Burdwan Divn. 1	Burdwan, 15th* Feb. 1875	0·22	Rainfall at Raneegunge 0·65; Culna 0·17; Bood-Bood 0·43. Beginning of the week was rainy and cold; afterwards sunny and hot. Prospects of the winter crops fair. Fever decreasing; cholera increasing.
2	Bankoora, 13th „ „	0·30	Weather cloudy during the first three days; slight rain on the 9th and dry during the rest of the week. Sugarcane is being reaped; other crops are doing well.
3	Beerbhoom, 13th „ „	0·96	Some rain has fallen. State and prospects of the crops continue favorable.
4	Midnapore, 13th „ „	0·11	Getting warmer, with occasional cloudy weather; a short storm and slight showers of rain on Monday. Prospects of crops continue the same; there is a very insignificant area under crops. Cholera is still severe in the coast.
5	Hooghly, 13th „ „	Nil	Cloudy weather on three days, and the remaining days of the week clear. Wind chiefly from north and south. Prospects of crops good.
	Howrah, 13th „ „	0·12	The weather has grown much warmer during the week. No crops to report upon.
	Central Districts.
Presidency Divn. 6	24-Pergunnahs, 15th† Feb. 1875.	0·26	Cloudy in the beginning of the week; some rain has fallen; weather getting warmer. Harvest of the late rice completed. The light rain during the week has been beneficial to cold-weather crops. Cholera still prevalent in thanas Muthoorapore, Bankipore, Devipore, Sultanpore, and Basseerhat; it has abated elsewhere; fever decreasing at Barripore.
7	Nuddea, 13th Feb. 1875	0·16	A little rain has fallen in most parts of the district. The cold-weather crops are generally doing well, but linseed has been lately somewhat injured by insects. Sugarcane is abundant and good. Ploughing for the coming season is going on.
8	Jessore, 13th „ „	0·12	Early part of the week was cloudy with slight rain. Prospects of all crops now growing are favorable.
Rajshahye Divn. 9	Moorshedabad, 13th Feb. 1875.	0·51	Drizzling rain on the 8th and 9th instant; weather getting warmer. Wheat and linseed very promising. Gram slightly injured by the drizzling rain of the 8th and 9th. Mustard and rye harvested; outturn good; prices steady. No cholera or small-pox reported.
10	Dinagepore, 12th Feb. 1875.	Nil	Rain has probably fallen in some parts, from the changes to hot and cold. With regard to the crops there is nothing to add to last report. Cold-weather crops looking well.
11	Maldah, 13th Feb. 1875	0·10	The first three days were foggy and cloudy with slight rain, the rest fair, with gradual rise in temperature. The prospects of the cold-weather crops are good. The sowings of the boro or spring rice is going on.
12	Rajshahye 13th „	0·42	There has been good rain in parts of the district on two days during the week. The prospects of the cold-weather crops continue favorable, having been improved by the late rainfall. The only crop now being reaped is mustard. A few cases of cholera and small-pox have been reported.
13	Rungpore, 12th „ „	Nil	Mornings and evenings are still cold, but the middle of the day is hot; there has been a strong breeze from north-west, west, between 12 and 3 P.M. of the last two days. Reaping operations finished. The winter crops are very good, and there seems to be no want of rain.
14	Bogra, 13th „ „	0·11	Weather fine, but a little rain on several nights. The amun, or late rice crop, nearly all in, and a good one. Cold-weather crops also promise to be very abundant; mulbery is doing well.
15	Pubna, 13th „ „	0·40	Fine and seasonable weather; rain on the 9th instant. Mator, khesari, &c., pulses are in flower and promise well. The harvesting of mustard is nearly finished. The cheena millet, jally, and boro dhan, or spring rice crops, are being sown. No sickness is reported.
Cooch Behar Divn. 16	Darjeeling, 12th „ „	0·30	The weather has become cloudy again and very cold; on the 8th there was a smart shower of rain. The rice and kullie (pulse) crops have been gathered in, and given a good outturn. In the hills wheat and buckwheat are on the ground and progressing favorably; the latter will be reaped in a week or two.
17	Julpigoree, 13th „ „	Nil	Weather much warmer than during previous week. No change in the prospects of crops, which are excellent. Ploughing going on for the ensuing early rice crop.
	Cooch Behar, 11th Feb. 1875.	Nil	Weather fine, but not so cold as last week. There is no change in the state of crops.

* Telegram of the 15th February, received on the same day, shows rainfall during the seven days immediately preceding.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet, are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page, by adding the weight of a column of air of the temperatures given in column 17. For stations above 500 feet elevation the reduction is made by Dippe's tables, as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahr. for every 450 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and its comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky; a cloudless sky being indicated by 10, and one completely overcast by 0.

The above, being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer, means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTICE.

The 15th February 1875.—Whereas it has been ascertained by careful inquiry on the spot that certain waste lands situate in the Soonderbuns, south of the district of Jessore, contain forests yielding soonder timber, the preservation of which is important in the general interest of the country, and that in the said lands there is not any private property, nor any rights save those of the State, which have not been granted to any party:

The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal hereby notifies that the ungranted waste lands situated in the Soonderbuns, south of the district of Jessore, estimated to consist of about 566,253 acres, and within the several boundaries described hereafter, have been set aside by order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal as a reserved forest tract under the provisions of Act VII of 1865, and subject to the conditions of Section II of that Act reserving intact the rights of any individual or community, if such should be found to exist. The said lands have been removed from the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of the Soonderbuns and placed in charge of the Conservator of Forests, Bengal.

Under Section IV of the said Act, the cutting of timber or collecting any forest produce from and after the 1st March 1875, within the boundaries hereinafter described, is prohibited; and any infringement of this prohibition will be dealt with according to Sections V to XV of the Act and the Rules passed in conformity therewith for all Government forests within the Lieutenant-Governorship of Bengal.

BOUNDARIES OF THE RESERVED FOREST TRACT.

Northern Boundary.

An irregular line starting from the point at which the Soonderbun forest boundary crosses the Mysaleer khal on the south of lot No. 216, and proceeding eastward along the said khal to its junction with the Seepsah river; then southwards along the Seepsah river to the point where it is joined by the Sooturkhalee river; then northwards along the said Sooturkhalee until it joins the Bhuddur river; then southwards along the Bhuddur river to the point where it is met by the khal or creek called Loutakhalee in the maps, but locally known as Khajoorbaria khal, and which said khal forms the northern boundary of lot 226 called Kurumjal; then along the south and west banks of the said Loutakhalee creek or Khajoorbaria khal to its junction with the Pussur river; then a short distance south along the Pussur river and across it to the Nora Cheela khal, which forms the north boundary of lot No. 240; then along the said Nora Cheela khal to its junction with the gang or river called Cheela Chandpie; then across the Cheela Chandpie and along the south bank of the Khurma nuddee or river as far east as its point of junction with the Bhola river, which flows on the west of the well known lots 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7, Khowlea Barisal

Eastern Boundary.

The Bhola river and the Hooringottah river.

Southern Boundary.

An irregular line commencing at the point on the east bank of the Arpangassya river, where the creek called the Taul Dooanea on the north of lot 201 joins it, and then proceeding eastward along the said Taul Dooanea to its junction with the Phool Mollinchew river; then a short distance south along the Phool Mollinchew river to the point at which the Creek named "Paut Kussa" in the maps, but locally known as Pat Koshta, joins it; then south-eastward along the said "Paut Kussa," or Pat Koshta khal or creek, to the river which flows between lots 194 and 199, not named in the maps, but evidently a continuation of the Seepsah river; then across it to the creek not named in the maps, but which flows between lots 192 and 194, and which, commencing from a point nearly opposite the east extremity of the creek called "Paut Kussa," or Pat Koshta, falls into the Morzal river close to its junction with the Pussur river; then across the Morzal to the Pussur river, and a short distance southward along the Pussur river to its junction with the Bangarah river; then southward along the Bangarah river to the point at which it flows into the Bay of Bengal; and the Bay of Bengal between the Bangarah and Hooringottah rivers.

Western Boundary.

The Arpangassya river from its junction with the creek called Taul Dooanea on the north of lot 201 northwards as far as the khal called Gol Khallee on the south of lot 211, then east along the said Gol Khallee to the Shakhbaria river; then northwards along the Shakhbaria river as far north as the point at which it joins the Coyra nuddee or river; then south, north, and eastward along the bends of the said Coyra nuddee or river to a khal or creek not named in the maps, but which said khal flows in a north and south direction, the north end joining the Mysaleer khal near the point at which the said Mysaleer khal is crossed by the line boundary of the Soonderbun forest, and the south end flowing into that bend of the Coyra nuddee or river which flows on the extreme north of lot 213.

Boundaries of the Reserved Forest Tract.

Northern Boundary.

An irregular line starting from the point at which the Soonderbun forest boundary crosses the Mysaleer khal on the south of lot No. 216, and proceeding eastward along the said khal to its junction with the Seepsah river; then southwards along the Seepsah river to the point where it is joined by the Sooturkhalee river; then northwards along the said Sooturkhalee until it joins the Bhuddur river; then southwards along the Bhuddur river to the point where it is met by the khal or creek called Loutakhalee in the maps, but locally known as Khajoorbaria khal, and which said khal forms the northern boundary of lot 226 called Kurumjal; then along the south and west banks of the said Loutakhalee creek or Khajoorbaria khal to its junction with the Pussur river; then a short distance south along the Pussur river and across it to the Nora Cheela khal, which forms the north boundary of lot No. 240; then along the said Nora Cheela khal to its junction with the gang or river called Cheela Chandpie; then across the Cheela Chandpie and along the south bank of the Khurma nuddee or river as far east as its point of junction with the Bhola river, which flows on the west of the well known lots 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7, Khowlea Barisal.

Eastern Boundary.

The Bhola river and the Hooringottah river.

Southern Boundary.

An irregular line commencing at the point on the east bank of the Arpangassya river, where the creek called the Taul Dooanea on the north of lot 201 joins it, and then proceeding eastward along the said Taul Dooanea to its junction with the Phool Mollinchew river; then a short distance south along the Phool Mollinchew river to the point at which the Creek named "Paut Kussa" in the maps, but locally known as Pat Koshta, joins it; then south-eastward along the said "Paut Kussa," or Pat Koshta khal or creek, to the river which flows between lots 194 and 199, not named in the maps, but evidently a continuation of the Seepsah river; then across it to the creek not named in the maps, but which flows between lots 192 and 194, and which, commencing from a point nearly opposite the east extremity of the creek called "Paut Kussa," or Pat Koshta, falls into the Morzal river close to its junction with the Pussur river; then across the Morzal to the Pussur river, and a short distance southward along the Pussur river to its junction with the Bangarah river; then southward along the Bangarah river to the point at which it flows into the Bay of Bengal; and the Bay of Bengal between the Bangarah and Hooringottah rivers.

Western Boundary.

The Arpangassya river from its junction with the creek called Taul Dooanea on the north of lot 201 northwards as far as the khal called Gol Khallee on the south of lot 211, then east along the said Gol Khallee to the Shakhbaria river; then northwards along the Shakhbaria river as far north as the point at which it joins the Coyra nuddee or river; then south, north, and eastward along the bends of the said Coyra nuddee or river to a khal or creek not named in the maps, but which said khal flows in a north and south direction, the north end joining the Mysaleer khal near the point at which the said Mysaleer khal is crossed by the line boundary of the Soonderbun forest, and the south end flowing into that bend of the Coyra nuddee or river which flows on the extreme north of lot 213.

Advertisements.

[N.B.—Advertisements, Notices, &c., intended for insertion in this part of the Gazette cannot be received after Noon on Monday.]

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of land, no longer required by the Government, situated in the district of Bhagulpore, S. P., will be put up to sale at the Assistant Commissioner's Cutcherry at Rajmehal, at 11 o'clock A.M., on Monday, the 15th March 1875, corresponding with 2nd Choitro 1281, B.S.

The purchasers of these plots will be subject to the following conditions:—

1*st.*—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

2*nd.*—If the amount of purchase-money exceeds Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

3*rd.*—The plots will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.

4*th.*—The purchasers shall be put in possession on receipt of the orders of the Collector confirming the sales. But such possession shall be liable to be disturbed in case the final sanction of the Member of the Board of Revenue in charge should not be accorded to the proceedings.

নিলামের ইশ্‌তিহার।

জিলা ভাগলপুর সাঁওতাল পরগনা।

ইস্তিহার নামা কাছারি রেলওয়ে ডেপুটি কালেক্টরী এজেলাস শ্রীযুক্ত মে, উইলিয়ম হেশ্যাম সাহেব রেলওয়ে ডেপুটি কালেক্টর। মোকাম কাছারী মুঙ্গের।

এতদ্দ্বারা সংবাদ দেওয়া যাইতেছে যে জিলা ভাগলপুরের অন্তর্গত সাঁওতাল পরগনার মধ্যবর্ত্তী নিম্নলিখিত ভূমি সরকার বাহাদুরের আর আবশ্যক না থাকা প্রযুক্ত তাহা নিম্নলিখিত নিয়মানুসারে ১৮৭৫ সালের ২৫ মার্চ মোতাবেক বাঙ্গালা ১২৮১ সালের ২ চৈত্র সোমবার বেলা ১১ ঘণ্টার সময় মোঃ রাজমহলের আসিষ্টাণ্ট কমিশনরের কছারিতে নিলাম বিক্রয় হইবেক

১। এক শত টাকার অনধিক পণ হইলে সেই সমুদয় টাকা তৎক্ষণাৎ দিতে হইবেক।

২। এক শত টাকার অধিক পণ হইলে ডাক পণের চারি অংশের এক অংশ তৎক্ষণাৎ দিতে হইবেক, বিক্রয়ের দিবস এক দিন ধরিয়া গণনা করিলে বিক্রয়ের পঞ্চদশ দিনের মধ্যাহ্নকালে কিম্বা সেই দিবস বন্ধের দিন হইলে তৎপরে প্রথম যে দিন কাছারি খোলা যায় সেই দিবস মধ্যাহ্নকালে যদি অবশিষ্ট দাখিল না হয় তবে বিক্রয় রহিত ও গচ্ছিত টাকা গবর্ণমেণ্টে জব্দ হইবে, ও প্রথম স্থলীয় বিক্রয়ের ন্যায় পুনর্ব্বার বিজ্ঞাপন প্রকাশ করণ পূর্ব্বক ঐ ক্রটীকারি ক্রেতার ঝুঁকিতে সেই মহাল পুনর্ব্বার বিক্রয় হইবেক।

৩। ঐ জমি সকল সর্ব্ব উচ্চ ডাককারিকে নিষ্কর বিক্রয় করা যাইবে।

৪। শ্রীযুত কালেক্টর সাহেব নিলাম মঞ্জুর করিলে ক্রেতাদিগকে দখল দেওয়া যাইবেক কিন্তু মহামান্য রেবিনিউ বোর্ডের মেম্বর ইনচার্য্য বাহাদুরের অমত হইলে দখল অলঙ্ঘ ও বলবৎ থাকিবে না।

 The Rig Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholar like knowlege of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country —Extract from Preface

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholar-like knowlege of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

Bills of the Legislative Council of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to extend certain parts of the Code of Criminal Procedure to the Courts of the Police Magistrates in the Presidency Towns was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

From Government of Madras, dated 24th April 1874.
Memorial from British Indian Association, dated 24th November 1874.
From Government of Bengal, No. 4651, dated 7th December 1874.
Note by Mr. P. Dickens, dated 30th December 1874.
From Government of Bombay, No. 755, dated 8th February 1875.
Notes by Mr. H T. Prinsep, Judge of Hooghly, dated 12th February 1875.

2. We have altered the local extent of the proposed Act so as to make it include the ports of the Presidency Towns.

3. We propose to confer on the Police Magistrates and the Court of Petty Sessions at Bombay the powers of Magistrates of the first class, and to give an appeal from their decisions to the High Court where the sentence involves imprisonment for more than a year or fine of more than Rs. 500. We have declared that cases tried under the proposed Act may be tried summarily, and we have embodied by reference the fourth schedule of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

4. We have carefully revised the first schedule and made some additions to the second.

5. We think that the Bill has been so altered as to require republication.

The 16th February 1875.

A Bill to extend certain parts of the Code of Criminal Procedure to the Courts of the Police Magistrates in the Presidency Towns, and to increase the jurisdiction of such Courts.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to extend certain parts of the Code of Criminal Procedure to the Courts of the Magistrates of Police in the Towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, and whereas it is also expedient to increase the jurisdiction of such Courts; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title

1. This Act may be called "The Presidency Police Magistrates Act, 1875:"

Local extent

It extends to all places within the local limits of the ordinary original criminal jurisdiction of the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William, Madras and Bombay, and within the limits of the Ports of the said towns and of any navigable river or channel leading thereto as such limits are defined under the law for the time being in force for the regulation of Ports and Port-dues.

Commencement.

And it shall come into force at once.

Repeal of enactments.

2. The enactments specified in the second schedule hereto annexed shall be repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of the same schedule.

Parts of Criminal Procedure Code to apply to Presidency Police Courts.

3. The parts of the Code of Criminal Procedure (Act No. X of 1872 as amended by Act No. XI of 1874) mentioned in the first column of the first schedule hereto annexed shall apply (so far as they are applicable and subject to the modifications shewn in the second column of the same schedule) to the Courts of the Magistrates of Police in the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, and to the Court of Petty Sessions at Bombay.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to restrict any power conferred by any special or local law.

'Magistrate of District' to include 'Magistrate of Police.'

4. In the parts of the said Code so applied, the expressions 'Magistrate,' 'Magistrate of a District,' 'Magistrate of a Division of a District,' 'Magistrate of the first class,' 'a competent Magistrate,' 'Magistrate having jurisdiction,' and every other expression applicable to a Magistrate of the District, shall be deemed to include a Magistrate of Police and the Court of Petty Sessions at Bombay, and 'District' shall be deemed to mean a Presidency Town as defined in section 4 of the said Code.

'District.'

Powers of Magistrates of Police

5. The said Magistrates of Police and the Court of Petty Sessions at Bombay shall have the powers of Magistrates of the first class under the said Code, or with which such Magistrates may be invested, except powers under the following sections, (namely) Sections 44 to 47 (both inclusive), 110, 135, 222, 226, 295, 296, 328, 415, 416, 417 and 530.

Appeal.

6. Any person convicted on a trial held by one of the said Magistrates of Police, or by the said Court of Petty Sessions, may appeal to the High Court if the sentence complained of involves imprisonment for a term exceeding one year or a fine exceeding five hundred rupees:

Provided that, where an accused person has been convicted on his own plea, no appeal shall lie except as to the extent or legality of the sentence.

For the purposes of the Indian Limitation Act, all appeals under this section shall be deemed to be appeals under the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Cases may be tried summarily.

7. All cases tried under this Act by Magistrates of Police, or by the said Court of Petty Sessions, may be tried summarily.

Reference to schedule IV to Code of Criminal Procedure.

8. Whether a warrant or summons shall issue in the first instance, whether an offence is bailable or not, and the Court by which the offence is triable under this Act, shall be deemed to be indicated respectively by the fourth, fifth and seventh columns of the fourth schedule annexed to the Code of Criminal Procedure, and by the explanatory notes prefixed to such schedule.

The following Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 16th February 1875 :—

We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the law relating to Probates and Letters of Administration was referred, have considered the papers noted in the margin, and we have the honour to present this further report.

From Secretary to Chief Commissioner of Coorg, No. 684-1, dated 25th January 1875.
From Government, North-Western Provinces, No. 68A, dated 29th January 1875, and enclosure
From Government of the Panjáb, No. 279, dated 27th January 1875.
From Acting Registrar, High Court, Bombay, No. 97, dated 30th January 1875, and enclosure.
From Government of Bengal, No 523, dated 2nd February 1875.
From Government of Bombay, No. 607, dated 1st February 1875, and enclosures.
From Government of Fort St. George, No. 245, dated 4th February 1875, and enclosures.

2. We have added two clauses, one (founded on 55 Geo. III, c. 184, s. 51) granting relief from Court-fees in certain cases where debts due from a deceased person have been paid out of his estate by his executor or administrator; the other (founded on 48 Geo. III, c. 149, s. 35) declaring that Probates and Letters of Administration shall be valid as to trust-property, though the value thereof is not covered by the Court-fee.

3. We have also added clauses providing for cases where too low a Court-fee has been paid on probates or letters of administration and imposing a penalty on executors and administrators not paying the full Court-fee within six months after the discovery of the under-payment. These clauses are founded on sections 41 to 43 of 55 Geo. III, c. 184.

4. We have made the provisions of the Bill relating to Court-fees on probates and letters of administration apply, mutatis mutandis, to certificates under Acts XL of 1858 and XX of 1864.

5. To section 3, clause (a), of the Bill as introduced, we have added words providing for the case of the stamp having been already cancelled, and in clause (c), we have omitted as useless the words "if the difference be considerable."

6. We have slightly altered the form of the Bill and arranged it so that its enacting parts shall fit into the Indian Succession Act and the Court-fees Act, the two enactments which it proposes to amend.

7. We have made no other changes, and recommend that the Bill thus altered be passed.

8. We think it had better be republished; but that its passing need not be deferred for more than three weeks.

The 15th February 1875.

A Bill to amend the law relating to Probates and Letters of Administration.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, under the Indian Succession Act, 1865, the effect of an unlimited grant of probate or letters of administration made by any Court in British India is confined to the Province in which such grant is made: And whereas it is expedient to extend over British India the effect of such grants when made by a High Court; And whereas it is also expedient to amend the Court Fees Act, 1870, as to probates, letters of administration and certificates of administration: It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Addition to Act No. X of 1865, section 242.

1. To section 242 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, the following proviso shall be added (namely) :—

Unlimited grants of probate or letters of administration made by a High Court after 1st April 1875, to take effect throughout British India.

"Provided that probates and letters of administration granted by a High Court after the first day of April, 1875, shall, unless otherwise directed by the grant, have like effect throughout the whole of British India."

2. The following section shall be inserted after the said proviso (namely) :—

Transmission of certificate by High Court granting probate, &c., to other Courts.

"242A. Whenever a grant of probate or letters of administration is made by a High Court with such effect as last aforesaid, the Registrar or such other officer as the High Court making the grant appoints in this behalf shall send to each of the other High Courts a certificate to the following effect :—

"I, A. B., Registrar [or as the case may be] of the High Court of Judicature at [or of the Chief Court of the Panjáb, or of the Court of the Judicial Commissioner of] hereby certify that on the day of 187 the High Court of Judicature at [or as the case may be] granted probate of the will [or letters of administration of the estate] of C. D. late of deceased to E. F. and G. H. of , and that such probate [or letters] has [or have] effect over all the property of the deceased throughout the whole of British India;"

and such certificate shall be filed by the High Court receiving the same.

3. After section 246 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, the following section shall be inserted (namely) :—

Addition after section 246 of Act X of 1865.

"246A. Every person applying to a High Court for probate of a will or letters of administration of an estate, intended to have effect throughout British India, shall state in his petition, in addition to the matters respectively required by section 241 and section 246 of this Act, that to the best of his belief no application has been made to any other High Court for a probate of the same will or for letters of administration of the same estate, intended to have such effect as last aforesaid, or, where any such application has been made, the High Court by which it was made, the person or persons by whom it was made, and the proceedings (if any) had thereon.

Additional statements in petition for probate, &c.

And the High Court to which any application is made under the proviso to section 242 of this Act may, if it think fit, reject the same."

4. After section 277 of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, the following section shall be inserted (namely) :—

Addition after section 277 of Act X of 1865.

"278A. In all cases where it is sought to obtain a grant of probate or letters of administration intended to have effect throughout the whole of British India, the executor, or the person applying for administration after the first day of April, 1875, to the effects, of any person dying in British India and leaving property in more than one Province shall include in the inventory of the effects of the deceased his moveable or immoveable property situate in each of the Provinces:

Inventory may include property in any part of British India.

And the value of such property situate in the said Provinces, respectively, shall be separately stated in such inventory, and the probate or letters of administration shall be chargeable with a fee corresponding to the entire amount or value of the property affected thereby wheresoever situate within British India."

5. After section nineteen of the Court Fees Act, 1870, the following chapter shall be inserted, (namely) :

Addition to Act No. VII of 1870.

"CHAPTER III.

"PROBATES, LETTERS OF ADMINISTRATION AND CERTIFICATES OF ADMINISTRATION.

"19A. Where any person on applying for the probate of a will or letters of administration has estimated the property of the deceased to be of greater value than the same has afterwards proved to be, and has consequently paid too high a Court-fee thereon, if within six months after the true value of the property has been ascertained, such person produces the probate or letters to the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority of the Province in which the probate or letters has or have been granted, and delivers to such Authority a particular inventory and valuation of the property of the deceased, verified by affidavit or affirmation, and if such Authority is satisfied that a greater fee was paid on the probate or letters than the law required, the said Authority may—

Relief where too high a court-fee has been paid.

(a) cancel the stamp on the probate or letters, if such stamp has not been already cancelled;

(b) substitute another stamp for denoting the Court-fee which should have been paid thereon; and

(c) make an allowance for the difference between them as in the case of spoiled stamps, or repay the same in money, at his discretion.

"19B. Whenever it is proved to the satisfaction of such Authority that an executor or administrator has paid debts due from the deceased to such an amount as, being deducted out of the amount or value of the estate, reduces the same to a sum which, if it had been the whole gross amount or value of the estate, would have occasioned a less Court-fee to be paid on the probate or letters of administration granted in respect of such estate, than has been actually paid thereon under this Act, such Authority may return the difference, provided the same be claimed within three years after the date of such probate or letters.

But when, by reason of any legal proceeding, the debts due from the deceased have not been ascertained and paid, or his effects have not been recovered and made available, and in consequence thereof the executor or administrator is prevented from claiming the return of such difference within the said term of three years, the said Authority may allow such further time for making the claim as may appear to be reasonable under the circumstances.

"19C. Whenever such a grant of probate or letters of administration has been or is made in respect of the whole of the property belonging to an estate, and the full fee chargeable under this Act has been or is paid thereon, no fee shall be chargeable under the same Act when a like grant is made in respect of the whole or any part of the same property belonging to the same estate;

Relief in case of several grants.

Whenever such a grant has been or is made in respect of any property forming part of an estate, the amount of fees then actually paid under this Act shall be deducted when a like grant is made in respect of property belonging to the same estate, identical with or including the property to which the former grant relates.

"19D. The probate of the will, or the letters of administration of the effects, of any person deceased heretofore or hereafter granted shall be deemed valid and available by his executors or administrators for recovering, transferring or assigning any moveable or immoveable property whereof or whereto the deceased was possessed or entitled, either wholly or partially as a trustee, notwithstanding the amount or value of such property is not included in the amount or value of the estate in respect of which a Court-fee was paid on such probate or letters of administration.

Probates declared valid as to trust-property though not covered by Court-fee.

"19E. Where any person on applying for probate or letters of administration has estimated the estate of the deceased to be of less value than the same has afterwards proved to be, and has in consequence paid too low a Court-fee thereon, the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority of the Province in which the probate or letters has or have been granted, may, on the value of the estate of the deceased being verified by affidavit or affirmation, cause the probate or letters of administration to be duly stamped on payment of the full Court-fee which ought to have been originally paid thereon in respect of such value and of the further penalty, if the probate or letters is or are produced within one year from the date of the grant, of five times, or if it or they is or are produced after one year from such date, of twenty times, such proper Court-fee, without any deduction of the Court-fee originally paid on such probate or letters:

Provided that if the application be made within six months after the ascertainment of the true value of the estate and the discovery that too low a Court-fee was at first paid on the probate or letters, and if the said Authority is satisfied that such fee was paid in consequence of a mistake or of its not being known at the time that some particular part of the estate belonged to the deceased, and without any intention of fraud or to delay the payment of the proper Court-fee, the said Authority may remit the said penalty, and cause the probate or letters to be duly stamped on payment only of the sum wanting to make up the fee which should have been at first paid thereon.

Administrator to give proper security before letters stamped under section 19 E.

"19 F. In case of letters of administration on which too low a Court-fee has been paid at first, the said Authority shall not cause the same to be duly stamped in manner aforesaid until the administrator has given such security to the Court by which the letters of administration have been granted as ought by law to have been given on the granting thereof in case the full value of the estate of the deceased had been then ascertained.

Executors, &c., not paying full Court-fee on probates, &c., within six months after discovery of underpayment.

"19 G. Where too low a Court-fee has been paid on any probate or letters of administration in consequence of any mistake or of its not being known at the time that some particular part of the estate belonged to the deceased, if any executor or administrator acting under such probate or letters does not, within six months after the first day of April, 1875, or after the discovery of the mistake or of any effects not known at the time to have belonged to the deceased, apply to the said Authority and pay what is wanting to make up the Court-fee which ought to have been paid at first on such probate or letters, he shall forfeit the sum of one thousand rupees and also a further sum at the rate of ten rupees per cent. on the amount of the sum wanting to make up the proper Court-fee.

Sections 19A to 19G applied to certificates under Acts XL of 1858 and XX of 1864

"19 H. The provisions of sections 19 A to 19 G (both inclusive) shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to certificates granted under Act No. XL of 1858 (for making better provision for the care of the persons and property of Minors in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal) or Act No. XX of 1864 (for making better provision for the care of the persons and property of Minors in the Presidency of Bombay) and to the holders of such certificates."

RECOVERY OF ADVANCES MADE BY GOVERNMENT.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER moved that the Bill to provide for the summary realization of sums due on account of loans made by Government during the late famine operations be passed.

His Honor the President said, before the motion was put, he wished to make one or two remarks briefly on the subject of this Bill. He would first desire to express the satisfaction with which he heard the various remarks that fell from the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Kristodas Pal). The hon'ble member, who might be considered to be one of the best informed Native gentlemen in Bengal, had borne the strongest testimony as to the necessity that existed for the making of these advances; and considering the hon'ble member was peculiarly cognisant of the views of the great landholding classes in this country, His Honor might assume that this very influential and highly educated class entirely concurred with the Government as to the necessity of making these advances. His hon'ble friend, however, had stated that a departmental bias might exist in respect to the recovery of these advances by the regular revenue officers. Now, he begged to remind the Council that the officers to whom the powers of the Bill, if it should pass into law, would be entrusted were members of the Covenanted Civil Service. It had always been one of the traditional and time-honoured principles of the Civil Service to defend the defenceless, to assist the helpless, and to cherish the poor. Further, although the Government was generally strict and particular in the realization of its demands, still he thought that every Native member of the Council would bear him out when he said that moderation and carefulness had always been the characteristics of the revenue management in these provinces. That being the general wish and policy of the Government, we might be sure that not only would the Covenanted Civil Servants act up to that intention on behalf of the Government, but would give a tone to the various Native officials, especially the Deputy Collectors, employed under them in the administration of the law. His hon'ble friend further justly drew attention to the importance of the Government not being too hasty and harsh in the recovery of the advances. His Honor thought he could assure the Council that there was not the slightest fear of any such result occurring if the Bill was passed. From the very first he had issued instructions to the local officers not to be too quick in the enforcement of these demands, and to give the people all reasonable time for repayment. If the Bill passed, it was his intention to issue further orders to the same effect. He thought, if ever there was a case in which the executive might claim confidence from the Legislature, this was one. It would surely be apparent to the Council that we were not likely now to ruin men whose lives we had interposed to save.

He would further express his satisfaction at many of the remarks which fell from his hon'ble and learned friend the Advocate-General. It was of course satisfactory to him to hear upon such excellent authority that the documents, registers, deeds, and all other papers connected with these advances, were upon examination found by the Advocate-General to be accurately and clearly drawn. Accustomed as the Advocate-General was to judge in these affairs—affairs generally conducted in times of peace and security,—His Honor was convinced the Council would perceive the care that must have been taken on the part of the Government and its officers to ensure so much regularity and precision, not in quiet times, but in times of urgency and distress. He believed that if this Bill should pass into law, there was little or no chance of its provisions being to any large extent carried into effect. The people who took these advances evinced the most laudable disposition to discharge their just dues to Government. At the same time it was just possible that amongst so large a number of men, who numbered literally tens of thousands in each of the lately distressed districts, there might be one or two individual cases here and there of men who desired to evade their just obligations. It was also possible that amongst a comparatively ignorant peasantry such an example would have a bad effect. It was therefore necessary that the people should know that the Government had power by this law summarily to enforce payment of these demands, and that such knowledge should operate to prevent any attempt at evasion.

Furthermore, if these advances should be recovered by summary process, it was clear that all chance of litigation would be avoided. Now, he need not point out to the Native members of the Council that if such litigation were to arise between the Government and the ryots, great inconvenience would be caused to the landholders, who at this period had arrears of rent to collect in all these lately distressed districts. The attempt to enforce the lien on the crop on the part of two different parties; the possibility of the crops being distrained or seized for the Government demand at the same time that the zemindars had to collect their rents, might cause great confusion in the agricultural arrangements of these districts. He was sure that if the Bill should be passed into law, all that confusion would be avoided, inasmuch as the possibility of litigation would be precluded.

With these remarks, then, he would commend this Bill to the consideration of the Council.

The motion was agreed to, and the Bill passed.

REGULATION OF JUTE WAREHOUSES

The Hon'ble Mr. Hogg presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Jute-Warehouse and Fire-brigade Act, 1872, and moved that the Report be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Hogg also moved that the clauses be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The Hon'ble Baboo Doorga Churn Law moved the following amendments:—

"In section 2, in lieu of the 2nd paragraph, insert the following:—

'Every license for a jute warehouse granted under this section shall be subject to the following conditions—

(1.) That no loose jute, jute rejections or cuttings, or cotton, shall be stored, or screwed, or pressed, save within a building the walls of which shall be of masonry, and all the roof of which shall be of masonry or of tiles, and the beams of which shall be of wood or iron.

(2.) That such jute warehouse and buildings therein shall be supplied with solid doors or gates, which can be securely closed.

(3.) That no portion of such jute warehouse shall be used as a residence, and no artificial light or lucifer matches shall be introduced therein, and that no person shall smoke therein

(5.) That the engines and furnaces used in such jute warehouse shall be placed as may be considered necessary for safety by the Justices.

"	750
"	500
"	250

and shall be paid in such instalments as the Justices may direct.

(7.) Such other special conditions as the Justices, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, may, on consideration of the special circumstances of such jute warehouse, deem necessary for the convenience of trade, or to prevent risk to life and property in the neighbourhood.'

"Omit Section 8."

He said, in proposing these amendments he would take the liberty to observe that it was unconstitutional to pass a penal law without defining the offences for which penalties were prescribed. The power given to Government was nominal: it would be practically exercised by the municipal Corporations; and would it be proper to delegate the functions of the legislature to those Corporations? It was true that it was difficult to lay down hard-and-fast rules that would meet all cases; but he thought it was possible to lay down such general rules that would apply equally to all cases, leaving the Executive to add such special rules as might be suggested by local peculiarities or the circumstances of each case. He had taken most of the conditions from the existing Act, divesting them of their objectionable features, and they seemed to him to be so general and necessary, that they must find a place in whatever rules might hereafter be determined upon.

The only other point was the reduction of the minimum fee from Rs. 250 to Rs. 150. He considered the existing rate too high for the smaller jute warehouses. Jute was an important article of commerce; and by throwing obstacles in its way, it would gradually disappear from the town, and house property must seriously suffer in the end.

The HON'BLE MR. BROOKES asked if it was the intention to publish the report of the Select Committee and the papers relating to the Bill. He thought it was desirable to do so, in order that those interested might have the opportunity of addressing the Government or the Council upon the subject

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT stated that he would direct the publication of the report and papers in the next Calcutta Gazette.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, in the Report of the Select Committee it was mentioned that there was a difference of opinion amongst the members as to whether the conditions which might be imposed on these licenses should be set out in the Bill, or whether a discretion should be given to the Lieutenant-Governor to impose such conditions as he might think proper without further restriction. MR. DAMPIER had been in the minority on that point. He considered that it was not desirable for the Council to throw on the Executive Government altogether the responsibility of prescribing the conditions under which licenses for jute warehouses should be granted. He thought it would be more satisfactory to the public and those concerned in the trade if some attempt were made by the Council to define the restrictions to which their trade and their operations might be subjected under the law. The Bill before the Council did not have its origin in any difficulty felt by the Executive Government as to imposing conditions on licenses which it considered to be desirable, but which the law did not authorize it to impose. The real difficulty which led to the introduction of the Bill was just the other way,—that the law insisted on certain conditions being imposed which experience had shown not to be necessary in all cases. It appeared to him that the best form for the Bill would be to set out, first, such conditions as it was absolutely necessary to impose on every jute warehouse, wherever it might be situated, and then to set out a further set of discretionary conditions, any of which the Justices, or whoever might be the licensing authority, might impose on each license, according to the circumstances of the case. For instance, a jute warehouse situated in a crowded neighbourhood and surrounded by very valuable property should obviously be more hedged in and guarded by greater restrictions than one in a less crowded locality. But the views which he advanced in Committee did not find favour with the majority.

The amendments which the hon'ble member opposite (Baboo Doorga Churn Law) had brought forward did not entirely meet the views which MR. DAMPIER expressed in the suggestions he had made, but would go some way towards meeting them. In his amendments, the hon'ble mover had proposed to omit those conditions which had been found to be unnecessarily restrictive; such as that jute should not be dried and combed except in a roofed building, and that the roofs of warehouses should be entirely of iron or of masonry; and with those two exceptions he had proposed to re-enact entirely the conditions which were imposed by the existing law. So far so good; but then he went on, in clause (7) of section 2, to propose what seemed to MR. DAMPIER to be objectionable. After setting out the conditions which must necessarily be imposed in every case, the amendment proceeded to empower the Lieutenant-Governor to impose "such other special conditions as the special circumstances of each jute warehouse might render necessary for the convenience of trade or to prevent risk to life and property in the neighbourhood." If the Lieutenant-Governor might impose such additional conditions which might be devised on the occasion of each individual license being applied for, it was clear that no restriction whatever was imposed on the exercise of his discretion by setting out (as the amendment did) certain conditions which he must impose. Therefore the amendment did not go so far as MR. DAMPIER should have wished. He should like first to have the compulsory restrictions defined in the Act—all those which experience had shown to be absolutely necessary in the case of every license; and then to set out a list of discretional restrictions, leaving the Lieutenant-Governor to impose any of those which the circumstances of each case might require. If this were done, those engaged in the jute trade could not be suddenly called upon by the Executive to subject themselves to some newly contrived restriction which was not contemplated by the legislature.

The second part of section 8 of the Bill provided for the making of rules for regulating "all other matters connected with the enforcement of the Jute Warehouse and Fire-brigade Act, 1872, and this Act." That provision could not well be omitted, as provided in the amendment. Therefore MR. DAMPIER could not support the amendment, and would himself make another motion directly.

Another point to which he would refer was in connection with the representation submitted by the British Indian Association. They said that the owners of roperies were obliged to keep on their premises a certain quantity of loose jute for the purposes of their trade. He would ask the hon'ble mover of the Bill whether the objection had any practical existence. If the facts were as they were put; if the law did not admit of any of the restrictions regarding jute godowns being relaxed on behalf of jute taken in for daily consumption in a ropery, then he thought that the representation of the British Indian Association deserved consideration. The motion, which he would put in a definite form, was "that the Bill be referred back to the Select Committee, with instructions to define separately and expressly such conditions as shall necessarily be imposed by every license, and such additional conditions as may be imposed by any license, according to the circumstances of each case in which a license may be granted."

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said, he was not prepared to accept the amendment proposed by the hon'ble member on his left (Baboo Doorga Churn Law), nor the other amendment proposed by the hon'ble member opposite (Mr. Dampier). As he explained when he asked permission to introduce the Bill, it seemed to him that the proper course was not to lay down hard-and-fast rules, but to leave the matter altogether to the executive authority, with a view from time to time to fix such rules as experience might render necessary. The first of the amendments before the Council of which notice had been given would almost altogether nullify the objects for which the Bill was introduced, as the present cause of complaint by jute warehouse proprietors was that it was practically impossible to dry jute in confined godowns, and that it was absolutely necessary, therefore, to allow considerable latitude to the owners and occupiers of jute godowns, with a view to allow them, where the locality permitted, to dry jute in the open, so as to have the benefit of sun and air. As clause (1) of the amendment laid down that "no loose jute, jute rejections or jute cuttings, or cotton, shall be stored, or screwed, or pressed, save within a building the walls of which shall be of masonry," that would entirely prevent jute being dried in the manner considered absolutely necessary by those interested in the jute trade.

[The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER explained that the provision regarding the combing and drying of jute contained in the existing law was omitted in the amendment.]

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG continued.—It was impossible to expect the owners or occupiers of jute warehouses to remove their jute daily for the purpose of drying, and have it removed again at night. To do so would entail great expense, which the legislature ought not to impose upon the proprietors and occupiers of jute warehouses. He had had the advantage of a personal interview with one of the chief proprietors of jute warehouses, the manager of the Camperdown Jute Company, who pointed out the defects of the present law, and complained of the vexatious interference of the suburban municipal authorities in the working of the Act. He was the representative of a large Company having their head-quarters at Glasgow, whose interest it was to secure their property from fire. MR. HOGG found that the place of business of this Company was at Cossipore; that it was well managed, and situated far from crowded localities, and no restrictive enactments were called for in governing the arrangements of that particular warehouse. It was far from all other habitations, and had enclosed within its walls a considerable space of land. In institutions of that sort, he thought it should be left to the discretion of the managers to dry and comb jute in the open air. He merely gave this illustration as a case in point, to shew that all hard-and-first rules, however lax, would be too stringent to be imposed upon a jute godown situated in an isolated position.

If the Council adopted the amendment proposed by the hon'ble member opposite (Mr. Dampier), it must necessarily lay down both classes of rules, which he proposed should be of different degrees of stringency,—one a set of hard-and-fast rules to govern all jute godowns, whether in the town or the suburbs, or in Howrah; the other a set of still more stringent rules, which would be extended, at the option of the Lieutenant-Governor, to any special localities. If such clauses were adopted, considerable inconvenience must necessarily follow, as the rules could not be so drafted as to meet every case. Circumstances might year by year arise which would render it necessary in some cases to relax the rules, and in other cases to make them more stringent.

It was objected by the hon'ble member on his left (Baboo Doorga Churn Law), that it was an unconstitutional course for the legislature to delegate its authority to the executive, and to pass penal clauses for offences which were not laid down in the Act itself. From this objection it would really seem as if this were an entirely new course, The Council had merely to refer to Act VII of 1864, the British Burmah Municipal Law, and the Act which was passed in 1873 for the Municipality of Oude. We there found exactly the same power given to the executive to pass bye-laws and penal clauses imposing penalties for the infringement of any bye-law passed by the Municipality under the sanction of the law.

He trusted that the amendments before the Council would not be accepted, but that the principle which had guided the Select Committee, namely to leave to the executive authority to frame rules subject to the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, would be adhered to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch said, as one of those members of the Select Committee who adopted the report which was submitted to the Council, he wished to say a few words in regard to our having taken away from the Council the whole responsibility of laying down strict rules. It struck him that the main point for consideration was the situation of these jute warehouses. There were three classes into which they might be divided in reference to their situation. First came those which were in the heart of a wealthy and populous town; next those which were situated at some distance from the crowded thoroughfares of the town; and the third class comprised those warehouses which were situated in almost open spots, where there would be very little risk of fire to the property in the neighbourhood. To ask the Council to lay down rules which would apply to all these classes of jute warehouses would be to impose on them an extremely difficult task. In fact, as had been just said by the hon'ble mover of the Bill, those rules which would apply to one locality would not apply to another. We therefore thought it better that rules suited to each locality should be drafted by the Municipality within whose jurisdiction the places proposed to be effected were situate. They would have better means of judging than this Council what the circumstances of each locality required, and would have the advantage of the opinion of many of their members who were more or less interested in the trade. The opinion so digested would go up to the Government, and the Government would exercise a discretion in refusing to sanction the rules if they considered them unnecessarily harsh on the one hand, or unnecessarily lax upon the other.

With regard to the conditions proposed in the amendment, he must observe, as the hon'ble mover of the Bill had mentioned, that the first clause was open to the objection which had been raised. There was no provision made in the proposed conditions for the combing and drying of raw jute, and that would necessitate the removal of the jute every day from the main building to the yard or elsewhere, which would involve a very heavy expenditure. The proposed conditions had been taken, with that one exception, from those in the present Act. In the second condition it was stated that "such jute warehouse, and the buildings therein, shall be supplied with solid doors or gates, which can be securely closed." He was aware that the Port Commissioners had a building in which they certainly violated the condition that the beams should be of iron; but, on consideration by the Justices, they allowed a license, believing that iron was not a really necessary material. But the warehouse had solid doors, which were shut up at night, and ventilation was thereby shut out from the jute stored in the building. The consequence was, that many complaints were made that the want of ventilation was very injurious to the jute.

In the third condition it was proposed that "no artificial light" should be introduced. Now one of the great objections to the operation of the Act was that in consequence of this prohibition work could not be carried on at night.

Then, the hon'ble member opposite (Mr Dampier) observed that no consideration had been given to the question of the storage day by day of small quantities of loose jute for the purpose of manufacturing rope. MR. SCHALCH thought there was a good deal in what had been urged in behalf of a provision of that kind by the British Indian Association; and he should like to see some provision made for this purpose, by referring the Bill back to the Select Committee, or by the subject being taken into consideration by an amendment being moved at the next meeting of the Council.

There was one other point which the hon'ble mover of the Bill had not noticed. It was proposed to lower the rates of fee by bringing them down to a fee of Rs. 150. MR. SCHALCH thought that the fee might be well lowered to Rs. 150 in the suburbs, and power had accordingly been given to the Suburban Municipality to that effect; but it would not be at all advisable to allow small storehouses to be set up in the town, where the risk of fire and the consequences thereof would be so much increased: for, while you kept the rate of fee considerably high, you had some safeguard against the erection of a number of small warehouses. But if you extended the rates of fee to small sums, you would have a number of small store-godowns springing up, and the risk of fire would be considerably increased.

He, therefore, was not in favour of the amendments which the hon'ble member (Baboo Doorga Churn Law) had proposed.

The HON'BLE MR. HOGG said, in reply to the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier's remarks regarding the application of the law to small quantities of jute brought in daily for the purpose of the manufacture of small quantities of rope or other articles of that description, that there had never been any practical difficulty in that respect. It was obvious that the bringing in daily small quantities of jute and other such articles was not within the meaning of "storing," and therefore it had not been the practice of the municipality to proceed against persons who carried on trade in such manner. However there could be no objection, if the hon'ble member preferred it, to introduce a section providing that the term "storing" should not apply to small quantities of jute, say two maunds, brought in for use from time to time.

The HON'BLE MR. DAMPIER said, after the explanation given to the Council, and the illustration brought forward of a jute warehouse which the hon'ble mover of the Bill had seen, and with regard to which, in his experienced opinion, absolutely no restrictive conditions would be necessary on behalf of the public, there remained no ground for the portion of MR. DAMPIER'S amendment which contemplated the setting out in the Bill of conditions which should be compulsory in all licensed warehouses. But still the objection remained that it would be more satisfactory to those engaged in the jute trade to know that they could not be taken by surprise by the imposition of any newly devised condition, and to have before them every possible condition which they could legally be called upon to observe. Therefore, he would change the form of his amendment, and would now move "that the Bill be referred back to the Select Committee, with instructions to define the conditions, all or any of which may be imposed on the grant of any license under this Act"

The HON'BLE BABOO KRISTODAS PAL said, the question before the Council was whether it should be left to the executive to prescribe the conditions under which licenses should be granted for jute warehouses. As he took the liberty on a former occasion to state his views on this point at some length, he would not tread over the same ground again; but he begged to observe that he entirely agreed that whatever restrictions the Council might determine to impose upon the grant of licenses, they should be embodied in the law, and that, as the hon'ble member to his right (Baboo Doorga Churn Law) had observed, it would be unconstitutional to pass any law providing penalties for offences which were not themselves defined in the law. It was true that the rules embodied in the amendment moved by his hon'ble friend were for the most part re-enacted from the existing law; but, as pointed out by another hon'ble member (Mr. Dampier), there must be some general rules laid down: and if the proposed rules did not meet the requirements of the case, they might be altered, amended, added to, enlarged, or otherwise modified; and if the Bill were sent back to the Select Committee for revision, they would consider the whole matter.

From the discussion which had taken place that day, it seemed that hon'ble members agreed that there must be some rules laid down, if not by this Council, then by the Municipal Corporations. Now, if those Corporations were in a position to lay down the rules, he did not see why this Council should be considered incompetent to perform that task. It was true that the same rules which might apply to Calcutta might not apply with equal force to the suburbs; and if the Select Committee were of that opinion, they might provide two sets of rules,—one applicable to the town, and the other to the suburbs. Such distinction between the town and suburbs already existed, because the same scale of fees did not apply to the town and suburbs; and in other respects also the law made distinctions between the town and suburbs. So much for the difficulty of legislating for the town and suburbs in the same Act.

He did not think the hon'ble mover of the Bill would maintain that any jute warehouse, though not open to any objection for the time being, should be entirely and for ever exempt from all control, supervision, or other legal restrictions: even the Cossipore institution, to which he had alluded, though a model jute warehouse, ought not to be treated exceptionally, for although its construction or management might at present be not open to objection, still circumstances might arise which might render it necessary to bring that warehouse under the law. Baboo Kristodas Pal did not think that the Council would agree to a fast-and-loose system and allow any jute warehouse to be without the pale of the law; and that being the case, he thought the Bill ought to provide certain general rules, which might or might not be applicable in all cases, but which, at the discretion of the executive, might be wholly or partially extended, according to the circumstances or merits of each case.

As to the objection to lowering the rate of fee, on the ground of the encouragement it would give to the establishment of small buildings, he might observe that it would be optional with the Justices to license such places or not. If they found that a building, by its size and situation, was more liable to fire than another, the Justices need not grant a license; but he did not see any reason why the fee should not be lowered when the present rate admittedly pressed hardly on the proprietors of small buildings, and when a high scale was not needed, there being a large excess of revenue over expenditure.

After some further discussion the Hon'ble Baboo Doorga Churn Law's amendments were put and negatived.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier's motion "that the Bill be recommitted to the Select Committee with instructions to define the conditions, the whole or any of which may be imposed on the grant of any license under this Act," having been put, the Council divided—

BUDGET FOR PETTY CONSTRUCTIONS AND REPAIRS.

RESOLUTION.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.—FINANCE.

CALCUTTA, THE 12TH FEBRUARY 1875.

READ—

Memorandum No 2232C, dated the 30th January 1875, from the Accountant-General submitting the budget estimate for 1875-76 for "Petty Constructions and Repairs" of buildings belonging to departments which are provided for in the Imperial Budget Estimates.

	Rs.
THE sanctioned grant under this head for 1874-75 was ...	63,891
The Accountant-General has not given the details of the regular estimate for 1874-75, but has put down a lump-sum of	55,000
But the actuals of 1873-74 were	59,041
The local estimate for 1875-76 amounts to	64,365

The Accountant-General, in a note within the budget, has remarked that as petty constructions and repairs to all Government buildings should be done by the Civil Department, the Department of Public Works budget should be reduced by the amount of general expenditure sanctioned for the purpose, and that an appropriate provision should be made in this budget. But as the Department of Public Works will not budget for any petty constructions and repairs, no reduction in the departmental estimates will be necessary. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that a grant of Rs. 63,400, as estimated by the Accountant-General, will be sufficient for 1875-76, and is accordingly pleased to pass that sum.

2. The details of this grant are given below :—

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Accountant-General and Public Works Department of this Government, and to the Revenue and Judicial Departments of this office, for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Acting Junior Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

KARTICK BARONI FAIR.

No. 712, dated Calcutta, the 15th February 1875.

From—J. CRAWFURD, Esq., Officiating Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

To—The Commissioner of Dacca.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 27 of the 5th instant submitting a report from Mr. Fraser, Deputy Magistrate of Moonsheegunge, on the Kartick Baroni Fair, held from the 23rd November 1874 to January 1875.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the success of the arrangements made during the fair, and authorises you to convey his acknowledgments for the good services rendered by Mr. Fraser on the occasion. His Honor desires that notice should again be publicly given, before this year's fair takes place, of the limitation which it is intended to enforce as to its duration. You will be good enough to submit to Government in due time a draft notification to this effect, for publication in the Calcutta and Bengalee Gazettes.

No. 27, dated Dacca, the 5th February 1875.

From—F. B. PEACOCK, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of the Dacca Division,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

I HAVE the honor to forward, in original, letter No 188, dated 1st instant, and enclosures, from the Magistrate of Dacca, on the subject of the Kartick Baroni Fair, which lasted from the 23rd November till the 8th January, both days inclusive.

2. In its letter No. 683, dated 21st February last, the Government of Bengal authorised my predecessor to limit the duration of the fair to one month; but in consequence of the urgent applications of the principal merchants and traders, who take goods for sale to the Baroni Mela, he sanctioned, on the present occasion, an extension of the sanctioned period for fifteen days At the same time, however, the Magistrate of Dacca was directed to have notices put up in all parts of the fair that in future it would not be allowed to continue on any pretext whatever beyond one month

3. It is satisfactory to notice that the people have thoroughly accommodated themselves to the conservancy rules introduced last year. Great care appears to have been taken by the Deputy Magistrate that the fair should be kept as clean as possible, and it may be that, in some degree at least, the very small amount of sickness that occurred was due to his precautions in this respect. Notwithstanding that the fair was well attended throughout, and that from the 5th to the 22nd December there was a daily average of 7,500 persons present, there were only four cases of cholera, only one of which proved fatal.

4. The Magistrate has recorded his approval of Mr Fraser's management of the fair, and I would beg that I may be permitted to convey to him the Lieutenant-Governor's acknowledgment of his services in connection therewith. I have also great pleasure in bringing to notice the energy and usefulness of Sub Inspector Prag Dutt, who last year received a special reward of three months' pay for his conduct for many years at this fair.

5. The return of the original enclosures is requested.

No. 188, dated Dacca, the 1st February 1875.

From—D. R. LYALL, Esq, Officiating Magistrate of Dacca,

To—The Commissioner of Dacca.

I HAVE the honor to submit the report of the Deputy Magistrate of Moonsheegunge on the Baroni Fair.

I visited the fair twice, and found all in good order. Your predecessor also visited it once.

2. The fair should be rigorously kept within a month this year When he gave the extra term this year, Mr. Cockerell desired me to make it widely known that the term would not be again extended; a month is ample for all systematic business.

I will report the dates I propose as soon as the Bengali almanack for next year is out.

3 Mr. Fraser's management of the fair was successful, and it is gratifying to see how thoroughly the people have now accommodated themselves to the conservancy rules.

4. I propose to compel them to fix the site further south this year, as some of the privies had to be placed too near the village owing to the narrowness of the northern end of the chur

5. I submit, also, a copy of the report of the native doctor on special duty. He speaks of only three cases of cholera, the fourth having been treated by the native doctor of Moonsheegunge.

6. I have much pleasure in drawing your attention to Mr. Fraser's remarks about Sub-Inspector Prag Dutt. He got a gratuity of three months' pay last year from Government for his conduct for many years at this fair; and I have no hesitation in saying that he reduces the work of the officer in charge to a minimum by his attention to his duties and his tact in managing the police and the people.

7. The District Superintendent also visited the fair several times, and Mr. Pereira was in charge for a short time, so as to allow Mr. Fraser to go to the Mofu-sil.

8. An account of expenses which were incurred during the fair is herewith submitted.

No. 380, dated Moonsheegunge, the 15th January 1875.

From—A. J. Fraser, Esq, Deputy Magistrate of Moonsheegunge,
To—The Magistrate of Dacca.

I have the honor to submit the following report of the Kartick Baroni Fair, held from the 23rd November 1874 to 8th January 1875.

2. The fair commenced as usual with the bathing festival, which took place on the 23rd November. The number of bathers was estimated at about 3,000, the majority being women. This number is very much less than it was last year, when the number of bathers is entered as 5,000. The reason of this is to be attributed to the fact that it was the dhân-cutting season. The bathers were the lower caste of Hindus, such as Chandals, Teors, and Jalooas, who came from the neighbouring districts.

3. It would be superfluous for me to give any detailed account of the nature of the fair, as it does not differ in any way from those of previous years.

4. From the 23rd to the 27th November, the time was employed in the erection of shops. The timber merchants were the first to arrive, and a few sweetmeat shops; but it was not until the 1st December that people began to come in any numbers, and business fairly commenced.

5. The river having cut away a portion of the chur on which the fair is held, the space available was very much narrower than usual, and the fair consequently had to be brought a little further south.

6. The staff of police deputed for duty at the fair consisted of—

Two sub-inspectors,
Five head-constables,
Thirty-seven constables.

In addition to this force were two police guard-boats which patrolled the rivers.

7. The rules printed in vernacular, and forwarded with your letter No. 2197 of the 28th October 1874, were posted in the most conspicuous parts of the fair, and their purport made known by beat of drum, and the measures noted therein strictly adhered to.

8. The side of the river was kept entirely free from the floating masses of weed, and in accomplishing this the boatmen willingly assisted.

9. The number of shops of all kinds this year—a list of which is annexed—was 975, being a decrease of eleven shops as compared with last year. The chief decrease was in regard to those of the cloth merchants. Last year they numbered 125, while this year the number fell to 90 only; but comparing the value of clothes of last year, Rs. 21,85,137, with that of this year, Rs. 19,89,300, the average value of each shop this year is above Rs. 21,000, while last year each shop averaged a little more than Rs. 17,000. The decrease in the number of shops may, I think, be attributed to the term of the fair having been made shorter.

10. The value of goods brought this year, however, exceeds last year by more than one and a half lakhs, being as follows:—

	Rs.
For this year	45,54,455
For last year	43,85,457

11. It is of course always a difficult matter to ascertain with any degree of accuracy the actual sales, as the shop-keepers will not give correct information, but it is roughly estimated at forty lakhs.

12. The fair, according to the notification in the Gazette, was only to have lasted one month. The Commissioner was, however, pleased to extend the term a fortnight longer.

13. On the night of the 5th January we had rain, with a pretty strong wind blowing north-east, which unroofed several shops; but the damage done was, I am glad to say, very slight. One boat, however, which was moored to the bank, went down, and unfortunately the only man that was on board at the time was drowned.

14. The shop-keepers subscribed among themselves a sum of about Rs 1,528. This sum was expended on the 4th January in a "burra khana," including a portion spent in the Kali Poojah. It is computed that about ten thousand persons sat down to the dinner. Money was also distributed to Brahmins and Boiragees.

15. The number of persons and boats, as will be seen by the list annexed, began to increase about the 2nd December, and up to almost the last day of the fair the attendance was great. From the 5th to the 22nd December, when the fair was its fullest, the daily average of boats was a little over 850, and the population averaged over 7,500.

16. Three thefts occurred during the fair; two were petty ones: one was theft of sweetmeats, the other of some caps from a stall. The third one was, however, a heavy one, the amount stolen being Rs. 283, all in cash. The facts of this theft are briefly these:—The thief came to a satrunjee shop and asked to be shown some large satrunjees, as he wished, he said, to purchase Rs. 100 worth. The shopkeeper who had a leather bag of money before him, at once got up to attend to his customer, and had to turn his back to him in order to get the satrunjees; by the time he had got the satrunjees, and was returning to the front of his shop, he found his customer had decamped and his bag of money gone. He rushed out into the street and made known his loss; but no one had seen any one running away, and nothing could be done. The shopkeeper, however, subsequently recollected that the man had a red jacket on. This he made known everywhere, and next morning, the thief, who had not taken the precaution to change his clothes, appeared again at the fair in his red coat. He was arrested by one of the shopkeeper's neighbours, and the man, suddenly and unexpectedly arrested, admitted the theft, and agreed to restore the money if no complaint was lodged. The shopkeeper willingly agreed to this, and accompanied the thief to his boat. The bag was restored to the owner minus Rs. 128, and as this sum could not be paid, the thief, with the bag and money, was taken off to the thana. The case came before me, and he was convicted to one year's rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs 128, which sum is to be paid to the shopkeeper to compensate him for his loss.

17. There were no cases of nuisance. One case was brought to my notice one morning while I was at the fair; I discharged the man with a warning; and made known that as it was necessary that the place should be kept scrupulously clean, I would not treat nuisances with light fines, as had been done in previous years, but would punish severely for any wilful disobedience of the rules. I am glad to say that this threat had the desired effect.

18. There were four cases of cholera; one proved fatal. There was also one case of fever. The patient was admitted on the 7th, and discharged on the 11th

19. The statement showing the expenditure incurred in the Baroni Fair is annexed.

20. Every care was taken to preserve cleanliness in the fair: the streets were swept morning and evening, and mehters were always in attendance to clean the fish market as soon as the sales were completed.

21. No complaints were made against the police.

22. In conclusion, I beg to bring to your favorable notice Sub-Inspector Prag Dutt Tewaree. His services in the Baroni Fair are invaluable He was of great assistance to me in maintaining the conservancy arrangements. The Sub-Inspector of this thana, Gooroodas Dutt, who was attached to the staff on duty at the Baroni, did his duty well and to my entire satisfaction.

Dated Dacca, the 12th January 1875.

From—Baboo Aunada Prosad Bhuttacharjee, Native Doctor,
To—The Civil Surgeon of Dacca.

I have the honor most respectfully to report, for your information, that according to the order in memorandum No. , dated , I punctually arrived at the Kartick Baroni Fair on 24th November 1874, and opened a dispensary on that day. The climate of the place was healthy this year. Only three cases of cholera and a case of fever came to the hospital, a particular description of which is detailed as follows :—

1. Woottom, a Hindoo female, aged about 25 years, prostitute, inhabitant of Sreenugger, being attacked with cholera, came to the hospital on 5th December last. Before this attack her health was tolerably good, and there was no outbreak of cholera whence she came. When she came to the hospital she was in a state of collapse I treated her with a stimulant mixture and high dose of calomel. On 10th December she had been perfectly cured, and I discharged her from the hospital on that day.

2. Rohomotally, a Mahomedan, aged 25 years, a boatman, inhabitant of Chittagong, came to the hospital on 12th December When he came he was perfectly under collapse. His friends stated that on 11th December he was at Dacca, and at Dacca he had been attacked with diarrhœa. Next day, when he arrived at the Kartick Baroni Fair, he purged thirty times and vomited also some four or five times. I treated him also with stimulant mixture and high dose of calomel. He got cured after seven days, and I discharged him from the hospital on 19th December.

3. Bhogoban Das, a Hindu aged about 70 years, inhabitant of Dorooaga, came to the Kartick Baroni Fair as a common merchant He was attacked with cholera on 31st December, and came to the hospital on 1st January. Before he came to the hospital he purged about thirty times, and vomited five or seven times. He was also in a perfect state of collapse when he came to the hospital. I treated him as I treated the other two cases, but without any effect. He died on 3rd January.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer, means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

NOTICE.

The 15th February 1875.—Whereas it has been ascertained by careful inquiry on the spot that certain waste lands situate in the Soonderbuns, south of the district of Jessore, contain forests yielding soonder timber, the preservation of which is important in the general interest of the country, and that in the said lands there is not any private property, nor any rights save those of the State, which have not been granted to any party:

The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal hereby notifies that the ungranted waste lands situated in the Soonderbuns, south of the district of Jessore, estimated to consist of about 566,253 acres, and within the several boundaries described hereafter, have been set aside by order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal as a reserved forest tract under the provisions of Act VII of 1865, and subject to the conditions of Section II of that Act reserving intact the rights of any individual or community, if such should be found to exist. The said lands have been removed from the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of the Soonderbuns and placed in charge of the Conservator of Forests, Bengal.

Under Section IV of the said Act, the cutting of timber or collecting any forest produce from and after the 1st March 1875, within the boundaries hereinafter described, is prohibited; and any infringement of this prohibition will be dealt with according to Sections V to XV of the Act and the Rules passed in conformity therewith for all Government forests within the Lieutenant-Governorship of Bengal.

BOUNDARIES OF THE RESERVED FOREST TRACT.

Northern Boundary.

An irregular line starting from the point at which the Soonderbun forest boundary crosses the Mysaleer khal on the south of lot No. 216, and proceeding eastward along the said khal to its junction with the Seepsah river; then southwards along the Seepsah river to the point where it is joined by the Sooturkhalee river; then northwards along the said Sooturkhalee until it joins the Bhuddur river; then southwards along the Bhuddur river to the point where it is met by the khal or creek called Loutakhalee in the maps, but locally known as Khajoorbaria khal, and which said khal forms the northern boundary of lot 226 called Kurumjal; then along the south and west banks of the said Loutakhalee creek or Khajoorbaria khal to its junction with the Pussur river; then a short distance south along the Pussur river and across it to the Nora Cheela khal, which forms the north boundary of lot No. 240; then along the said Nora Cheela khal to its junction with the gang or river called Cheela Chandpie; then across the Cheela Chandpie and along the south bank of the Khurma nuddee or river as far east as its point of junction with the Bhola river, which flows on the west of the well known lots 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7, Khowlea Barisal.

Eastern Boundary.

The Bhola river and the Hooringottah river.

Southern Boundary.

An irregular line commencing at the point on the east bank of the Arpangassya river, where the creek called the Taul Dooanea on the north of lot 201 joins it, and then proceeding eastward along the said Taul Dooanea to its junction with the Phool Mollinchew river; then a short distance south along the Phool Mollinchew river to the point at which the Creek named "Paut Kussa" in the maps, but locally known as Pat Koshta, joins it; then south-eastward along the said "Paut Kussa," or Pat Koshta khal or creek, to the river which flows between lots 194 and 199, not named in the maps, but evidently a continuation of the Seepsah river; then across it to the creek not named in the maps, but which flows between lots 192 and 194, and which, commencing from a point nearly opposite the east extremity of the creek called "Paut Kussa," or Pat Koshta, falls into the Morzal river close to its junction with the Pussur river; then across the Morzal to the Pussur river, and a short distance southward along the Pussur river to its junction with the Bangarah river; then southward along the Bangarah river to the point at which it flows into the Bay of Bengal; and the Bay of Bengal between the Bangarah and Hooringottah rivers.

Western Boundary.

The Arpangassya river from its junction with the creek called Taul Dooanea on the north of lot 201 northwards as far as the khal called Gol Khallee on the south of lot 211; then east along the said Gol Khallee to the Shakhbaria river; then northwards along the Shakhbaria river as far north as the point at which it joins the Coyra nuddee or river; then south, north, and eastward along the bends of the said Coyra nuddee or river to a khal or creek not named in the maps, but which said khal flows in a north and south direction, the north end joining the Mysaleer khal near the point at which the said Mysaleer khal is crossed by the line boundary of the Soonderbun forest, and the south end flowing into that bend of the Coyra nuddee or river which flows on the extreme north of lot 213.

By order, &c.,

Circular Order No. 2.

Dated Calcutta, the 30*th January* 1875.

HIGH COURT.
ENGLISH DEPARTMENT.
Civil.

The returns to Circular Order No. 14, dated 13th June 1874, having shown that a large number of applications had been made to Civil Courts under Section 119, Civil Procedure Code, and that in many cases the application was successful, there is reason to apprehend that suits are occasionally decided ex parte against a defendant without sufficient inquiry as to service of the summons, and that such result may be in some measure due to a feeling on the part of the presiding officer that any hardship may be obviated by an application under Section 119. The Court are therefore pleased to direct particular attention to the subject, and to request that District Judges will have the goodness to satisfy themselves that the provisions of Section 111 are carried out according to their true intent; i.e., that the Court in each case proceed to hear the case ex parte only on proof to its satisfaction that the summons has been duly served.

2. The Judges will require the Subordinate Judges and Moonsiffs to report each Quarter what number of applications have been made under the Section, and how they have been disposed of; and this information will be embodied in the Annual Report, distinguishing between cases falling under Section 111 and those under 114.

3. It will be observed that the procedure of Section 119 is not applicable to suits dismissed under Section 110.

The Court directs that for the future wherever a Moonsif is vested with the powers of a Small Cause Court, under Section 29, Act VI of 1871, the work done by him in that capacity shall be shown in a separate monthly return to be prepared in the annexed form which may be submitted to the District Judges in the vernacular or in English, as each Moonsiff may find most convenient.

2. From the returns thus received, the District Judge will prepare one Statement to be submitted not later than the 15th of each month, exhibiting the work of each Moonsif in his district who exercises those powers.

3. The cases exhibited in these returns will nevertheless continue for the present to be also included in the regular Quarterly Civil Statements under the usual heads, and will be likewise shown in Judicial Statement No. 8, under the general head Paid Sub-divisional Tribunals.

4. This rule will apply to the Subordinate Judge of Sylhet and to any other officer, of whatever rank or designation, who exercises Small Cause Court powers below those of a regular Small Cause Court.

The Calcutta Gazette.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1875.

PART II.

Advertisements.

[N.B.—Advertisements, Notices, &c., intended for insertion in this part of the Gazette cannot be received after Noon on Monday.]

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of land, no longer required by the Government, situated in the district of Bhagulpore, S. P., will be put up to sale at the Assistant Commissioner's Cutchery at Rajmehal, at 11 o'clock A M., on Monday, the 15th March 1875, corresponding with 2nd Choitro 1281, B.S.

The purchasers of these plots will be subject to the following conditions :—

1*st*.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

2*nd*.—If the amount of purchase-money exceeds Rs 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale to be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the estate to be again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

3*rd*.—The plots will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.

4*th*.—The purchasers shall be put in possession on receipt of the orders of the Collector confirming the sales. But such possession shall be liable to be disturbed in case the final sanction of the Member of the Board of Revenue in charge should not be accorded to the proceedings.

নিলামের ইশ্‌তিহার।

জিলা ভাগলপুর সাঁওতাল পরগনা।

ইস্তিহার নাম। কাছারি রেলওয়ে ডেপুটি কালেক্টরী এজেলাস শ্রীযুক্ত যে, উইলিয়ম হেশ্যাম সাহেব রেলওয়ে ডেপুটি কালেক্টর। মোকাম কাছারী মুঙ্গের।

এতদ্দ্বারা সংবাদ দেওয়া যাইতেছে যে জিলা ভাগলপুরের অন্তর্গত সাঁওতাল পরগনার মধ্যবর্ত্তী নিম্নলিখিত ভূমি সরকার বাহাদুরের আর আবশ্যক না থাকা প্রযুক্ত তাহা নিম্নলিখিত নিয়মানুসারে ১৮৭৪ সালের ১৫ মার্চ মোতাবেক বাঙ্গালা ১২৮১ সালের ২ চৈত্র সোমবার বেলা ১১ ঘণ্টার সময় মোঃ রাজমহলের আসিষ্টাণ্ট কমিশ্যনরের ক ছারিতে নিলাম বিক্রয় হইবেক।

১। এক শত টাকার অনধিক পণ হইলে সেই সমুদয় টাকা তৎক্ষণাৎ দিতে হইবেক।

২। এক শত টাকার অধিক পণ হইলে ডাক পণের চারি অংশের একাংশ তৎক্ষণাৎ দিতে হইবেক, বিক্রয়ের দিবস এক দিন ধরিয়া গনণা করিলে বিক্রয়ের পঞ্চদশ দিনের মধ্যাহ্নকালে কিম্বা সেই দিবস বন্দের দিন হইলে তৎপরে প্রথম যে দিন কাছারি খোলা যায় সেই দিবস মধ্যাহ্নকালে যদি অবশিষ্ট দাখিল না হয় তবে বিক্রয় রহিত ও গচ্ছিত টাকা গবর্ণমেণ্টে জব্দ হইবে, ও প্রথম স্থলীয় বিক্রয়ের ন্যায় পুনর্ব্বার বিজ্ঞাপন প্রকাশ করণ পূর্ব্বক ঐ ক্রটীকারি ক্রেতার ঝুঁকিতে সেই মহাল পুনর্ব্বার বিক্রয় হইবেক।

৩। ঐ জমি সকল সর্ব্ব উচ্চ ডাককারিকে নিকর বিক্রয় করা যাইবে।

PAPER CURRENCY DEPARTMENT,
The 2nd March 1875.

L. BERKELEY,
Asst. Comptr. of Paper Currency.

Calcutta Canals.

NOTICE.

DURING the period the lock-gates of the Calcutta Canals at Chitpore are kept open, which is generally from November 1st to June 30th, there is at times a strong current; and boats proceeding in or out may be of any length, but their extreme breadth, including chuppers, should not exceed 21 feet, or 14 haths.

During the rainy season, or from July to October, the lock-gates are closed; and as there is no current in the Canal, boats may be of 22 feet, or 14½ haths extreme breadth, including chuppers, and 58 feet from stem to stern.

Boats entering at Bamunghatta with tickets "Bamunghatta and Return," may be of any dimensions; but as the water in the Canal decreases daily until the rains set in, heavy-laden boats should discharge, if possible, west of the Dhappa Pass Station. Boats with the above tickets, after discharging in the old Canal, may proceed to the Hooghly by confining to the above orders; but if they cause an obstruction to navigation, they will be detained at Chitpore, and the manjees will be liable to punishment under the Canal Rules.

 The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholar-like knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

EDUCATION OF THE POORER CLASSES OF EUROPEANS AND EAST INDIANS IN CALCUTTA.

Minute by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, dated the 25th February 1875.

THE educational means available for the poorest classes of Europeans and East Indians in the provinces under the Government of Bengal generally, and the Presidency Town of Calcutta particularly, has for some time past been under the consideration of the Government of Bengal.

The subject was prominently brought to the notice of the local Government by a despatch from the Government of India dated 9th March 1874. It has subsequently undergone much public discussion. After consulting the authorities most conversant with the matter, I desire, first, to state my opinion in respect to the Presidency Town of Calcutta, which, in many respects, differs from all other places in these provinces, leaving the questions relating to the provinces for subsequent consideration. With this view I have obtained from the Commissioner of Police in Calcutta (the Hon'ble Stuart Hogg), a complete statement of existing institutions in Calcutta, which statement affords a statistical basis for my proposals. The return is appended to this minute, together with other papers marginally noted.

Letter from the most Revd. Archbishop Steins, dated the 20th February 1875.

Letter from Revd. W. C. Bromehead, dated the 15th February 1875.

Notes of a conference held by the Lieutenant-Governor with Mr. Atkinson, Mr. Woodrow, and Mr. Clarke.

Letter from Revd. P. J. Jarbo, dated the 27th February 1875.

There seems to be an opinion entertained in many quarters that in some classes of poor Europeans and East Indians the children are growing up in ignorance; that this state of things is calculated to be detrimental to the public interest, and to bring discredit upon the Government in this country. How far this opinion is founded on fact may be seen from the return appended. Among other classes of Europeans and East Indians concerned, that is, classes receiving less than Rs. 300 per mensem, or £360 per annum, there are now 2,549 children at school or under tuition, 1,503 too young for school, and 1,275 not at school, but who might and ought to be there. Here, then, we see the precise extent of the evil in Calcutta. There are 1,275 children of a school-going age who are not at school. This number is made up of the following proportions :—

EUROPEANS—
Boys	...	122
Girls	...	132
Total	...	254
EAST INDIANS—
Boys	...	422
Girls	...	599
Total	...	1,021
Grand total	...	1,275

If a numerical comparison be made between those who are and those who are not at school, it will have been seen above that out of 3,824 children of a school-going age (i.e., 2,549+1,275) about two-thirds are at school and one-third not at school. In other words, one child out of every three children may be said to be growing up in ignorance. Whether this fact, as regards Calcutta, entirely bears out the strong views which (if I understand aright) are sometimes entertained, may be a matter of opinion. At all events, the fact is sufficiently serious to attract the immediate attention of the Government of Bengal.

The first point which demands my consideration is the question as to what may be the cause or causes of the fact that among these children one out of every three fail to go to school. There are (as will be seen from the return) no less than forty-three institutions in this capital City specially for the education of European and East Indian children—a considerable number as compared with the European and East Indian population. These are all belonging to various religious bodies, and various denominations of Christians, supported wholly or chiefly from private resources, receiving, in most though not in all cases, assistance from Government in the shape of grants-in-aid. It would certainly appear prima facie that these comparatively numerous institutions are, or ought to be, sufficient to supply the educational needs represented and measured by the fact that out of about 3,000 children of school-going age, 2,000 do go to school and 1,000 do not.

How comes it, then, that about one thousand children of poor Europeans and East Indians in Calcutta fail to go to school?

They do not go, as I believe, because, in many instances, the schools or branch schools are too far off from their homes, they being unable to walk any distance in the hot weather or to afford any sort of conveyance, the parents, too, being unwilling to trust them too far away from home by themselves; because the fees and schooling charges though very moderate or even low, are still more than the parents can afford to pay; because the existing institutions, though for the most part assisted in some degree by Government, are seldom receiving the full amount of grant-in-aid to which they might be entitled under the existing rules, and are therefore unable to establish as many branch schools as they might otherwise have established; because, in some of the very poorest of the classes concerned, the parents do not see fit or do not care, for various reasons, to send their children to school.

I state the last cause with some sorrow; but its existence is believed in by many well-informed authorities; and it should be stated frankly now, inasmuch as we may find, after having done everything that is needful, and having offered every reasonable facility, that some children of a school-going age still remain out of school. The unwillingness of some parents to educate their children is a circumstance which appears in some sections of all nations and of nearly all societies; and its appearance among some of the classes now under consideration need not excite surprise.

Under the above view of the case, and after consulting Mr. Atkinson, the Director of Public Instruction, Mr. Woodrow and Mr. Clarke, inspectors of schools, three gentlemen who combine the largest and best experience available on the subject, I propose first to invite the co-operation of the existing bodies and private societies interested in education, and to allow them grants-in-aid, on application being made by them, within the limits, and under the conditions of the existing rules. These additional grants-in-aid would be given for the express purpose of affording education to the children of Europeans and East Indians with incomes below Rs 300 per mensem, and on the express condition of this object being attained to the satisfaction of the Government Inspectors. We believe that this will be found nearly, perhaps quite, sufficient for the object in view. The private societies whom I have consulted believe themselves able to extend their operations if they receive full grants-in-aid under the rules. If some such extension be undertaken by so many societies, it seems to me almost incredible that, with their combined efforts and with all their zeal and benevolence, they would fail to gather in all or nearly all of the one thousand poor children who remain to be brought under education Be this as it may, I am clear and decided that the old established and normal plan ought to be worked to its full power first, before any new, perhaps abnormal, plan be attempted. If, when thus fully worked, the old plan should prove insufficient, it will then be time enough to try some other plan; but I trust that such will not practically be the case.

Further, if, despite our efforts, some children, through default of their parents, shall still remain absent from school, we can reckon that the pastors of the religious community to which the children belong will feel additional responsibility for such absence. By giving grants-in-aid upon their application, Government signifies its reliance upon the pastors to do all that is possible to ensure attendance; and they probably will be willing to accept the responsibility.

The adherence to the old plan, if it can be made to suffice, will per se afford many advantages. There will be no question of setting up Government schools for Europeans and East Indians, either with or without religious instruction; there will be no question of affording gratuitous education by the State to these classes, or education to them by the State separate from that of other classes; there will be no relaxation for them of grant-in-aid rules, already liberal; there will be no undertaking by the State of duties which ordinarily pertain to private benevolence and to religious bodies. All the above difficulties which will in this case be avoided, might indeed have to be encountered and overcome in other places beyond Calcutta; but if we can avoid them in Calcutta, it is very desirable to do so.

The grant-in-aid rules, to which I would now appeal to, are those which are common to all individuals, all corporations, and all classes, both European and Native.

I cannot state precisely the additional sum which will be needed in the shape of grants-in-aid under the above ruling; but I estimate that it will not be large, not larger than our provincial finance can afford. After consulting the Director of Public Instruction, I anticipate that the extra allowance can be provided within the aggregate amount of the existing educational budget.

I have duly attended to what has been urged regarding the grants-in-aid being regulated by the plan known as "payment by results." On consideration, I would prefer not to clog the concession above proposed by a condition relating to the introduction of this plan, which is for the most part new to Calcutta. But I should be glad if the Director of Public Instruction would endeavour to introduce it for the particular purpose now in view, so far as the circumstances of the several institutions may admit of it.

It may be that some of these private institutions may desire to train schoolmasters and mistresses to afford instruction to the children of poor Europeans and East Indians. This sort of training does indeed constitute a most desirable object. If it be desired to apply a portion of the grants-in-aid to this object, I should willingly accede.

Also, I would afford the ordinary assistance for the construction of schoolhouses or branch schoolhouses.

There then arises the question, whether, while we are about to do more than heretofore for the poorer classes of Europeans and East Indians in Calcutta, we ought not, by parity of reasoning, to do something of a corresponding nature for the poorer classes of Natives in the same city. At present no assistance is given by Government to primary education among the Natives within the limits of Calcutta. Yet there are within the city numerous little schools, like, in their way, to the pathsalas and village schools in the surrounding districts. There is no reason why they should be excluded from the benefit which is extended to all other village schools in Bengal. To these, then, I would afford Government aid under the same rules and conditions as those which relate to the provinces.

A copy of this minute, with a transmitting letter, should be sent to the Director of Public Instruction, with a request that he will endeavour to give immediate effect to these instructions and report the result to Government by an early date.

RICHARD TEMPLE.

RESOLUTION ON THE BENGAL POLICE REPORT FOR 1873.

RESOLUTION.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 2ND MARCH 1875.

READ—

The Report on the Police of the Lower Provinces of Bengal for the year 1873, by Colonel J. R Pughe, Inspector-General of Police.

Read again—

The Report for 1872.

THE value of the voluminous report on the working of the police in the Lower Provinces of Bengal during the year 1873 is, the Lieutenant-Governor regrets to observe, very much impaired by the extreme delay which has attended its preparation. The main cause of this delay is no doubt the pressing avocations which affected, during 1874, the district officers in so many parts of Bengal. But the Lieutenant-Governor must impress upon all officers concerned that no such delay can be permitted to recur in ordinary times; and he will expect the next report to be submitted with punctuality.

The system introduced by Sir George Campbell, by which the collection of information regarding crime and police administration, the collation and comparison of returns, and reporting on the subject to Government, were specially entrusted to the Inspector-General of Police, was adhered to during the year under review. The Lieutenant-Governor has to thank Colonel Pughe for the regular submission of quarterly reviews of the state of crime in these provinces (except Calcutta), which have kept Government informed, at an early date, of all occurrences deserving attention in the various districts, and have shewn clearly the fluctuations, according to season, of the chief classes of heinous offences. Colonel Pughe now has, with considerable care and skill, summarised the various divisional reports, presenting the results of the year as a whole, and in a series of very careful analytical tables brought out clearly the more important features in connection with the administration of his department. The Lieutenant-Governor has particular satisfaction in acknowledging the assiduity with which the Inspector-General has laboured in behalf of his department in these important respects.

At one time the police department was believed to be often and unnecessarily at variance with the local magistracy. The Government then adopted measures to secure to the magistrate of the district the position which it was always intended that he should hold in relation to the police, and to ensure that, whatever might be the success or the failure attending the police work of his district, he should in no way be permitted to hold himself aloof from it, or to avoid the responsibilities justly attaching to his position as chief of the administration in his district. All the reports which have been before Government, both regarding the general administration of the various districts, and in regard to special crime which may have been reported, there is not a single instance of complaint either on the part of the magistrate that there was no assistance to be had from the police, or on the part of the police that in the discharge of their arduous duties there was no support to be had from the magistrate. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that the magistrates and the police officers heartily unite their energies to secure the efficient administration of their districts, which desirable result is due to the tact and moderation with which district officers have exercised the powers pertaining to them, and to the loyalty with which the officers of the police have accepted the position which is allotted to them.

The Lieutenant-Governor observes that many authorities seem to consider that for the police work more use than heretofore might be made of the services of the sub-divisional officers. Instructions have already been given to them to deal promptly on the spot with serious cases which may be reported to them, and to take into their own hands the conduct of the police enquiries. Though instances are not wanting, even in the present report, where these officers are said to have been of assistance in the administration of the department, their services are not utilized to the full extent possible. Constant inspection is an essential to success in police administration. It has been found necessary, with a view to meet expenditure in other directions, to curtail the number of Assistant District Superintendents allowed in these provinces, and it may happen that an assistant may not be available for a sub-division which can ill do without one. The Lieutenant-Governor would wish, therefore, to try, in some of the larger districts, if the Commissioner and district officers concur in thinking it advisable, the plan which has before been suggested of investing the officers in charge of a few of the more important sub-divisions with the power of an Assistant District Superintendent.

Similarly, the Lieutenant-Governor considers it a matter well worthy the consideration of the heads of the Police and of the Jail Departments, whether a like change could not with advantage be introduced with respect to jail guards. His Honor observes that Colonel Pughe perseveres in his opinion that the reduction of these guards, with a view to the substitution of warders, is a mistake. The measure has never been regarded by Government as more than a make-shift. Warders are undoubtedly required for the internal management of the prisons—a matter in which police interference is inadmissible. Financial reasons only have hitherto stood in the way of a larger staff of men being allowed, and it was as a compromise only that finally this was granted on the understanding that there would be a corresponding reduction in the police. At the same time there has hitherto been a want of co-ordination between the powers without the jail and those within the jail. Escapes have been frequent, and charges and counter-charges of inefficiency and neglect result. A measure, then, which was calculated to place more and more of the responsibility on the department whose interests were chiefly at stake seems not inadvisable, especially when carried out, as directed, with the concurrence of the local authorities. It has occurred to the Lieutenant-Governor, therefore, that were Superintendents of Jails vested with the powers of an Assistant Superintendent of Police, and put in charge of the police guards attached to these several jails, it might be unnecessary to push the reductions in these guards quite so far as has hitherto been done. The responsibility of maintaining discipline and securing watchfulness on the part of the guard would then fall greatly to the share of the jail officer, but would not be greater than what he now incurs when entertaining separate guards of his own under the name of warders; a diminished number of whom would then be sufficient, owing to the increased efficiency he would be able to secure on the part of the police on duty at the jail.

There has been little change in the strength of the regular police force entertained in these provinces during the year under report. On the 31st December 1873 it included 95 superior officers and 22,449 inferior officers and men. Of the latter, 1,617 were employed in Assam and 621 on the Chittagong frontier. The number of men serving in the Garo Hills was slightly increased, and the reserve in the 24-Pergunnahs was strengthened with a view to meet the heavy demands for escorts. Some slight reductions made were due to the warder system having been introduced at several lock-ups. The distribution of the rank and file of the force as regards the nature of its employment was as follows:—

General police duties	17,312
Jail guards	2,133
Magazine guards	255
Treasury, salt, and opium guards	1,623
Frontier guard	1,444

The total expenditure on police during the year was Rs. 43,69,296, representing a net saving on the estimates of Rs. 1,25,312. The cost of the force employed on purely police duties Rs. 37,43,819, or 11-2 pie per head of population. The proportion of police to area was one man to 11·6 square miles, containing, on an average, a population of 3,694.

The strength of the municipal police, excluding Calcutta and its suburbs, was 6,497 officers and men, who were entertained at a cost of Rs. 5,35,690, or slightly more than in the previous year. From one cause or another 24 per cent. left the force, against nearly 25 per cent. in 1872; many cases were doubtless due to transfers to the district police force. The Lieutenant-Governor is not desirous that men should be tempted to leave the service of municipalities without the consent of the municipal commissioners. While he is aware that it may in certain cases be an advantage to a municipality to have recruits taken from among its police to fill the ranks of the district police, a better class of men being thereby induced to accept service, still there are countervailing disadvantages which may render the practice inexpedient, and he trusts that every care will be taken to see that it is not adopted in any town without the consent of the municipal commissioners.

The enquiries recently made whether, with a view to lighten the burden of police expenditure on the inhabitants of municipalities, it might not be advisable to reduce the status of the police employed to that of village chowkeedars, has elicited a considerable variety of opinion from different local officers. Sir Richard Temple entirely accepts the view that in a metropolitan city like Howrah, or among a large and excitable population such as that at Patna, such a step would be a great mistake, nor does he think that it was ever intended. In other important towns, where section-houses have been built, the cost of maintaining them is but small, and the Lieutenant-Governor would not insist on their abandonment. Still the returns received continue to show considerable inequality in the strength and cost of the police employed in the several larger municipalities, and the Lieutenant-Governor will be prepared to entertain favorably any proposals which may be made with the concurrence of the municipal commissioners for the purpose of introducing economy where the charges may appear to be excessive. In several instances lately he has sanctioned, in the case of rural towns, a scale of charge sufficient only for the maintenance of chowkeedars whom it was proposed to employ, and he will consider the cases of other similar towns individually as definite proposals regarding them are submitted. He begs the local authorities to remember that whatever monies can be saved (consistently with efficiency being maintained) from the police service in towns can be devoted to sanitation and other improvements.

Throughout the country the rural police has continued in the same state as heretofore—a state which all local authorities seem to regard as incomplete. Act VI (B.C.) of 1870, though passed after much consideration, has been little used, and the suggestions of various Commissioners for the introduction of some alternative method of realizing the chowkeydaree dues, without any violent change in their present status, are not so easy of attainment as they appear on paper. The subject is under the Lieutenant-Governor's immediate consideration.

The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to find that, although the landholding classes are gradually doing more and more to assist the police in detection of crime, yet in some places complaints are still made of shortcomings on their part in this respect. Whenever such shortcoming is apparent, the magistrate should earnestly address the landholder concerned. It is to be hoped that on receiving such remonstrance the landholder will perceive the strength of the obligation for the due discharge of which he is by law liable.

The result of the steps which were taken to remodel the railway police have hitherto been satisfactory; there was no change made in their strength during the year. The total monthly cost of the force employed was Rs. 8,683, of which Government paid Rs. 2,552 only.

The question of constituting a body of police separate from the ordinary civil police, for the protection of the Eastern frontier of Bengal has been considerably advanced by the experience of the year. Colonel Baker has, however, been recently employed in arranging details so far as regards the remaining districts, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the questions involved will be submitted at an early date for his final decision. A considerable amount of attention was during the year bestowed on the Chittagong frontier police; enquiry being particularly directed to the question of its cost, present and prospective. Colonel Raban, who inspected the force, was generally satisfied with its condition, but made some recommendations with regard to commissariat arrangements which have been accepted. The Lieutenant-Governor has for the present been compelled to withhold his consent from any large expenditure on buildings, but has sanctioned a moderate provision for what appears to be absolutely necessary. He was well satisfied with the appearance of the portion of this force which came under inspection during his recent visit to Chittagong.

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find that the practice of quartering police upon villages as a punitive measure has been but little resorted to. He hopes that in every instance great carefulness and consideration may be shewn before this extreme remedy is adopted. If indeed the measure were to be inconsiderately adopted, much hardship to the people would result. The amendment of Act V of 1861, which was pressed for with a view to a more equitable adjustment of charges incurred on such occasions, has been deferred with a view to the consideration of other points in the law which experience in other places may shew to require correction. Meanwhile the Lieutenant-Governor is ready to consider proposals for the enforcement of the law as it stands in cases where real necessity may exist. The question deserves the particular attention of the Commissioners of Chota Nagpore and Patna in connection with the mail robberies which have been so frequent there of late, and of the Commissioner of Chittagong in connection with the epidemic of incendiarism in that district which has recently attracted attention.

The number of officers and men of the regular police dismissed during the year was 916, against 873 in the previous year. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that in most cases misconduct was judicially established before the extreme step of removal from the force was adopted, so that there can be little room for any charge of harshness against the department. The number of departmental punishments otherwise inflicted shew little diminution, the number of men suspended, fined, and degraded in 1873 having been 4,542, against 4,596 in the previous year. The Lieutenant-Governor must insist upon the exercise of more moderation in regard to the practice of fining, and hopes that the matter will continue to have the attention of the Inspector-General. How little advantage is gained by punishments which merely worry the men and indirectly foster currupt practices is shewn by the fact that in consecutive years the same districts head the list where recourse is had to such a system of punishment.

The comparative infrequency with which cases of torture or extortion on the part of the police now occur is so far matter for satisfaction In 1873 but three cases of the former class and eight of the latter were established, and in none were the circumstances very aggravated. But the Lieutenant-Governor must remind all persons concerned that the occurrence even of a single case of this grievous and shocking nature causes concern and regret to the Government, and he must insist on efforts being persevered in unremittingly until this dreadful practice shall be finally rooted out.

At the same time, the frequency with which false complaints continue to be brought against officers engaged in the conscientious discharge of their duties is a serious evil, and one which deserves the careful attention of district officers. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that, while those officials who are disposed to do ill may be deterred by the fear of just complaints being promptly listened to, those who do well may not be deterred by fear of false complaints, and may place reliance on the discrimination of superior authority.

The number of men whose conduct was found to justify their advancement, or the grant of pecuniary rewards or honorary distinctions, was considerably greater than in the previous year. The Lieutenant-Governor thinks that a greater amount of discretion might well be observed as regards the distribution of good conduct stripes. Cases have come under his notice of very indiscriminate action in this respect. He would be glad to have in future reports some information as regards the extent to which occasion has arisen for rewarding village chowkeedars, to whose aid, as a rule, the police in their investigations owe so much.

The decrease in the mortality in both the regular and the municipal police during the year amounted to 2 per thousand of the total strength. The varying rates at which the deaths take place in the different districts is very remarkable. It amounted to 53 per thousand in the past year in Hooghly, while in the contiguous district of Howrah, which is similar in climate and in almost every other respect, it was only 7 per thousand. Dinagepore and Rungpore, both notoriously unhealthy in the case of foreigners, come out, as was to be expected, very badly. On the other hand, Dacca, which has never been a choice district, appears as one of the healthiest of all.

From the decrease in the number of resignations and the increase in the number of educated men who come forward as recruits, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to infer that service in the force is becoming more popular and attractive. He trusts that the efforts of District Superintendents to raise the standard of intelligence of men in the force, by encouraging them to attend school, will not be relaxed owing to any temporary discouragement connected with the falling off in the strength of the reserves.

The total number of summonses and warrants served by the police during 1873 was 4,29,651. The effect of the rules which have recently been sanctioned under the Court Fees Act, for the entertainment of special establishments of peons for the service of process in non-cognizable cases, should greatly reduce the excessive burthen which has hitherto been imposed on the police unaided. Magistrates are no doubt alive to the undesirability of entertaining, as cases of hurt, petty assaults, and the like, and should insist on the exercise of a like discretion on the part of the police, who should not as a rule interfere at all in cases of hurt, unless serious, but should merely report the matter for orders. If it be thought desirable, a circular to this effect may be prepared by the Inspector-General and submitted for the approval of Government.

In 1871 and 1872 the operations in connection with the census threw on the police a vast amount of extra labour. The extent to which their services were utilized was nowhere more apparent than in the return of the number of "other orders" served by them. In 1873 there was little decline in the enormous number of these, which amounted to 2,32,588. In the case of some districts, as Tirhoot and Sarun, this is probably due to the famine, then impending; and in these cases the returns may be accepted as a proof of the assistance which has been afforded by the police in the carrying out of measures for the alleviation of distress. In other districts, however, such as Backergunge and Noakholly, it is not apparent what the occasion has been for throwing on the police, who are already overworked, so much extra labour, and the Lieutenant-Governor requests that the Inspector-General will look into the matter and submit, for the orders of Government, any question which his enquiry may show to require its decision.

The Inspector-General and his deputies have shown much industry in the inspection of the various stations in these provinces during the year. Of Bengal Proper, Tipperah is the only district of importance left unvisited; an early opportunity should be taken of inspecting the police there and also in Noakholly. It is satisfactory to find that in most of the more important districts the inspection of police stations by local officers has been constant. Failure in this important duty is most prominent in light districts like Pooree and Balasore. It is observable that in Moorshedabad, Purneah, and Shahabad, where there has also been neglect in this respect, there is much reason to fear that the police are inefficient, crime being frequent and unsuccessfully dealt with. The Inspector-General must insist on the Superintendents moving freely about their districts.

Crime.—In the closing months of 1873, when the general failure of the crops in many districts gave too much reason to expect that distress would be widely prevalent, and that the poor would be driven by distress to evil courses, the local officers were naturally apprehensive that there would be a large increase of crime. Arrangements were made for the temporary increase of jail accommodation, and grain was stored in anticipation of the wants of a large prospective increase in the number of inmates of various prisons. Happily these fears were not realized. As the Lieutenant-Governor has already said in reviewing the Jail Report, there was no epidemic of crime in 1873, when the effects of the famine had not yet been fully felt; nor does he believe that there was any epidemic in 1874. These inferences are fully borne out by the present report. On a comparison of the results of the past with those of the previous year, the number of cognizable offences reported, together with the results of arrests made, were as follows:—

Number of persons arrested	88,821	87,178
Finally convicted	48,139	50,540
Acquitted	32,563	32,493

Deducting cases expunged as false, the whole number of true cases cognizable by the police in 1873 was 90,886, against 85,645 in 1872. The net increase of 5,241 cases, small as it is, is not entirely the direct result of the scarcity. Colonel Pughe has presented a careful analysis of the figures, and shows that there was a satisfactory decrease of crime apparent in Bankoora, Dinagepore, Rajshahye, Monghyr, and Bhagulpore, all districts where scarcity prevailed to a greater or less extent; while, on the other hand, Backergunge, Mymensingh, Tipperah, Balasore, Dacca, and Fureedpore, which were not within the famine tracts, show a large increase.

An increase in the crime returns of a district may indicate either greater efficiency of administration by which offences, which otherwise would have been undetected, have been brought to light; by which the landholders and chowkeydars have acted up to their duty of reporting crime; or by which people are encouraged to come forward with complaints who otherwise would have failed to seek redress. To all these causes may be attributed in some measure the results noticed in the returns of 1873. The duties of landholders and of the rural police have been more clearly defined and explained to them; more free use has been made of the sub-divisional system; a large addition has been made to the staff of judicial officers by the investment of selected sub-deputies with magisterial powers; honorary magistrates have been appointed, and benches have been constituted for the speedy disposal of complaints. Still in some districts there has been a real increase of crime, which has not in all cases been successfully dealt with. In all the districts of the Patna division, except Sarun, Chumparun, and Patna, there has been, the Commissioner points out, a real increase in offences against property. In Rungpore there was a marked increase, especially in the more serious offences against property. In Bogra, crime in 1873 was nearly double that in 1872. In Moorshedabad the police are deteriorating, and the effect is visible in the crime returns. In the Dacca division there has been a large increase, chiefly in minor offences against person and property.

Comparing true cases to area, the results observable are very much the same as those remarked in 1872. In Assam the proportion is much increased owing to the large proportion of the population who live subject to special penal laws. Burdwan now comes before the Presidency division, where, in 1873, crime considerably decreased.

The number of cases struck off as false were, His Honor observes, slightly more in 1873 than in the previous year. Compared with 1871, a much greater increase is observable, amounting to 8,884 cases in all. Of a total of 119,046 cases reported in 1873, 28,160 were expunged, or 23·7 per cent. In 1872 the percentage was 24·1, 27,238 cases having been declared false out of 112,883 reported. The ratios differ so widely even in adjoining districts, that it is not possible to avoid attributing the results in some measure to peculiarities in the procedure of various officers. Making every allowance for this however, it is abundantly clear that in every district in Bengal we have still to contend with the evil of persistent and malicious attempts made to pervert the machinery of justice, and to involve innocent persons in ruin. In the quarterly reports on crime and otherwise, the Lieutenant-Governor has had frequent occasion to notice the bad faith with which charges of the most serious character were instituted; and he apprehends that the extent to which the courts of justice allow such cases to pass unchecked tends in no small measure to encourage the practice. Magistrates have already more than once had impressed upon them the necessity of adequately dealing with offences of the kind, and the Lieutenant-Governor must insist upon active steps being taken to bring to justice those who groundlessly and maliciously imperil their neighbours' liberty, or even their lives, by the fabrication of false cases. On the other hand, the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that every care will be taken to avoid anything like wholesale imputation of perjury. He is not without apprehension that the enormous percentages of cases annually declared to be false in the districts of the Chittagong, Dacca, and Assam divisions are indicative of haste on the part of the magistrate, and of some inattention to the directions issued by Sir George Campbell, insisting on the exercise by them of an independent judgment in the matter. On any other supposition it is incredible that one-half and more of the cases reported in Chittagong, Backergunge, and Mymensingh should be returned as false. The miserable failure which has attended the prosecution of persons for giving false evidence and making false complaints supports this view. Nothing can be further from the Lieutenant-Governor's wish than that indiscriminate prosecutions on such charges should be instituted, one failure undoing the benefit to be anticipated from many convictions; but he would wish to see cases for prosecution selected with judgment, and then prosecuted effectively. Touching the general question which has been raised regarding the expunging of cases as false, he would wish it to be understood that no case must be expunged unless, after sufficient enquiry to ascertain the fact, there are, in the magistrate's opinion, good grounds for considering it false These, if called upon, he should be able to assign with sufficient distinctness. With reference to the remarks of the Commissioner of Cooch Behar, quoted in paragraph 117, the Lieutenant-Governor regrets that he should have distinctly to repeat, what is already a standing rule, that no police officer is on any account to be permitted to take the initiative in declaring a case to be false. It is the simple duty of the police, when on enquiry they find no sufficient evidence to substantiate a charge, to state, for the information of the magistrate, the nature of the enquiry they have made, the nature of the evidence forthcoming, and any facts discovered which may be material to form a judgment on it. It is for the magistrate then to come to a conclusion, which must be final, for the purposes of the returns, as to its truth or falsity

Of the 119,046 cases reported, 13,417, or 11·2 per cent. were not enquired into by the police. The percentage in the previous year was somewhat less. The inconsistencies observable between the procedure of various districts, to which prominent attention is invited by the Inspector-General, are certainly very noteworthy. The question how far a police enquiry should be pressed in every case reported, still seems to the Lieutenant-Governor to be one which should be determined very much according to local circumstances, and with regard to which much discretion should be left to district officers. Where the amount of work to be got through, compared to the staff of officers available, is very great, or when many important cases are pending, it may be inadvisable to divert the energies of the police in directions where little success is to be anticipated. On the other hand, while it is futile to pursue cases where little harm has been done, and the injured party does not wish an enquiry, there is always the danger of such a rule, if adhered to, being abused by complainants concealing the true nature of their losses. An enquiry then, even though made at an interval of some months and unexpectedly, would have its advantages, and should be made whenever an opportunity offers. An opposite course, if persevered in, may end in failure of justice. In Sarun only 38·9 per cent. of cases reported were enquired into. Some reform is necessary here, and the Lieutenant-Governor must direct the personal attention of the Commissioner to the circumstances of a district the police of which are characterized as being below the general average of efficiency.

Excluding cases not enquired into, and cases declared by the judicial authorities to be false, and including 1,754 cases which occurred in previous years, the total number of cases brought before the courts was 79,223, against 74,954 of the previous year. In 30,018, or 38 per cent. of these, convictions were obtained. This is slightly inferior to the result obtained in the previous year. The percentage of persons convicted to persons arrested was, on the contrary, slightly better than in 1872, the figures being 57·8 per cent. against 54·2 per cent. The number of persons actually put on trial during the year amounted to 83,538, of whom 50,045, or 59·9 per cent., were convicted, and 32,493, or 41·1 per cent., were acquitted. These ratios, the Lieutenant-Governor observes, are very similar to those of the previous year. There has been a considerable improvement in the percentage of acquittals to men brought to trial, which were mentioned by the Lieutenant-Governor last year as showing very badly. The results are still far from satisfactory in Purneah; and they are quite as bad in Bogra, Noakholly, Goalpara, and Sylhet.

There has again been, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find, an improvement in the percentage of acquittals to persons tried at the sessions. In 1872 this amounted to 49·4 per cent., and in 1873 to 43·6 per cent. The results, however, continue to be very bad in certain districts, as Maldah, Dinagepore, and Chittagong.

The value of the property stolen during the year was Rs. 11,09,028, of which Rs. 2,78,904 were recovered. The percentage of recovery was 25·1 per cent, against 28·4 in 1872 and 38·8 in 1871. The Lieutenant-Governor does not attach much importance to any inferences which can be drawn from this with regard to the working of the police. In the district of Gya, property of the value of Rs. 1,04,197 was stolen, to which no clue was obtained, and this alone disturbs the ratio of recoveries for the whole province.

Turning now to the various classes of crime under which offences are arranged in the returns, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that while there has been a diminution in offences against the State, and in miscellaneous offences (Classes I and VI), there has been an increase in the other classes, and especially in Class III, offences against the person and property, and Class V, minor offences against property. As regards Class I, the only offence calling for special notice is that of rioting. This, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find, has decreased, while there is considerable improvement observable in the percentage of cases detected, 6,186 persons having been convicted against 5,957 in the previous year. The crime is of the most frequent occurrence in the districts of the Dacca division, in Pubna, Jessore, and Tipperah. It is, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks, a matter of just congratulation to the authorities of the Presidency Division, where the crime was once so rife, that it is now unfrequent, except in Jessore, where cases, though numerous, are now of a comparatively mild character. The agrarian disputes which had for some time existed in Pubna culminated in the month of June in a series of outrages in which the ryots chiefly took an aggressive part. A large number of rioters were arrested. Of 422 persons brought to trial, 266 were convicted and 156 acquitted. All the investigations were concluded in the month of July. The excitement spread to parts of Bogra and Rajshahye, but did not result in acts of open violence there, the prompt measure taken in Pubna having had the desired effect. In Midnapore one serious case of riot, attended with murder, occurred owing to a collision between rival processions during the Churruck poojah. A still more unfortunate case occurred in Tirhoot during the Mohurrum, in which 16 lives were lost. On such occasions, where there is risk of a disturbance, the Lieutenant-Governor would wish to see the power given by law to magistrates of appointing special constables freely made use of, in case the district police is found to be insufficiently strong for the purpose of maintaining order.

The number of murders of all kinds shown by the quarterly returns to have been committed during the year was 484. The returns appended to the present report show an excess of three cases, which is not explained. Adding 19 cases shown to have been committed in previous years, but brought under enquiry in 1873, the total number to be dealt with was 506. Of these, 105 are now shown to have been declared to be false, against 98 such entered in the quarterly returns. Accepting this figure, the number of true cases to be accounted for was 401, or 7 more than in the previous year. Convictions were obtained in 145 cases, or 30·6 per cent. of the whole. This is a result slightly worse than in the previous year, when 40·5 per cent. of the cases were detected. The number of persons shown to have been arrested in murder cases in the quarterly reports was 797. This figure the Lieutenant-Governor now finds to have been most misleading, representing, as it appears to do, only those persons arrested by the police of their own motion. By adding 105 persons who are now shown to have been arrested by order of the magistrate, and by excluding altogether from the calculation 149 persons whose cases were pending at the close of the previous year, and one person whose case was transferred, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that 902, the figure adopted by the Inspector-General as representing the total number of arrests, is obtained. The percentage borne to these by the convictions, which amounted to 304, was 33·9 per cent., against 29·8 per cent. in 1872. This shows some improvement; but a slightly more favourable ratio of 35·8 per cent. is obtained by comparing the convictions with 849, the balance remaining after deducting from the total number of persons to be accounted for, those who died, were transferred, or were under trial at the close of the year. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, agrees with those officers who point out that in murder cases general inferences are not to be drawn as to the efficiency of the police from figures of this kind, as there is much difference in the degree of difficulty attendant on the investigation of cases of the kind. Of the 382 true cases reported to have occurred in 1873, 11 were cases of murder by dacoits, 19 by robbers, 28 by poisoners, while the rest were ordinary cases. The want of success which has attended the inquiry into the dacoity cases attended with murder is very marked in Backergunge, and in less degree in Dinagepore, Rungpore, Bogra, and Purneah. It is equally a matter for regret, the Lieutenant-Governor observes, that only four cases of murder by robbers out of 19 should have been detected. In Moorshedabad and Dacca the results obtained were eminently unsatisfactory. On the other hand, the skill and perseverance with which inquiries were pressed in the 24-Pergunnahs were rewarded with considerable success. The practice of adorning children with ornaments of value is still the cause of a large proportion of the cases which occur. The amount of success with which poisoning cases have been dealt with is far from encouraging, but one out of four having been detected. The old story is repeated of wives murdered by their husbands and husbands by their wives; of women and their paramours falling victims to the fury of parties dishonored by their intrigues; and of disputes about land eventuating in riots and murder. The districts where the best results have been obtained are Chittagong, Backergunge, Sylhet, Nuddea, and Monghyr. In Beerbhoom, Bankoora, Midnapore, Jessore, Dacca, Mymensingh, and Tipperah there has been, on the contrary, a lamentable want of success. Culpable homicide, committed under the influence of passion, or upon sudden impulse, is not, as a rule, so difficult to deal with as murder, which is perpetrated generally after every precaution to ensure secrecy. In the past year convictions were obtained in 97 cases out of 229 true cases, or in 42·4 per cent. of the whole. 154 persons were convicted out of 540 who were under trial.

Under grievous hurt there were 734 true cases against 760 in the previous year. The agrarian disturbances in the Rajshahye division are said to have led to an increase of the crime there. The number of convictions obtained continues to be good with regard to this offence as well as hurt by dangerous weapons, of which there were 745 true cases, against 684 in the previous year.

It is a matter for congratulation that no such thing as professional kidnapping now exists in the Lower Provinces. Complaints of kidnapping and abduction are, however, common, and result chiefly from the very low esteem in which the marriage tie is held by many classes of the community.

Omitting consideration for the present of house-breaking and house-trespass, the number of serious offences against property (Class III) was 1,358, against 1,379 in the previous year. The number of cases detected shows a falling off, having been 319 against 888 in 1872. While under other heads of the class there was a decrease of crime in 1873, under that of dacoity there was an increase.

As regards dacoity and gang robbery, increase was marked in all the districts of the Rajshahye division, except in Rajshahye itself; while there was a decrease in all the districts of the Burdwan division, except in Beerbhoom. On the whole, there was a great improvement in the number of cases detected and of convictions obtained. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that in Behar, although there was a decrease in the number of cases, the number of convictions nearly doubled. In Bengal the results were fair. In Chota Nagpore there was room for improvement. The Inspector-General has carefully analysed the increase and decrease in this crime and the success with which it has been dealt district by district. Beerbhoom, Moorshedabad, and Rungpore had together 86 cases, in 26 only of which were convictions obtained. In Rungpore much has been done to break up the gangs of dacoits, but the result of the action taken in Moorshedabad have been far from satisfactory. It seems almost incredible that in Mymensingh 18 cases should have been reported, of which 17 were false. Cowardice on the part of the villagers themselves is one great cause of failure in many districts. In the tracts north of the Ganges, in Sarun, Tirhoot, and Chumparun, where the people are ready to defend themselves, dacoity is almost unknown. In Purneah and Hazareebagh difficulty has been found in dealing with the crime, and, as a special measure, the police of both districts has been temporarily strengthened. As some criterion of the success which has attended the administration of late years, the Inspector-General points to the returns of the Presidency division, where twenty years ago dacoity was practised openly and most frequently with impunity. In Jessore and Nuddea there were but two cases. In the 24-Pergunnahs but seven, out of which the police may be said to have got at the bottom of four. The decrease in river dacoity is very satisfactory; there having been but 15 true cases against 28 in 1872.

Cases of arson are said to arise chiefly from feelings of personal ill-will and revenge. In Chittagong there has been quite an epidemic of the crime, and the ordinary means at the disposal of the magistrate have been found quite inadequate to enable him to cope with it. An attempt was made to burn down one of the chief bazars of the town, and there has been no little apprehension among the merchants for the safety of their goods in the godowns on the riverside.

An increase, similar to that noticed in the previous year, is again observable under Class IV (minor offences against the person). The number of cases reported was 7,043, of which 2,917 were declared to be false. The number of true cases was thus 4,126, against 3,994 in 1872. The mass of the complaints made consisted of charges of wrongful restraint and confinement in connection chiefly with disputes between ryots and their landlords. A very large proportion of these were declared to be false. The Lieutenant-Governor accepts the conclusion of the local magistracy in this matter. It appears that the practice of imprisoning and kidnapping recusant ryots, so prevalent even in recent times, has nearly disappeared in almost all districts.

Adding to Class V (minor offences against property) the more serious cases of house-breaking and house-trespass omitted in considering Class III, the Lieutenant-Governor observes that the total number of offences reported to have been committed during 1873 was 83,757, of which 20,297 were declared to be false. The comparative results as regards the manner in which the balance of true cases was dealt with during the past three years were as follows :—

	True cases reported.	Not enquired into.	Cases detected.	Number of persons convicted.
1871	48,763	9,864	10,441	15,310
1872	57,632	6,149	12,508	19,812
1873	63,460	13,301	13,862	21,760

These figures would show some improvement in the number of cases detected and in convictions obtained beyond what was due to the mere increase of crime which has occurred chiefly under the heads of thefts and burglaries. The total number of these offences shown by the quarterly returns to have been reported was 69,514, of which 16,207 were false. The gradual increase was very marked in each quarter of the year, but especially in the last, when the true cases had risen—

In Rajshahye division to	2,648	against	1,841	in	1st quarter.
„ Cooch Behar „	254	„	126	„	„
„ Patna „	5,186	„	3,150	„	„
„ Chota Nagpore „	825	„	534	„	„

These figures may to some extent be taken as representing the effects of the scarcity which had begun to be felt at the close of 1873 on the criminal classes. In the Chittagong division, where there was no distress, there was a remarkable decrease of crime, the number of cases of the description under notice having been 423 only in the last quarter of the year, against 1,335 in the first. In the Bhagulpore division there was a sudden decrease from 1,093 cases in the third quarter of the year to 689 in the last, but this was fully met by the increase to 1,304 in the first quarter of 1874. It is not explained how exactly the figures given in the quarterly returns come to differ from those in paragraph 230 of the present report. The latter show, however, that, excluding cattle thefts, the number of true cases of lurking house-trespass and of theft in 1873 was 50,450, or 4,456 more than in the previous year. In the Rajshahye and the Patna divisions the increase in the number of true cases was 1,818 and 1,281 respectively. In the Dacca and Bhagulpore divisions a slight decrease in the number of true cases is explained by an increase (in the former division a very large one) in the number of those rejected as false which, together with those not inquired into, formed no less than 55 per cent. of the whole number reported in the former division and 50 per cent. in the latter. In the Dacca division the rates of convictions to cases reported was only 11 per cent., and this would seem to the Lieutenant-Governor to indicate that there had been a want of discretion exercised in the rejection of cases and some want of energy in following up those accepted. In the Cooch Behar and Orissa divisions the percentage of conviction was the highest, yet even there it is clear the police fail to cope adequately with what forms a most important branch of crime. The practical measures which the Inspector-General advocates, and which are generally admitted to be required, are the careful watching of bad characters, the breaking up of disreputable gangs, and the close surveillance of receivers of stolen property. To the success of these measures nothing is so essential as that the honest co-operation of the village police should be secured. To effect this it is indispensable that their position should be improved, and this the Lieutenant-Governor will endeavour to secure. Meanwhile, he is glad to observe that in some districts efforts are made to obtain a punctual realization of their wages, and that they have been engaged actively in the suppression of crime. As regards the system pursued by Major Gordon in Bhagulpore, however, the Lieutenant-Governor must express his dissent from that part of it (as explained at paragraph 112 of the report) which seems to him to mean that the chowkeedars, merely because they fail to detect cases, are subjected to harassment. The Commissioner is alive to the danger that such a system may directly encourage the concealment of crime. In the conclusion that it has not done so in Bhagulpore, the Lieutenant-Governor is unable to agree. In His Honor's opinion the result is inevitable, and in the case of this district plainly manifest in the fact that there the number of burglaries reported suddenly fell from an average of 1,139 in the previous year to 343 in the year under report, while the season was favourable to an increase of this crime, and while in the neighbouring districts of the Patna division, which were similarly situated, it actually occurred. Considering the class of men of whom the village police is composed, any pressure which might tempt them to press charges against innocent men cannot be too carefully avoided; and on this ground also he thinks Major Gordon's scheme objectionable.

The whole number of cases of theft of cattle reported was 3,223, against 2,702 in 1872. In 1,094 cases only were convictions obtained, the number of persons punished being 1,709. These figures, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks, but faintly represent the extent to which this crime is prevalent in these provinces. In 1872 a large number of cases which had occurred in Monghyr and Bhagulpore were brought to light by the Tirhoot Police. In the past year similar discoveries were made in Moorshedabad and Gya. There, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to think, something has been done to break up an organized system of crime. In Julpigoree it is admitted that but a small proportion of cases are reported, and this detracts from the value of the large percentage of convictions recorded in the Cooch Behar division.

The miscellaneous offences (under Class VI) reported in 1873 were 13,765, against 14,498 in the previous year. In each case on an average one person was convicted. This result is due chiefly to the inclusion of nuisance cases, in which, of 8,742 persons put on trial, 7,956 were punished. The number of persons imprisoned for vagrancy or bad character in default of giving security was 1,976, against 1,821 in the previous year. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the change in the law allowing the imprisonment to be rigorous has produced a good effect. He trusts that, after all that has been said on the subject, district magistrates will realize the necessity for a strict supervision over the bad characters of their districts, and will cause frequent inquiries to be made as to their means of livelihood. The plan of having these made by the magistrates while on tour and of holding the trials in the neighbourhood of the defendant's dwelling especially commends itself to His Honor as likely best to secure the ends of justice, and he trusts that it will be found possible to adopt it freely.

The increase in the number of offences reported against the excise and opium laws is attributed to the greater activity of the authorities In Bhagulpore and Purneah, however, the Commissioner thinks that the police have not been as vigilant as they ought. Salt cases have decreased: this is in part ascribed to the instructions the police have received to abstain from interference in petty cases. It rests with the magistrate-collectors to exercise a discretion as to the class of cases which should be prosecuted. Whilst the number of persons convicted of breaches of the salt law was only 894, against 2,059 in the previous year, the amount of fines realized was Rs. 19,316, against Rs. 13,854. This the Lieutenant-Governor considers satisfactory, as it is, he thinks, better to inflict a few sharp penalties than many almost nominal ones. The quantity of salt attached also exceeded that of the previous year by 1,721 maunds; and the proportion of it finally confiscated shows that the police generally refrained from unnecessary seizures.

Considerable success has attended the prosecution of offences committed on railways, and the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find that convictions have been obtained in some of the 15 cases of theft of spikes and railway fencing which occurred during the year. These crimes are very serious as endangering the safety of persons travelling by rail; and the Lieutenant-Governor has, by separate orders, called the attention of magistrates to the necessity of dealing with them severely when proved.

The number of non-cognizable cases instituted during the year, whether on complaint or on the mere motion of the magistrate, was 118,766 against 107,676. The issue of process was granted in 85,673 cases, against 79,573 in 1872. Of 87,795 defendants who actually appeared in court, 12,329 were discharged, 28,663 were acquitted, and 45,255 were convicted. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs with those officers who think that a very large proportion of the cases, which though process issues, never come to trial owing to the absence of the plaintiff, are true cases, the defendant preferring a compromise out of court to the risk of conviction. This fact to some extent accounts for the small proportion borne by defendants who are finally convicted to those who actually appear. The whole number of cases where this was refused was 33,093, against 28,103 in the previous year. The analysis, however, which has been submitted by the Inspector-General shows that the proportion of cases thus rejected to the whole number instituted varies very much in different districts, and the matter is one which deserves the attention of district officers with a view to checking the issue of process unnecessarily, and especially in cases brought, not on account of any injury sustained, but with a view to obtain a decision in the criminal courts bearing indirectly on matters in dispute properly cognizable by the civil courts. The instructions which have been issued in this matter to the magistrate of Nuddea by the Commissioner of the Presidency division are worthy of the attention of other district officers. The Commissioner of Patna has very appropriately pointed out to the magistrate of that district that it is not sufficient for him to complain that the magistrates subordinate to him have issued process indiscriminately. It is for him to supervise their action and to check at once anything in which error is apparent.

The increased extent to which, during the year under review, the police were employed to investigate crime not properly cognizable by them is not, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks, entirely satisfactory. The whole number of cases was 6,944, against 4,934 in 1872. Under the head of offences against public justice, forgery, and the use of false weights and measures, where a considerable increase is observable, some good may have been secured by the intervention of the police; but it can hardly have been necessary to employ them to investigate 1,216 cases of assault, 695 cases of simple mischief, and 161 cases under the Pound Act. As the matter is one in which inexperienced magistrates are the most likely to err, it behoves district officers to exercise a strict supervision over their work in regard to it.

The Inspector-General has little to add to the account of the criminal tribes contained in his report on the previous year. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to learn that the stringent supervision which has been exercised over the Bedyas of Jessore has been effective in reducing the number of burglaries in their neighbourhood. The question of the expediency of extending the provisions of the Criminal Tribes' Act to these and to the Muglya Domes of Behar was postponed pending the famine, but will have the early consideration of Government. The latter tribe, it is stated, have been driven for the most part to seek refuge in Nepal, and little crime has accordingly been traced to them of late. Early notice should be given to Government in case their depredations commence again.

The tables which Colonel Pughe has prepared to show the relative criminality of the various districts in these provinces are interesting, and deserve the careful study of the officers to whose charge they are entrusted.

The Lieutenant-Governor observes with satisfaction the numerous extracts from the reports of district officers and commissioners which the Inspector-General has submitted, showing that the general conduct of the police has been satisfactory.

The Lieutenant-Governor thanks Colonel Pughe for his careful administration of the Department, and would ask him to convey to the officers mentioned in the 97th and 98th paragraphs of his report an expression of the approbation of Government.

As Colonel Pughe is about to relinquish, for a considerable time, the office he has held so long, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to congratulate him on the degree of organization which the police in the Lower Provinces has reached, and the considerable improvement which has of late years been effected in dealing with and suppressing crimes.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

RIVERS THOMPSON,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE COOCH BEHAR ANNUAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT FOR 1873-74.

RESOLUTION.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 27TH FEBRUARY 1875.

READ—

A letter, No. 2951, dated the 21st November 1874, from the Commissioner of Cooch Behar, submitting his Annual Administration Report on the Cooch Behar State for the year 1873-74.

Read again—

The Administration Report for 1872-73.

WHILE the Lieutenant-Governor has to thank Sir William Herschel for a full report on the administration of the Cooch Behar State during the year 1873-74, he observes that it is received at a very late period. At the same time the Lieutenant-Governor is aware that Sir William Herschel did not join his appointment till towards the close of the year under report, and that almost immediately after he had joined his time was much occupied with the arrangements necessary to meet the impending scarcity.

2. The weather and the crops.—In Cooch Behar, as elsewhere in Bengal, the chief characteristic of the year under report was the early cessation of the autumnal rains, and the consequent absence of the usual inundations. In this State three-fourths of the food supply of the people depend on the outturn of the aous and amun crops of rice, and these were seriously affected by the drought. The north and west parts of the State escaped, but not so Dinhatta and part of Matabhanga, where the bitai crop, reaped in August, failed and the amun was ruined. There the prices of grain in ordinary use among the people, which throughout the district ruled higher than for ten years past, rose rapidly, till in the early months of 1874 they reached famine rates; and in Dinhatta less than eight seers of rice could only be had for the rupee. The Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Smith, was early alive to the impending danger, and under the orders of the Commissioner prompt measures were taken by him to avert the threatened distress. Rice was purchased in the northern part of the State, and stored where required without any interference with private trade; loans were granted to the tenantry to enable them to tide over their difficulties; new roads were laid out; tanks were dug; a system of relief was organized for those who were able to work, and the indigent infirm were cared for. Success attended all these operations: and though among the old and feeble a few deaths may have been accelerated by the scarcity, there was no death from starvation even among the poorest classes of society. The abundance of the crops gathered in April and May, and the luxuriant promise of the ensuing early rice crop, put a speedy term to the anxieties of the season, and the Deputy Commissioner was able to close the relief works with the satisfaction of knowing that his people had been saved from any special hardships by the stores of food which were exported from those parts of his district which had escaped the misfortunes of the scarcity.

3. The services of Baboo Kasi Kant Mookerjee, the Superintendent of education in the State of Cooch Behar, and of Baboo Rama Kant Mazoomdar, a pensioner of the State, during this trying period, are deservedly eulogised by the Commissioner. It was due to their energy and influence, under the active Deputy Commissioner, Mr. T. Smith, that the effects of the famine were so successfully averted, and it is gratifying to find that many of the public works of utility planned and carried out under their auspices during the pressure are likely to be very serviceable to the State

4. Finance.—In reviewing the report for 1872-73, the Lieutenant-Governor observed that against an ordinary income of Rs. 10,02,132, the ordinary expenditure of the State had been Rs. 11,45,136. Against this excess of expenditure of Rs. 1,43,004, the Commissioner now reports that the deficit in the past year was only Rs. 21,008, the income having increased by Rs. 68,581, and the expenditure decreased by Rs. 52,435. The entire outlay on relief operations in the Cooch Behar State is said to have been about one and a quarter lakh, and the net cost chargeable to charitable relief Rs. 60,547. It was unavoidable that the accounts should have been to some extent deranged by the arrangements necessary to meet this unforeseen contingency, but the Lieutenant-Governor observes that the Commissioner considers the estimates, though nearly a lakh wrong on each side of the account, to have been a satisfactory forecast of the final results. His Honor concurs in the opinion expressed by the Commissioner that more of the attention of the Deputy Commissioner should be given to the finances as a whole, and requests that instructions may be issued accordingly. He observes that the Commissioner, while stating that he has gone into the subject in some detail at Cooch Behar itself, regrets that he has not had time to examine the items of miscellaneous receipts and expenditure (amounting to upwards of 16 lakhs on each side of the books) which are not brought under the head of ordinary income and expenditure. Sir Richard Temple thinks it important that an early opportunity should be taken to do so, and he would wish to receive from the Commissioner, in his next report, a statement of the results of his enquiry, more especially as regards the manner in which they affect the assets and liabilities of the State. This question is somewhat complicated by the fact that the Cooch Behar treasury has to deal with funds belonging to Government as well as with those belonging to the State. His Honor observes that of an invested balance of Rs. 15,75,900 standing in the name of the Rajah, 1¾ lakhs will have to be realized at once owing to a call by the Accountant-General for an adjustment of accounts: and he considers it of importance that future reports should show distinctly what part of the entire accumulations at the credit of the State really belongs to it, and how much is liable to refund on demand. It almost seems, from the present state of the Account Department, that a special officer might be deputed to the duty with advantage; and if the Commissioner concurs in his proposal, arrangements will be made to give effect to it.

5. Land Revenue.—The current demand for the year on account of mal and debuttar lands, excluding the Rungpore zemindaries, was Rs. 4,84,205, or more by Rs. 48,835 than in the previous year. The collections, including arrears, amounted to Rs. 4,82,317, against Rs. 4,48,293 in the previous year. The success which attended the realization of the demand of the year, notwithstanding the failure of the crops, is very satisfactory. Without any undue pressure, payments in full were obtained from the great mass of the tenants on the rent-roll, who now number over 12,000. It is gratifying to the Lieutenant-Governor to observe the testimony borne by the Commissioner to the continued success of the system of khas tehsil which was introduced under the orders of Sir G. Campbell in 1871-72. The fact that in not a single instance has it been found necessary under this system to sell up a tenure for arrears of current revenue, attests the moderation of the demands made upon the people. It is an unfavorable feature in the present returns that for the past four years there has been a gradual accumulation of arrears due on account of previous years. These now amount to Rs. 1,06,562, against Rs. 1,00,631 outstanding at the close of 1872-73. It was not to be desired that in a year of scarcity any extraordinary pressure should be brought to bear on the people to make them liquidate old demands; but their failure to pay may in no small degree be due to their being kept in uncertainty as to the amount due from them. The arrangements for keeping the collecting department advised of the operations of the settlement department would certainly seem to be defective, when it is shown that out of 12,532 jotes on the rent-roll the jummas of only 3,117 have been corrected as yet according to the settlements concluded. If necessary, the strength of the establishment at the Dewan's disposal should be temporarily strengthened for the purpose of enabling him to bring the rent-roll into accordance with the pottahs issued by the settlement officers; and where this has been done, no time should be lost in clearing up the ryots' accounts, taking from them what is due and can be realised, and expunging irrecoverable balances. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the Commissioner's next report will show that considerable progress has been made in this matter.

6. Settlement.—Sir Richard Temple learns with satisfaction that the field operations in connection with the settlement of Cooch Behar, which have now extended over several years, are approaching a termination. The total area of the State is about 25,00,000 beeghas, while the measurements already executed show slightly over 26,00,000, and some small patches of land still remain to be dealt with; this discrepancy is not considered excessive. Of the 7,56,835 beeghas measured in the year under report, Messrs. Moran and Renny overtook more than half, and the Lieutenant-Governor notices the favorable mention made of their work. No less than 4,53,674 beeghas were assessed during the year, with the result of an addition to the revenue of the State of eventually Rs. 1,15,000. The final result of the settlement operations, which have cost up to date Rs. 5,92,805, will, if present anticipations are realised, double the land revenue. In the year under review the Lieutenant-Governor observes that they are credited with causing an increase of only Rs. 58,173. He desires that early arrangements may be made to utilise the results of the measurements which have now been nearly completed, and he will await with interest the submission of Mr. Beckett's final report on the settlement proceedings. Proper attention has been given to a very useful measure in the rules framed for the maintenance of boundary marks of talooks. The rules should be strictly enforced.

7. Zemindary.—The Lieutenant-Governor would have wished for a more detailed account of the administration of the Rungpore zemindaries. Sir George Campbell, in reviewing the last report, had characterised this as inefficient in the last degree; and the Lieutenant-Governor would have wished to have had some information as to the extent to which improvements had been effected, and in which his predecessor's instructions have been carried out. The receipts under this head, amounting to Rs. 2,37,237, were better by Rs. 10,626 than in the previous year, but they are still much below what was usual in former years. There was a diminution in expenditure of Rs. 3,056, notwithstanding the famine, which occasioned an unforeseen demand on the funds at the manager's disposal. The Government revenue payable on account of the estates amounts to Rs. 1,17,150, and the net profit to the Rajah in the past year's term amounted only to Rs. 54,279. The next report must enter more fully into the question of the management of these zemindaries and of the reasons for its past want of success.

8. Excise.—The excise receipts for the year were Rs. 36,727, against Rs. 34,649 in the previous year. It is satisfactory to learn that the progressive income derived from this source is due not to the increased consumption of intoxicating liquor, but to the introduction of more stringent excise rules. The duty on country spirits was increased by no less than 33 per cent. during the year, with the result of a large diminution in the amount of liquor consumed, concurrently with an increase in the amount of duty realised. Dealings in opium, ganja, and madad, appear to be under proper restrictions, and call for no special remark. Drunkenness is said to be very prevalent in the town of Cooch Behar, especially among the relatives of the young Rajah. The Lieutenant-Governor accordingly approves of the measures taken by the Commissioner to check the sale of inferior imported spirits there.

9. Education.—The total number of schools in the State on 31st March last is said to have been 199, of which 117 were in the receipt of State grants. The corresponding figures for the previous year were 133 and 73 respectively. The number of pupils similarly shows an increase of from 3,161 to 4,605. Considering the circumstances of the year, the Lieutenant-Governor accepts these results as satisfactory. He trusts that the educational authorities will give their attention to securing an improved attendance on the part of the boys, 26 per cent. of whom are said to be in the habit of absenting themselves. The department is under the very efficient direction of Baboo Kasi Kant Mookerjee, and has shown during the year a very steady and healthy progress under depressing circumstances. It is clear, however, that very much still remains to be done, when it is seen that out of a population of 5,33,000 there are only 4,605 pupils. The increase of private contributions to the cause of education, and success of two students, one of whom is a native of Cooch Behar, in the Calcutta University Entrance Examination, are prominent features of the year's report.

10. Criminal Justice.—The total number of cognizable and non-cognizable cases reported during the year was 2,433, against 2,204 in the previous year. In cases of the latter class there has been a slight decrease, and some increase in those of the former. The inclusion of false cases and cases of a trivial character, in which no clue was obtained, has tended to swell the returns somewhat; but the scarcity also would seem to have had some influence in increasing the number of petty thefts. Convictions were obtained in three only out of nine cases of dacoity, and in two out of eleven cases of robbery. The latter were, however, of a very petty description. Out of 1,791 persons brought to trial, 1,134 were convicted—a result creditable on the whole to the police, whose attention is said to have been much distracted from their ordinary duties. The result of the 110 appeals was creditable to the officers whose orders were appealed against, these having been reversed in nine cases only. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that the Deputy Commissioner himself tried but few Magistrate's cases.

11. Civil Justice.—There was a slight increase of 42 in the number of suits instituted during the year, which amounted to 1,997; including pending cases, the number disposed of was 2,048, and the number pending at the close of the year was 192 There was a large increase of Rs. 1,02,148 in the value of the suits instituted, which, the Lieutenant-Governor observes, is attributed to the accident of several suits on bonds for large sums coming up for trial. The increase shewn in the number and amount of decrees executed is satisfactory. The result of the numerous appeals preferred from the decisions of the dewany ahilkar is very creditable to him. The Lieutenant-Governor, while accepting the explanation that the time of the sub-divisional officer at Matabhanga was much occupied with famine duties, desires that the Deputy Commissioner will impress upon him the necessity for expedition in the decision of suits which come before him for trial. In the courts of the other officers the duration of suits has not been excessive, but is, perhaps, capable of reduction.

12 Rent Suits.—The total number of rent suits to be disposed of during the year was 1,734, of which 1,614 were decided and 120 remained pending at the close of the year A slight decrease in the number of fresh suits instituted during the year is attributed to the scarcity. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the increase in litigation, which is anticipated from the issue by the Settlement Department of pottahs with retrospective effect, may be averted. The matter should have the attention of the Deputy Commissioner. Of 80 appeals from the decision of subordinate officers which came up for disposal during the year, 22 were decreed by the Dewan and 5 only by the Deputy Commissioner. The result of the cases, especially before the latter officer, is not unsatisfactory.

13. Public Works.—In reviewing the expenditure during the year 1872-73, the Lieutenant-Governor requested that prominent notice should in future be given to that incurred on public works, and ordered that the two chief roads passing through Cooch Behar should be fully completed. The Commissioner now reports that the total length of roads maintained from the revenues of the State is 112½ miles. It is more than ever important that the road from Cooch Benar towards Julpigoree should be put in order, forming, as it does, an important link in the chain of communication which it is an object to open up for emigration purposes from the western confines of Behar to Dhoobree. The account given by the Commissioner of its present condition is far from satisfactory. Money appears to be spent on bamboo bridges, which the first flood must wash away, and which under no circumstances can last for more than a very short time. The Lieutenant-Governor would wish to see the matter taken in hand in earnest, and efforts made to supply the necessary funds by retrenchment in other departments. The Dhoobree road is in a slightly better state, but here, too, much evidently remains to be done. The Rungpore and Buxa roads are also capable of much improvement. The other roads mentioned are comparatively unimportant. The total expenditure on public works during the year amounted to Rs. 83,000, or half a lakh less than was intended, the famine having caused expenditure to be restricted. Of the whole sum, Rs. 35,730 were spent on original works, including boundary pillars, an enlargement of the Deputy Commissioner's court-house, a library, and a dak-bungalow. No less than Rs. 14,841 were spent on town improvements, including a large tank in the bazar, the earth from which has been used to fill up holes and prepare a site for a town market. All these works are indicative of useful progress, and the Lieutenant-Governor will await with interest the next report of the completion of these measures.

14. Medical.—The health of the district is reported to have been good, but there was an increase of attendance at the dispensary, where 4,988 patients were treated. As regards the jail, the conclusion which has been arrived at, that the previous high rate of mortality may have been partly due to insufficiency of food, reflects very seriously on the management of the district officer, who should have been alive to the necessity of careful enquiry on the subject at an earlier period. During the past year the death-rate was only 30 per thousand, against 94 in the previous year. Notwithstanding the grant of a more liberal diet, there was a considerable diminution in the cost of maintaining the prisoners, due to more careful administration.

15. Conduct of Officers.—In conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor notices with pleasure the favorable mention of Mr. Smith and of his subordinate officers made by the Commissioner, to whom the acknowledgments of Government are due for the care with which he has supervised their administration.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Cooch Behar for information and guidance; also that a copy, together with that of the report, be sent to the Revenue Department of this Office for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

RIVERS THOMPSON,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

EXACTION OF ILLEGAL CESSES BY ZEMINDARS FROM THEIR RYOTS

No. 351, dated Calcutta, the 12th February 1875.

From—H. J. REYNOLDS, ESQ., Offg. Secy. to the Govt of Bengal,
To—The Secy. to the Govt. of India, Department of Revenue, Agriculture, and Commerce.

I AM directed to reply to your letter No. 326, dated the 24th April 1874, the answer to which has been unavoidably delayed until the Lieutenant-Governor could by travelling see and learn something of the country for himself. This delay is not altogether to be regretted, as the occurrences of 1874 can hardly fail to have contributed towards the settlement of the question upon which the expression of his opinion is called for.

2. Complaints of the excessive levy of illegal cesses by zemindars from their ryots were first made in the district of Orissa, and the inquiries which were instituted in those districts were afterwards extended to the other districts of the Lower Provinces. It was the conclusion of Sir George Campbell, after full consideration of the evidence adduced upon the subject, that in Orissa some special measures were necessary for the protection of the ryots, and for the punishment of those zemindars who were shown to have most flagrantly violated the law. These proposal were submitted to the Government of India in Mr. Bernard's letter, No. 821, dated the 5th March 1873. The policy which Sir George Campbell desired to pursue in the remaining districts of the Lower Provinces was set forth in a Resolution recorded on the 30th May 1873, and communicated to the Government of India by Mr. Bernard's letter, No. 1185 of that date.

3. The Governor-General in Council, while approving the policy indicated in the Resolution of the 30th May 1873, declined to sanction the special measures recommended by the late Lieutenant-Governor for the protection of the Orissa ryots. Your letter under reply conveys an expression of the concurrence of the Secretary of State in the decision of the Government of India regarding the action proposed to be taken in Orissa, and draws attention to the 6th paragraph of the despatch, in which it is intimated that a further communication from the Governor-General in Council is awaited on the subject of the measures which may be ultimately deemed necessary for dealing with cases of gross oppression and illegal exactions by zemindars.

4. I am directed to say that in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, the evidence leaves no room for doubt that cesses unauthorized by law have been very generally levied, that in many—perhaps in the majority of cases—they have been levied with the assent of those concerned; but that in some cases, and in some parts of the country, they have been exacted in an oppressive manner.

5. At the same time, Sir Richard Temple recognises the fact that in many districts of Bengal cesses not authorized by the law have been demanded and paid by a kind of tacit composition between landlord and tenant in lieu of any enhancement of rent. This is specially the case in the Eastern and East Central districts, where rents are in general extremely low; and though on some estates they have been raised during the last few years, they have nowhere been enhanced in a degree corresponding with the rise of general prices and the increased value of agricultural produce. In these districts, 8 annas and 12 annas per beegha are still common rates of rent for lands of good quality, producing valuable crops. The agricultural classes in Eastern Bengal are in a very prosperous condition, and the zemindars might reasonably claim some share of the increased returns from the land. Rents, however, in these districts, are regulated rather by custom than by competition; enhancements are rare, and ejectments are almost unknown. The increased payments by the tenantry consequently took the form of cesses,—a form not recognized by the law, but in harmony with native ideas; and the amount of them was seldom more than the landlords might equitably have claimed in the shape of enhanced rent.

6. Under such circumstances, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks that any active and general interference on the part of the officers of Government to prevent the payment of these cesses, would not only bear harshly upon the landholding class, but might lead to consequences greatly to be deprecated. There would be a general rise of rents; and in the end the law would perhaps make the ryot liable for as much as he is now paying, while large sums would have been spent in litigation; and the embittered feelings which the contest would have produced would tend to make a lasting breach between landlords and tenants.

7. It is not contended that the social condition described in the two foregoing paragraphs obtains generally throughout the districts of the Lower Provinces. The evidence before the Lieutenant-Governor tends to show that in particular places in the Presidency and Burdwan divisions exorbitant cesses have been levied from ryots who were already paying the full value of their land as rent, and similar cases have been brought to light in some parts of the province of Behar If there were reason to fear that these evils would be permanent; if it were likely that the power and influence of the landlords would be greater than at present, and that the ryots would remain ignorant of their rights and helpless to enforce them, it would be necessary that Government should be prepared to interfere in certain classes of cases. But the tendency of affairs is in the opposite direction to this. Education is spreading among the ryot class, and there is much of legal protection for probably the majority of ryots; while tenant-right is being more widely recognized, apparently with the tacit acquiescence of the zemindars. Many circumstances have helped to disseminate among the ryots a knowledge of the distinction between the legal dues which they are required to pay, and the illegal cesses which no one has a right to exact from them. In these districts, the Lieutenant-Governor does not think that any action on the part of Government is required beyond such as is indicated in the Resolution of the 30th May 1873. In that Resolution Sir George Campbell expressed a doubt whether any general or very stringent interference by the officers of Government was desirable. District officers were directed to interfere in the case of any extreme oppression, where inordinate cesses were levied, or where violence was used to enforce the collection of them; but beyond this matters were to be left to adjust themselves, as the people should get better protected, better educated, and better able to understand and maintain their own rights and position. Sir Richard Temple concurs in these opinions, and desires to carry out this policy. He hopes, however, that the cases which call for interference under the above rule will gradually decrease till they almost cease to appear.

8. The circumstances of the province of Orissa are in some respects exceptional. The ryots there are in general poorer and more ignorant than those of Bengal or Behar; and the inquiries made by local officers in 1871, brought to notice numerous instances of high-handed oppression and excessive exactions on the part of the zemindars. These considerations induced Sir George Campbell to recommend the adoption, in Orissa, of special measures for the effectual protection of the people. It has been already remarked that these proposals were not approved by the Government of India and the Secretary of State.

9. It appears to the Lieutenant-Governor that if interference is not to be exercised in Orissa, in the direction and to the extent which Sir George Campbell desired, no other action need be taken than such as is indicated in the Resolution of the 30th May 1873. An action of this kind, Sir Richard Temple is inclined to think, will now supply all that is necessary. I am to point out that the conditions of the questions have somewhat altered since the inquiries on the subject were held in 1871. The peasantry of Orissa are probably still in a more backward state than the ryots of other districts in the Lower Provinces; they are imperfectly acquainted with their rights, and are but little disposed to claim the protection of the law. But from recent reports from the local authorities, and from what the Lieutenant-Governor himself saw of the condition of the province during his recent visit, it appears certain that the ignorance, obstructiveness, and timidity which formerly characterized the people, are steadily, though it may be slowly, giving place to a spirit of intelligence and independence. The last administration report of the Commissioner of Orissa contains some striking remarks upon the advance which the province is making, not only in material wealth, but in social and intellectual progress; while there is a noteworthy absence of the complaints which were formerly rife, of oppression on the part of the zemindars towards their tenantry. On the whole, the Lieutenant-Governor finds reason to believe that in Orissa the question of zemindary cesses is tending towards a natural and peaceful solution, and consequently he does not think it necessary to recommend that any special measures should be adopted in that province.

10. Finally, I am to represent that the events of 1874 have exhibited the zemindars in a very favourable light. Throughout the distressed districts the great majority of the zemindars have not merely exhibited the passive charity of forbearing to press their ryots for rent, but they have displayed an active benevolence, a readiness to assist and to contribute, which the Lieutenant-Governor has already publicly acknowledged, and without which he feels that the utmost efforts of Government might have failed to wholly avert the impending calamity. Sir Richard Temple hopes and believes that the occurrences of the past year will not be without their permanent fruits; that the zemindars will persevere in moderate courses towards their ryots; and that the questions still unsettled between them will be approached by both parties in a spirit of mutual kindliness and forbearance.

11. I am therefore to say, with reference to your letter under reply, that the Lieutenant-Governor has no further suggestions to offer than those which have been already submitted to the Government of India in the Resolution of this Government, dated the 30th May 1873. He concurs with his predecessor in thinking that while cases of the extortion of illegal cesses by violence should not be suffered to go unpunished, and while District Officers may properly interfere in instances of clear oppression (if such instances should unhappily occur), the question may in general be left to adjust itself in the manner which will naturally result from the gradual spread of education, intelligence, and independence among the classes from whom these cesses have hitherto been levied.
